Enemy Shells Saigon

SAIGON (AP)—Enemy gunners shelled saigon and about 30 other South Vietnamese towns and bases early Sunday. Two barrages hit the capital and one missile started a fire only a few blocks from the palace.

The blows at Saigon, spaced about two hours apart, were the first such since the United States ended the bombing of North Vietnam last Nov. 1.

In the first attack about a half-dozen rockets fell into an area of homes, business houses and port facilities of the Fourth Precinct, on the city's southern edge. Damage appeared to be light.

There was no immediate accounting of casualties.

Military authorities said it aipeared that all the assaults were confined to bombardment, with no significant ground action.

Spokesmen said that American and South Vietnamese units had been alerted to the possibility of attacks and that, in every major shelling, answering fire was laid on the enemy positions within minutes. Flareships lit the night sky to expose the targets.

The port and base of Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city, appeared to be one of the hardest hit.

Associated Press correspondent Edwin Q. White, temporarily based in Da Nang, said rockets fell inside the city, on the Marble Mountain base east of town and near the headquarters of the U.S. 3rd Marine Amphibious Force.

One rocket exploded a South Vietnamese army ammunition depot about a half mile from U.S. Marine headquarters and across the river from the main part of the city. Flames lit the sky and huge columns of smoke rose into the air. Fresh explosions sounded periodically.

The attacks, launched shortly after 2 a.m., ranged from the far north just below the demilitarized zone to a few installations in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon. Most seemed to have lasted only a few minutes.

A police substation in Saigon was attacked by a squad of Viet Cong agents who fired a few rounds and then withdrew.

The shelling perhaps was a preliminary to the Viet Cong's long-awaited winter-spring offensive.

It was evident that the Communist command was making some kind of coordinated effort to mark the end of the lunar new year holidays. This is the festive period known as Tet, which the enemy used last year for their most devastating offensive of the war.

A seven-day enemy-declared cease-fire ended Saturday morning. The allies claimed it had been broken by scores of incidents.

There were some conflicting reports in Saigon as to whether rockets or mortars fell on the city.

The sound of the sharp explosions definitely was characteristic of the rockets which the city's residents learned to know so well earlier this year. Between May and October the enemy shelled and rocketed the capital almost 30 times, killing about 150 civilians and wounding 1,000.

Two Held Following Alleged Rape of Girl

Two itinerant magazine salesmen are being held in the Sedalia jail following the alleged rape of an 11-year-old Sedalia girl at the Girl Scout Camp, west of the city, Thursday night, local police reported.

Chief of Police William E. Miller Saturday emphasized the case was not related to two incidents reported in The Sedalia Democrat and Capital earlier last week involving a man attempting to entice children to get into a car with him.

Being held on a state complaint charging rape, signed by Pettis County Prosecuting Attorney Henry Keller, are Darrel Dwayne Jordan, 17, Chicago, Ill., and Danny Eugene Shomer, 21, Kansas City.

They are being held in lieu of $3,000 bond each. The bond was set by Magistrate Court Judge Frank Armstrong Friday night, Sheriff Emmett Fairfax said.

According to Chief Miller, the incident was reported to police Thursday night. The alleged assault took place about 6:30 p.m., shortly after the girl had been picked up by the two men in the vicinity of Ohio street.

Miller said medical examination at Bothwell Hospital Thursday night confirmed the girl had been sexually molested. Miller reported that after the alleged rape, the girl was brought back to the area where she had been picked up earlier. The victim

Warren Commission Prints in Evidence

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Blown-up prints of pictures from the Warren Commission Report were placed into evidence Saturday at the Clay Shaw trial as the state tried to discredit the FBI investigation of President John F. Kennedy's assassination.

The photos purportedly showed clothing worn by Kennedy when he was killed Nov. 22, 1963.

Shaw, 55, is on trial on a charge of conspiring to assassinate Kennedy. But the big, gray-haired defendant has become a spectator during the trial of the Warren Commission, which concluded there was no credible evidence of conspiracy and that Lee Harvey Oswald was the lone assassin.

Chief defense attorney F. Irvin Dymond demanded anew that the entire work of the commission be admitted in evidence if parts of it were admitted. But Judge Edward A. Haggerty Jr. said: "I'm not letting the Warren Report in."

FBI firearms expert Robert A. Frazier, called by the defense, testified that he found no evidence to indicate that shots which hit Kennedy were fired from any location other than a sixth-floor window of the Texas School Book Depository in Dallas. He was a key investigator for the Warren Commission which concluded Oswald shot Kennedy from that spot.

Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's prosecution team, through its questioning of Frazier, however, sought to emphasize that the commission confined its investigation to the depository. Garrison contends Kennedy was killed in a crossfire by "different guns in different locations"

Nixon Hopes For 'New Spirit' As Result of European Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon flies to Europe Sunday hoping to foster "a new spirit of consultation which will result in a new spirit of confidence."

A prime aim, Nixon and other administration sources made clear, will be to lay the groundwork in talks with allied leaders for a meeting the President hopes to have later with chiefs of the Soviet Union.

Nixon, talking informally to newsmen who will accompany him on his week-long travels through five countries, said he wants to promote within the Western alliance "a new era of consultation—and I mean real give-and-take consultation."

Priority topics for the chief executive's talks will be the future of East-West relations, the search for a Middle East settlement, revitalization of the alliance, and international trade and monetary problems.

In briefing newsmen, Nixon made no reference to reported overtures by French President Charles de Gaulle to Great Britain for an alliance which could undercut U.S. influence in Europe.

When Nixon talked with reporters at the White House it had not been officially announced in London that Great Britain had rejected a French suggestion that Britain and France join in a new alliance that would, in effect, scuttle the European Common Market and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The way British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart put it Saturday, Britain refused to trade its friendship with the United States for such a pact with De Gaulle.

French Foreign Minister Michael Debre denied the report and criticized London for releasing it. But it appears likely the incident will have impact on Nixon's meeting with De Gaulle.

The White House had no comment following Saturday's London announcement.

Nixon's 10,500-mile trip to Belgium, Britain, West Germany, Italy and France will be the most extensive European trip undertaken by an American President.

In advance of departure, Nixon emphasized that he is not seeking any spectacular foreign-policy achievements in what will be his first venture in personal diplomacy.

Rather, he said, he hopes to tap "the great well of knowledge, wisdom and experience," in Europe and hopefully find some common principles which will smooth the courage of American-European relations during his presidency.

While in Paris, Nixon will confer with Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and other members of the American negotiating team at the Paris peace talks.

An administration source said the United States believes the talks soon will progress from the initial stage of exchanges designed primarily for propaganda purposes to more substantive discussions.

This source said:

"We have every hope that progress can be made, and can be made in a reasonable period of time."

Department Store Plans Building Here

W.T. Grant Department Stores, Inc., plans to construct a 68,923 square-foot building south and slightly west of the present State Fair Shopping Center, it was announced here today.

Construction on the building will be begun Monday by WEB and Sons, Inc., of Sedalia. Tentative opening date for the new department store is Oct. 1.

Israeli Counterblow Expected After Blast

Explosion Kills Two, Wounds Nine Friday

TEL AVIV (AP) — Arabs and Jews alike expressed belief Saturday the bomb blast that shattered Jerusalem's biggest supermarket will surely trigger a counterblow from Israel.

The dynamite explosion killed two university students and wounded nine other holiday shoppers in the Supersol Market Friday. It came only 72 hours after the Arab machine-gun attack on an Israeli El Al jetliner in Zurich, Switzerland.

Though certain there would be a militant Israeli reaction, few had the slightest idea when, where and how it might be execuuted.

The likeliest targets are the airports, bridges, dams or oil installations of the four Arab nations which ring Israel on all sides except the Mediterranean —Egypt, Jordan, Syria and Lebanon.

The Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, a Marxist guerrilla outfit with an office in Amman, Jordan, claimed responsibility for the supermarket blast, just as it did for the Zurich raid.

But angry Israeli officials blamed Arab governments for this spectacular foray and other bloody incidents in the guerrilla warfare — called resistance by the Arabs, terrorism by the Israelis.

The four governments disclaim responsibility for the guerrillas' operations, but all have expressed support, in varying degree, for the guerrilla movement. A dispatch from Beirut said all reported their defenses alerted for the expected counterblow.

Of the four Arab powers, only Syria has no been hit by an Israeli retaliatory attack. Its new French-built airport might tempt Israeli raiders.

World reaction could be adverse. The United States, other nations and such prominent figures as U.N. Secretary-General U Thant have pleaded for an end to the chain of raids and reprisals.

Adding to the tension were reports from Lebanon, which the army denied, that Israeli jets had been driven off after intruding into Lebanese air space.

Dispute Troubles Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — An unexpected new flare-up in a longstanding dispute between Britain and France posed an embarrassment for President Nixon as he packed for his Sunday departure to Europe.

In an attempt to avoid linking Nixon's trip to the controversy, U.S. policymakers from the President down were maintaining a tight silence Saturday about the specifics of the issue.

But the United States is deeply involved in the broader question in many way—and it seemed certain that European leaders would bring it up with Nixon at virtually every stop.

The London-Paris dispute erupted publicly Friday with accounts of a Feb. 4 proposal by French President Charles de Gaulle, who has been blocking Britain's bid to enter the tightly integrated European Common Market.

De Gaulle was said to have suggested to Britain's Paris ambassador a new, loose European free trade setup to succeed the Common Market. Its political core would be a four-nation directorate composed of France, Britain, West Germany and Italy.

Furthermore, De Gaulle's long-term design envisaged an end to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Reaffirming his advocacy of a Europe independent of America, De Gaulle was reported to have stated that with an independent Europe there would be no need for the defense alliance in which America is now the principal member.

But a London Official said Britain would not trade its friendship for the United States for a pact with De Gaulle.

Birth Of A Rumor Is Shown

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In a tightly guarded courtroom where Sirhan Bishara Sirhan is on trial for his life as the slayer of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy there has evolved a clinical demonstration of how rumor may be born.

The trial of the 24-year-old Sirhan was in recess Saturday for the weekend, with the state expected to rest its case no later than midweek.

Robert Kennedy, 42, was fatally shot June 5, 1968, in a kitchen area off the Embassy ballroom of the Ambassador hote.

Shortly after the assassination, a 20-year-old Kennedy volunteer, Sandy Serrano, told police that she saw a girl in a white dress with black polka dots run from the area crying, "We shot him! We shot Kennedy!"

And Vincent Di Pierro told a grand jury that he saw a girl in a polka dot dress smiling beside Sirhan as the fatal volley was fired.

Di Pierro took the stand as a state witness on Valentine Day. He was at the murder scene, he said. On direct examination by the state he made no mention of the girl in the polka dot dress.

Then defense attorney Grant Cooper took over on cross examination. Di Pierro testified that he saw a girl all right—but "standing in the area of Sirhan, whether at that time or after I don't know."

"She was wearing a polka dot dress ..." Di Pierro added. "Whether she conversed with him or not I cannot say."

Q. Did she have a smile on her face.

A. I believe she did.

Then Cooper turned to a statement Di Pierro made to police after the assassination. In it, the witness said he probably got the idea of the polka dot girl after talking to Sandy Serrano.

Work To Combat Sentinel Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon is working from an elaborate administrative battle plan to combat public controversy over the possible deployment of antimissiles across the nation.

The plan, written into military regulation last year, sets forth restrictions and suggestions for coordinating the flow of news and information on the Sentinel Antimissile Project.

Among other things, the Army is under orders to help scientists favoring Sentinel to write articles about the program, to send out mobile exhibits explaining what Sentinel is all about and to encourage top-ranking officers to offer public endorsement.

The finely detailed effort was mounted after the Johnson administration announced the decision to build a missile defense in November 1967. It remains in effect even though Sentinel work has been suspended pending re-examination by the Nixon administration.

The big information operation is being seized upon by Sentinel critics as proof the Pentagon is out to brainwash the country into accepting an expensive missile shield which they say may or may not be effective.

Europe Furious Over Deal

LONDON (AP) — Western Europe was in uproar Saturday night over a reported deal offered by President Charles de Gaulle to let Britain into a watered-down Common Market in exchange for breaking with the United States.

The French were furious with the British for spreading what Foreign Minister Michel Debre called sensationalized accounts of the plan and said it contained nothing new. They said that by disclosing it, the British government was trying to block a reconciliation between President Nixon and De Gaulle. Nixon arrives in Brussels Sunday for a European tour.

Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart said Britain would not pay the French price—an end to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and to Western Europe's political and defense ties with the United States. In their place, De Gaulle would have a "European directorate" of France, Britain, West Germany and Italy to guide policy.

Italian Foreign Ministry officials were among the first to describe the plan as unacceptable. One said it would dismantle "what European unity has been achieved through the Common Market thus far."

Izvestia Criticizes Britain

MOSCOW (AP) — The government newspaper Izvestia criticized Britain Saturday for disclosing secret French proposals for a new European economic system.

Its London correspondent V. Kobysh avoided comment on the proposals themselves but said: "So far it is difficult to foresee all the consequences of the latest scandal, which erupted on the very eve of the visit to Western Europe by President Nixon."

He said the British version was that "President de Gaulle allegedly came out with an initiative to change the currently existing 'Common Market' through the participation of England and to make a new entity completely independent of both NATO and the U.S.A.

"Since Western Europe would take the path of independence, NATO as an instrument of American domination and enslavement of allies would cease its existence."

In a separate article, Izvestia's Paris correspondent, S. Zykov, noted with apparent approval a French government refutation of the British version of what happened.

County Ranks High in 1968 Traffic Deaths

Pettis County ranked eight in the state in the number of traffic fatalities last year, according to a report from the Missouri State Highway Patrol.

Pettis County was one of 11 counties in Missouri recording 20 traffic deaths or more last year, the patrol said. St. Louis County topped the list, followed by Jackson County's 111 total.

The other nine counties with 20 or more highway deaths were:

Jefferson, 43; Jasper, 40; Franklin and Green, each with 34; St. Charles, 29; Pettis, 26; Boone, Callawy and Cass each with 20.

Of the 114 counties in the state, 69 had an increase in traffic fatalities last year, Pettis County among them.

For the state, the patrol said, a traffic fatality record was set last year, with 1,488 deaths recorded.

Pakistan Speculates On New Leader for Nation

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — President Johammed Ayub Khan's decision not to run again spurred speculation Saturday about who will head Pakistan's next government. Interest seemed centered on leftist leader Zulfikar Ali Bhutto.

After Ayub astrounded the nation Friday by announcing he will retire from the presidency, discussions in the coffee houses, market places and luxury homes as to who should follow him revolved around four men:

—Bhutto, 41, former foreign minister and now leader of the leftist People's party, who was perhaps Ayub's chief political foe.

—Sheik Mujibur Rahman, 48, chief of the rightist Awami League party in East Pakistan. Ayub released him Saturday from more than two years' imprisonment.

—Air Marshal Mohammed Asghar Khan, 48, former commander of the Pakistan air force who is an independent.

—Maulana Bhashani, 83, head of the pro-Peking wing of the National Awami party.

Bhutto, a symbol of opposition to Ayub's regime during the three months of civil strife that swept Pakistan, has indicated he is getting ready to enter the January 1970 presidential contest.

The opposition leader, who was released from three months of detention last week, said he might fly to Dacca, capital of East Pakistan for weekend talks with Rahman and Bhashani.

With West Pakistan divided from East Pakistan by 1,000 miles of Indian territory, western province leaders such as Bhutto and Asghar Khan would have to reach agreement with eastern leaders to win the election.

Bhutto, perhaps the best politician of the group, has gone out of his way in recent months to be nice to the East Pakistani leaders, something his colleagues have not always done.

"No roundtable talks could succeed without Sheik Mujibur," he said.

Bhutto told a news conference in Karachi that, if his People's party wins power, it will maintain cordial relations with all countries "so long as they do not interfere in our internal affairs."

"We have always been keen on normalizing our relations with India, but it is India who does not want to do so," he said.

He claimed that India was denying self-determination to Kashmir, the Himalayan state divided between India and Pakistan, and asserted, "We will not rest until we have achieved this right for the people of Jammu and Kashmir."

Ayub's announcement that he would not run again was greeted by cheering and dancing in the streets, but unrest continued in some cities.

Eight persons were reported killed and 27 injured in Khulna where police fired upon a mob setting fire to a government minister's home. The army was called out to enforce a curfew in Khulna, about 100 miles from Dacca.

Ann Landers

Wife Has Unusual Accounting System

Dear Ann Landers: My brother and his wife have been married twelve years. They have two children. Kay is self conscious about not having a larger family. Her sisters each have five children.

Whenever Kay is asked how many children she has, she says, "We have two. We lost three."

Kay has had three miscarriages — all within the first two months of pregnancy. She didn't go to the hospital with any of them. Would you consider these children? — BIG Q

Dear Q: I do not consider miscarriages children, but if your sister-in-law wants to, it doesn't bother me. And it shouldn't bother you, either.

Dear Ann Landers: You people in the United States are not the only ones who are deeply concerned about the widespread use of drugs among young people. We Canadians are struggling with the problem also.

As a high school teacher who has worked in the Toronto system for 20 years, I would like to pass on some useful information to other teachers who need guidance. You published information several months ago to help parents detect whether or not children were "on something." A pamphlet put out by the American Pharmaceutical Association is designed to help teachers. Here are some useful clues:

Change in school attendance.

Change in quality of homework.

Deterioration in appearance.

Wearing of sunglasses in class.

Wearing of long-sleeved garments in hot weather (to hide needle marks).

Stealing of small items.

Finding the student in unseemly places such as closets, storerooms, etc.

Falling asleep in class.

And now, Ann, some parents as well as teachers need to know how to recognize a marijuana cigaret. Will you publish the description? Thank you. — TORONTO STAR READER

Dear Reader: Thank you for your contribution. And now here is the description you requested:

Marijuana cigarets are usually rolled in a double thickness of light brown or off-white paper. They are somewhat smaller than regular cigarets with the paper twisted or tucked in at both ends. Marijuana is green in color rather than brown like ordinary tobacco. The odor of burning marijuana is similar to burning rope or weeds, somewhat sweeter than tobacco.

Users call marijuana by odd names. If you hear someone refer to grass, pot, hemp, tea, sticks, roaches, joints, hay, or Mary Jane, he is talking about marijuana.

Do you feel ill at ease... out of it? Is everybody having a good time but you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Everybody Can Have Car Now

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union is moving into a new era —cars for ordinary citizens. Since the average citizen knows no more about driving an automobile than piloting a sputnik, he's going to be educated.

There now is one car for every 235 persons, compared with one car for every 2.4 persons in the United States.

The number of cars available to the public is supposed to jump when the new factory at Togliatti starts turning out a Soviet version of the Italian Fiat next year.

The Kremlin has been issuing decrees to cope with the new era. Officials have been making pronouncements. The papers are full of articles.

"Cars will soon be much more numerous than before," said Viktor Mogila, a department head of the Ukrainian Ministry of Transport. "It is imperative to prepare for that now."

Mogila, writing in Izvestia, expressed concern about putting the fast new car in the hands of inexperienced drivers. He observed that most of the driving in this country until now has been done by professional chauffeurs.

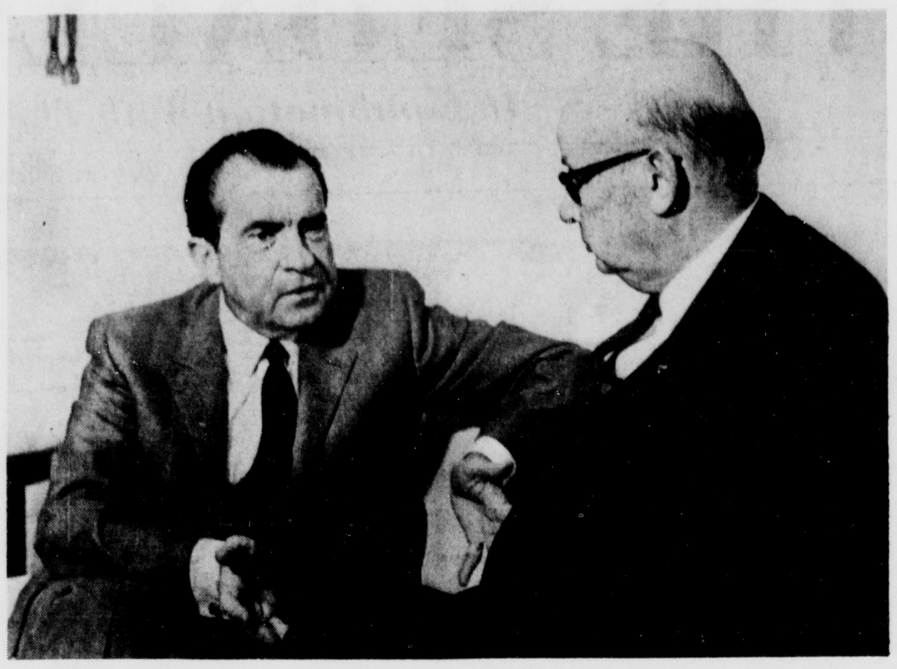

Mogila called for news media to educate the public, since "the majority of people now do not know the elementary rules of either pedestrian or motor vehicular traffic."

The Soviet government recently decreed that driver education courses be given in high schools for the first time, starting with the next academic year.

Another decree created an organization to provide more service stations, garages, motels and parts stores. Facilities for private cars are now sorely lacking.

Most of the present cars belong to government offices. Authorities have never disclosed how much of the present or future production is being set aside for private owners.

The extent of the demand by ordinary citizens is shown by the prices asked for the three makes offered for public sale.

Plans For Trip

Young Turks Are Running For North Ireland Seats

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — "Back to your books," jeer Northern Ireland's older voters, but many privately fear young student leaders running for office may incite their followers to take to the streets again if they are ignored in Monday's election.

Eight candidates of a university-based organization known as People's Democracy are seeking seats in Parliament on a civil rights platform. The group's most prominent candidate, Michael Farrell, a 24-year-old teacher, admist he can't win and expects to forfeit the $420 entry fee.

Farrell, a member of the Roman Catholic minority that makes up one third of the country's 1.5 million population, was in the vanguard of students from Belfast's Queen's University who staged a march last fall to protest police action in Londonderry's Oct. 5 riots in which more than 60 persons were injured.

Militants became more active in the student organization and young professionals, many of them teachers, joined it. In January it organized two marches and both ended in bloody rioting.

The continuing disturbances also produced a crisis in the ruling Unionist party and forced Prime Minister Terence O'Neill to call an election for the 52-seat House of Commons.

Only the Unionist party, Protestant-based and dedicated to Northern Ireland's links with the British crown, has enough candidates in the field to win.

The real issue is whether the Unionists who get to parliament between the Protestant majority and Roman Catholic minority.

O'Neill's supporters expect the People's Democracy intervention to backfire and help the prime minister win the intra-party squabble with rebels led by former Home Affairs Minister William Craig. Craig charges O'Neill persistently overrode his Cabinet in vital decisions during the rioting.

O'Neill's supporters say that many Catholics, who might be shy of entering an all-Protestant contest, will use the People's Democracy as an excuse to give O'Neill the support he needs.

Tramp's Value Down

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — A tramp isn't worth a $10 bounty in New Hampshire any more.

There are too few old fashioned tramps around to make this law worthwhile, said the sponsor of a bill abolishing a law which provided a bounty for the conviction of tramps.

Gov. Walter Peterson signed the bill into law Friday.

Something New Heard in Prayer

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The Indiana Senate heard this line in a prayer opening Friday's session:

"Make our nights restless, our steaks tough and our martinis sweet 'til we care as much for others as we care for our political necks," intoned the Rev. L. Ray Sells, pastor of Fletcher Place United Methodist church in Indianapolis.

Berlin Air Corridor Could Be Menaced

BERLIN (AP) — Soviet and East German maneuvers near the air corridors to isolated West Berlin could result in a confrontation with the Western allies.

The key question is whether the Russians and East Germans plan aerial maneuvers as well as ground exercises, and if so to what extent.

The Soviet announcement said only the maneuvers will take place early in March in central and western East Germany—between West Berlin and the West German border 110 miles away. Many believe the maneuvers are another Communist attempt to hinder access to West Berlin, where the West Germans will hold their presidential election March 5.

The East Germans, with Soviet backing, already have imposed new restrictions on surface travel, barring West Germany's presidential electors, their aides and members of the West German armed forces from traveling through East Germany to West Berlin. This means delegates to the West German Federal Assembly will be flying there.

If the Communists send up aircraft in numbers in the relatively narrow area, they could not avoid flying over the Berlin air corridors and possibly below the 10,000-foot level where Western planes fly.

At jet speeds this could pose an acute safety problem for airliners.

Even if the Soviets and East Germans do nothing overt in the air corridors, the announcement that they plan large-scale, high-speed air formations in the area would pose a ticklish question for the allies:

Should the air corridors be shut down until the maneuvers are finished, or should measures be taken to see that the airliners get through, with fighter escorts for example?

Since the Russian blockade in 1948-49 there has never been any large-scale Communist interference with Berlin's air corridors. But Communist planes are sighted regularly by Western airline pilots.

High-ranking U.S. officials in West Berlin do not think the Soviets are planning anything serious in connection with their objections to the West Berlin election. It is held in West Berlin every five years, and every time the Soviets and East Germans complain it is a "provocation."

At Half-Way Point

BROWNWOOD, Tex. (AP) — Two bicyclists have reached what they called the halfway point in their 3,600-mile trip from Cape Kennedy, Fla., to Santa Barbara, Calif.

Joe Wardenburg, 20, of Ontario, Canada, and Bruce Beebee, 28, of Salem, Ore., said they left Cape Kennedy 24 days ago and plan to be in Santa Barbara within 30 days. They spent Thursday night in this central Texas town.

Requests Are High

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Two hospitals are being asked to perform so many abortions that they have been unable to handle all the requests and have begun rejecting out-of-state applicants.

"If we took everyone requesting an aboration, we wouldn't have a bed left in the hospital," said Dr. John E. Savage, head of the Greater Baltimore Medical Center's abortion screening committee.

"We can't be the abortionists for the East Coast," said Dr. Allan C. Barnes, chairman of the Johns Hopkins Medical Institutions' obstetrics and gynecology department. "I get about 17 phone calls a day from out-of-state residents seeking abortions."

Sinai Hospital and the medical center have imposed restrictions against accepting out-of-state applications. A Johns Hopkins spokesman said Friday physicians practicing there have been "encouraged" to limit abortions to Maryland residents.

Maryland's new liberalized abortion law, enacted last July, permits an abortion if a mother's life is threatened by the pregnancy, if there is substantial risk to her mental or physical health, if there is likelihood the child will be born deformed or retarded, or when the pregnancy results from rape.

Judge Orders Man To Do Charity Work

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Curtis Reed, 30, convicted of the "cops and robbers" slaying of a 19-year-old youth, was ordered Friday to do charity work four hours a week for a year and placed on five years probation.

Judge Richard F. C. Hayden said he felt "it was better to have him work for a social agency than to rot in jail."

Reed also was directed to finish his high school education.

He was convicted of involuntary manslaughter in the death last June of Patrick McLemore. Reed had just bought a pistol for target practice when he heard shots. Drawing the gun, he ordered McLemore and a companion to stop. They said they had only been shooting in the air. As Reed took possession of their gun, it discharged, firing a bullet into McLemore's head.

Showdown Facing The Irish

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — "The Irish," said Samuel Johnson, "are a fair people. They never speak well of each other."

Last week the 900,000 voters of Northern Ireland were justifying he sag's comment. The words have been flying as only the Irish can fling them.

The showdown comes Monday in voting for a new House of Commons for Ulster. It is likely to determine whether the area settles down to civic peace or embarks on anoter riotous course of political and religious feuding.

This is certainly the strangest and, in some ways, the first real election in Northern Ireland, where the Protestant-based Unionist party has ruled 48 years without a break.

Prime Minister Terence O'Neill, after a lifetime in politics and six years as premier, is facing a personal election battle for the first time.

All previous Northern Ireland elections were a simple head count. Protestants voted for the pro-British Unionist government and Catholics against it.

This time 45 of the 52 Commons seats are being contested, almost twice the usual number. Candidates total 119 under 14 party labels.

The upsurge in interest stems directly from a split in the Unionist party, which itself reflects a split in the Protestant two-thirds of the 1½ million population.

Northern Ireland's feuds between Protestant and Catholic go back for centuries. Now, for the first time, the Protestants are feuding among themselves. The immediate issue is the personality and policies of Prime Minister O'Neill, a moderate dedicated to bringing Protestant and Catholic together. The deeper issue is the fears of many Protestants that Roman Catholics eventually will outnumber them, and that Protestant jobs will be in danger in a country chronically short of work.

Pressures on O'Neill came to the surface last fall after civil rights demonstrations in Londonderry. Catholics there claim that for generations they have suffered discrimination in jobs and housing from the city government, run by Protestants.

The government in London, which retains a supervisory role in Northern Ireland affairs, began pressing for reform. O'Neill went some way to meeting the British demands, but in doing so alienated at least 15 of his party's 37 members of Parliament.

The Unionist split is the only issue before the voter. No other party, including the Catholic-based Nationalists, can hope to form a government.

O'Neil 54, is fighting his personal battle for a place in Parliament from Bannside, the County Antrim district which he has represented, previously unopposed, for 23 years.

This time he has two opponents who typify extremes of Northern Ireland politics. The Rev. Ian Paisley, 42, is leader of the Free Presbyterian Church; his main campaign slogan is "No Popery." Michael Farrell, 24, is a college teacher and a leader of Catholic-based civil rights campaigners.

In Londonderry's Foyle district, where a Protestant could win few votes, the Catholics are battling among themselves.

Eddy McAteer, leader of the Nationalists, is opposed by two top activists of the civil rights campaign—Eamonn McCann, standing for the Labor party, and John Hume, campaigning as an independent.

Astronaut is Back

British Secretary Slaps Suggestion By De Gaulle

LONDON (AP) — Foreign Secretary Michel Stewart said today Britain refused to trade its friendship with the United States for a European trade alliance with French President Charles de Gaulle.

Stewart's statement was the first by a British government official since Friday's disclosure —on the eve of President Nixon's trip to Europe—that De Gaulle had sought British help to form a new alliance that would scuttle the European Common Market and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

French Foreign Minister Michael Debre denied the report and criticized Britain for releasing it.

Stewart told a seminar of the Fabian Society, a Socialist, intellectual group: "We cannot accept what appears to be Gen. De Gaulle's thesis that friendship and alliance with America is necessarily the same as dependence on America.

Stewart defended the policy of Western European allies on maintaining close ties with the Americans.

"The United States alone among the super powers in the world is a democracy. For example, people who disagree with the policy of the U.S. government on Vietnam can and do say so," he said.

"This is one very powerful reason why we should want good British-American relations and it is one powerful reason behind the existence of NATO."

In the British version of the French proposal, De Gaulle was quoted as saying France alone of the Western European states had established a position of total independence from the United States. British sources quoted him as saying that the pro-Americanism of France's European friends represents the main obstacles to a true European unity and independence.

The French president also was said to have urged Britain to join with France in talks aimed at achieving a consensus in defense, economic, political and monetary policies for Europe. Debre denied this.

Whether true or not, the report shook Common Market members who feel De Gaulle no longer has faith in the economic alliance. Diplomatic sources predicted the market cannot continue operating in its present form without French support, particularly as the six member nations are already deadlocked over De Gaulle's refusal to let Britain join the trade pact.

Qualified informants in London said the French president confided his plan to British Ambassador Christopher Soames 18 days ago. They said it called for a loose European free trade area to be run by a council of France, Britain, West Germany and Italy. The independent-minded De Gaulle reportedly saw in the new grouping the collapse of NATO and the whittling away of American influence in Europe.

Britain's refusal and London's disclosure of the project threatened to disrupt the already-strained relations between Paris and London.

The immediate reaction of French officials was to say that the idea of France, Britain, West Germany and Italy running Europe was so counter to French views that it was beneath denial.

Debre said in a radio interview today that De Gaulle had received Soames in "a rather long meeting" Feb. 4, but "Gen. De Gaulle said nothing different than what he has constantly and publicly affirmed."

In Washington, the State Department refused comment except to say: "The British minister, Edward Tompkins, called on Assistant Secretary John M. Leddy this afternoon to provide information on the French proposal concerning certain political and economic arrangements in Europe."

The diplomatic turmoil created by the report poses awkward problems for Nixon, who is scheduled to arrive in Brussels Sunday to start an eight-day European tour with a visit to NATO headquarters. The main purpose of the trip is to revitalize the Western alliance.

Will Speak At Banquet By Chamber

Dr. Lansford

Dr. R.W. Lansford, professor of finance and placement at the University of Missouri-Columbia, will be the guest speaker at the annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet at 6:30 p.m., March 13, in Smith-Cotton cafeteria.

One of the highlights of the evening will be the presentation of the Outstanding Citizenship Award. An Outstanding Division Award will also be presented by the Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Lansford is placement director in the School of Business and Public Administration at the university.

He has been on the MU faculty since 1957, after serving on staffs at Joplin Junior College, Southwest Missouri State College, Central Missouri State College and New York University.

Dr. Lansford's business background includes association with Crown Drug Co., J.C. Penney Co., Mercantile Stores and Macy's. He has serves as a sales consultant and lecturer on human relations for community and business organizations throughout the U.S. for the past 15 years.

He worked with the Missouri Real Estate Association in establishing seminars in real estate starting in 1957.

Dr. Lansford is listed in "Who's Who in American Education," "Who's Who in the Midwest" and "Leaders in American Science." He is a member of the national, state and local association of Real Estate Boards.

Another Record

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michael Grost, the youngest student ever to enroll at Michigan State University, has become the youngest candidate ever designated to receive a Woodrow Wilson fellowship.

Grost, 15, recently received his bachelor's degree in physical sciences and now is working on a master's degree in mathematics.

The Woodrow Wilson Foundations this year honored 1,106 students from 349 colleges and universities.

Use Courts, Judge Tells NSA Group

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A federal district judge advised delegates to a National Student Association meeting in St. Louis Friday to fight their battles in court, not on campus.

Judge Frank Johnson of the Middle District for Alabama said, "there is no immunity in our law for people who engage in disruptive protest under the guise of seeking civil rights."

Campus disturbances, Johnson said, are often indiscriminate attacks on the constitutional system.

"The vitality of our schools and students depends on their freedom to explore all concepts of significance and relevance in an atmosphere of academic freedom free from violence and disruption," the jurist said.

Johnson, who has handed down a number of civil rights decisions in the south, addressed a conclave on civil rights. The Student Association represents nearly 400 campus governments and two million students across the nation.

Coal Miners Are Flexing For a Fight

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Othenel Bennington is one of 12,000 striking southern West Virginia coal miners and he's angry.

"The only way the coal miner has got to go is up because he's down as low as he can get," Bennington said Friday night. "The politicians and coal operators sit on their duff and get fat and laugh at the miner.

"But they're finding out the coal miner is no longer illiterate. Those days are gone forever, we demand representation and we intend to be heard."

Bennington was one of the first miners to stop work last Tuesday to protest the state legislature's lack of activity on several bills geared to liberalize compensation laws for miners with pneumoconiosis, or "black lung."

Most of the state's rich southern coal fields were idle today and strikers threatened to picket northern mines and march on the state Capitol.

The illness is caused by breathing coal dust, and the strikers contend anyone who has been a miner for several years and has "black lung" should automatically receive workman's compensation.

A mass conference of strikers will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday at an abandoned union hall in Affinity, a ghost town near Beckley.

Bennington said a statement will be read demanding that action be taken on the "black lung" compensation bills. The statement reportedly says that if legislators take no action on the measures "we know what to do at future elections."

Legislators have reacted differently to the spreading walkouts and threatened march on the state Capitol at Charleston.

Del. J.I. Watson, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, said the strikers were being led "by a few rabble rousers" and said he was referring to VISTA anti-poverty volunteers.

Watson's committee has had seven compensation bills under consideration for several weeks.

Cigarette Sales Out in Hospital

ELKHART, Ind. (AP) — Directors of Elkhart General Hospital have ordered a ban on the sale of cigarettes from coin-operated machines in the hospital, effective April 1. The board said it realized the ban would not substantially reduce smoking, but felt the medical profession should set an example.

In addition to alfalfa's value for abundant, protein-rich hay and also for honey, alfalfa is one of the best legumes for improving the soil.

Deer Are Killed By Packs of Dogs

BEND, Ore. (AP) — An Oregon game warden says dog packs are killing deer driven near this central Oregon town by severe weather in the mountains.

Kenny Roach, the warden, said there have been reports of five cases of dogs slaughtering deer in the past two weeks.

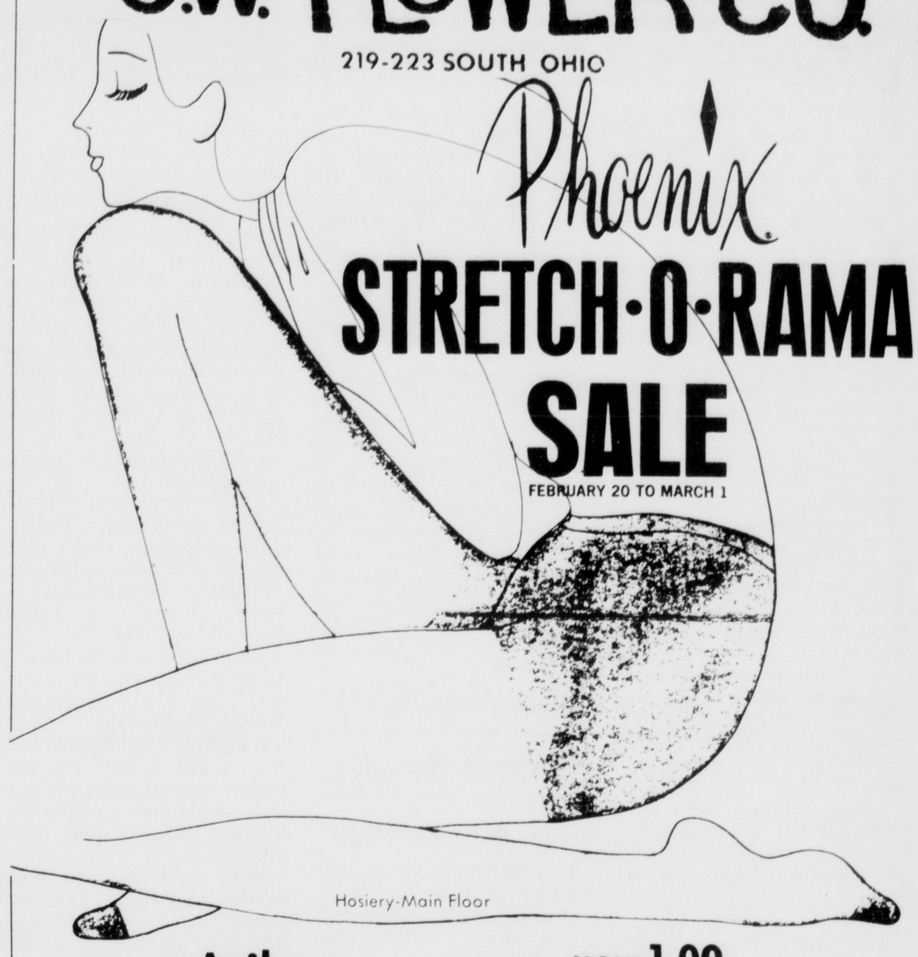

Roach asked residents to keep their dogs at home until the weather is nicer.

Occupation Radio Back on the Air

BERLIN (AP) — Radio Vltava, voice of Soviet-occupation authorities in Czechoslovakia, is back on the air after a mysterious but brief shutdown and with a new name, U.S. authorities said here Thursday.

The station, which regularly broadcast polemics against Czechoslovak liberals from the start of the Soviet-bloc invasion last August, went off the air without an explanation last week.

Two Held

identified Jordan and Shomer as the men who raped here, Miller reported. Identification was made at the police station Friday morning, Chief Miller said.

Miller added that the victim's sister also identified the car and the two men as the suspects who drove away with the young girl.

After the incident was reported to police, Miller said, the vehicle described by the two girls was located at the Bothwell Hotel parking lot. Officers Franklin Rogers and James Shawhan maintained surveillance of the vehicle from after 10 p.m. Thursday until about 8 a.m. Friday. In the meantime, it was learned that both Jordan and Shomer were registered at the hotel, Miller added.

Miller said the two men accompanied Sargeants Franklin and William Raynes to the Sedalia police station of their own free will after being asked to do so by the officers while at the hotel.

After questioning at police headquarters, the men were held for investigation of statutory rape, Miller said. He said both men requested a polygraph test and added that Jordan and Shomer were taken to Jefferson City by Sgt. Perry Franklin and Officer James Stivers. The test was given about 3 p.m. Friday, but results were withheld.

After they returned to Sedalia, about 6 p.m. Friday, Jordan and Shomer were again questioned by Chief Miller, Sgt. Franklin and Sheriff Fairfax. A short time later state charges were filed by Keeler.

The two men are scheduled to appear before Magistrate Armstrong for arraignment Monday, Fairfax said.

Chief Miller said the victim of the alleged assault did not require hospitalization, but was examined at the hospital by Dr. Robert Stockwood and released.

Miller said the two men arrived in Sedalia Thursday morning. It was also learned that they apparently did not have previous police records.

Accidents

A two-car accident occurred at the intersection of 16th and Ohio at 6:19 p.m. Friday.

Involved were a 1960 Ford driven east on 16th by George I. Sanders, 36, 660 East 12th, and a 1963 Corvair driven south on Ohio by Barbara J. Dail, 28, 1023 South Marvin.

The left front of both vehicles were damaged.

Broadway and State Fair was the scene of a two-car accident at 5:58 p.m. Friday.

Involved were a 1967 Plymouth driven east on Broadway by Billy R. Wilson, 35, Kansas City, and a 1967 Buick driven north on State Fair by Belinda Blackman, 17, 1005 State Fair.

The right side of the Plymouth and the left front of the Buick were damaged in the accident.

A 1966 Chevrolet drinve south on Limit by Alma Lee Hopkins, 41, Windsor, and a 1965 Chevrolet driven east on 16th by Thomas S. Gulick, 73, 1415 South Beacon, were involved in a collision at the intersection of those streets at 3:11 p.m. Friday.

The right side of Mrs. Hopkins' auto and the front of Gulick's were damaged.

Minor damage resulted in a two-car accident in the 100 block of East Second at 3:23 p.m. Friday.

Involved were a parked 1961 Chevrolet owned by Homer D. Craig, 48, Cole Camp, and a 1961 Buick driven by Zulia Helen Owen, 49, 1207 South Ohio.

A broken headlamp on the Chevrolet was the only damage reported as a result of the accident.

Extensive damage resulted to both cars involved in an accident 2.1 miles south of Route B on Highway 65 at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

According to the Highway Patrol a 1966 Buick driven south on 65 by John Loren Fair, 22, Kansas City, and a Mercury sedan driven by George Henry Lewis, 59, 902 West Broadway, collided when Lewis was attempting to make a left turn into a driveway.

The right front of the Buick and the left rear of the Mercury were damaged in the accident. Damage was estimated at $500 to both vehicles.

Fair was issued a patrol summons for careless and imprudent driving.

Cpl. Pete Storh of the Highway Patrol investigated the accident.

A 1968 Ford driven by James Leonard Shepard, 35, 607 North Quincy, and a 1967 Chevrolet driven by Michael E. Alfrey, 24, Route 3, were involved in an accident on the parking lot at Garst's Drive Inn at 10:57 p.m. Friday.

The right rear of the Ford and the left rear of the Chevrolet were damaged in the accident.

Police received a report of a one-car accident in the 2200 block of South Grand at 12:47 a.m. Saturday.

Upon investigation officers discovered a 1965 Oldsmobile had struck a utility pole at the above location. The right side of the car was damaged in the accident.

Police were unable to contact the driver of the car at the scene. They are continuing their investigation.

Police Report

Tony Menefee, 1501 West Fourth, reported to police Friday that someone took a dishwasher from the above address.

Danie E. Green, 412 North Washington, reported to police his leather coat was taken from Wiggle Inn sometime early Saturday morning.

Police received a call at 4:52 p.m. Friday to go to 301 East 26th.

Upon arrival at the scene Officer Otis Brock discovered that David Dawson, age 4, had his finger stuck in the ring of a clipboard.

Assistant Fire Chief Jabas was called and a pair of tin snips and wire cutters were used to free the boy's finger.

The police report indicated that after several attempts and a few tears from David his finger was freed.

Helen D. Schilb reported to police someone took several items from her purse about 8:45 p.m. Friday while she was at Smith-Cotton High School.

Selvin Royal, 406 South Quincy, reported to police vandals broke the radio antenna and whinshield wipers on his car while it was parked at the above address early Friday night.

All Sedalia Police cars were dispatched to Brooks Cafe, 210 East Main, at 4:43 p.m. Saturday after police received a call about a shooting in progress there.

Upon arrival officers discovered that two shots had been fired from a .22 caliber revolver following a disturbance. No injuries were reported.

Officers took the gun involved to the station for safe keeping.

Magistrate Court

Glen Richard Calltharp, Overland Park, Kan., exceeding Missouri speed limits, withdrawn by assistant prosecuting attorney Donald Barnes.

Eleven persons entered pleas of guilty to charges of violating Missouri speed regulations, and all were fined $25 plus costs, each, in Magistrate Court. Named by the court were:

Mildred Elizabeth Phelps, Columbia; Martha Martin Pyles, Whiteman AFB; Vernon Lee Horn, Route 4; Jennie Maude Morris, Climax Springs; Ben Allen Johnson, Knob Noster; Verl Robert Nelson, 1001 State Fair.

Thomas C. Langford, 418 East Third; Ricky Hugh Park, Whiteman AFB; Edward Foris, 2001 South Missouri; Charles William Meyers, Kansas City; Dale Eugene Sharp, Kansas City.

Michael John Yakos, Whiteman AFB, dirving while intoxicated, pleaded guilty and was fined $100 plus costs.

Donna Marie Bryant, Route 2, driving with an operator's license, pleaded guilty and was fined $5 plus costs.

Marvin Roy Boyer, Clearfield, Iowa, careless and imprudent driving, pleaded guilty and was fined $25 plus costs.

John Prentice Beaman, Green Ridge, Missouri resident and out-of-state vehicle license, pleaded guilty and was fined $5 plus costs.

Lewis Peter Braden, 914 East Seventh, no operator's license on persons, pleaded guilty and was fined $5 plus costs.

City Fires

Firemen used two pump buckets and one dry chemical extinguisher to extinguish a fire at the Show-Me-Kort, 1217 South Limit, at 5:12 p.m. Saturday where a furnace caught fire after a heat element apparently failed to function properly. Damage was estimated at $500.

Firemen were called to 415 East Saline at 2:32 a.m. Saturday. A furnace had overheated. There was no fire or damage.

Committee Members

Members of the Missouri Committee for the 1970 White House Conference on Children and Youth from Pettis County are: left to right, Mrs. Mary K. Hunter, Ron Keyes, Libby Cain and Robin Rader. They will attend the first meeting which will be held at Ramada Inn in Jefferson City on Feb. 24, at which Governor Warren E. Hearnes will be the principal speaker.

Thursday Club Holds February Meeting

Mrs. S. O. Campbell of the LaMonte community was hostess to the Thursday Club members for their February meeting on Feb. 13 and presented a worthwhile devotional on "Beauty."

Members were asked to answer roll call with some significant event of February. It was coincidental that one member brought out the fact that that particular week in February was "Electrical Week" and Mrs. Arthur Mahin, co-home management leader with Mrs. J. L. Johnson, chose as her demonstration, "How to Replace or Change an Electrical Switch or Plug-in."

Mrs. J. L. Johnson demonstrated a method of patching a rug or carpeting to complete the "Household Fixit" study for the afternoon.

Mrs. George Harrison presented the Home and Community Beautification suggestion to be considered as projects for individual members and the club. A round table discussion followed bringing out some worth while plans for one main community project which it is hoped can be done this year.

During the business meeting with Mrs. Raymond Wasson president, presiding, nine members answered roll call and Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Harrison gave a report of the meeting of the Pettis County Extension Homemakers Council which they and the president had attended recently. The meeting was closed with the group singing the Missouri Waltz, the 1969 State Club Son, and with members repeating the club collect.

Refreshments were served suggestive of February birthdays and each place at the table was marked with a Valentine. Two children were guests.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Charles Dilthey on March 13.

WHAT IS THE CAUSE OF BOILS?

Many people think that boils are caused by over-rich blood, or possibly a virus from a cold. Boils usually are a local infection started by the bacteria found on the skin. The staphylococcus or "staph" germ is considered the culprit.

The germs work their way into or through the skin. They form a colony and multiply rapidly. The bloodstream rushes white corpuscles to the spot to kill the invading germs. A boil must be kept covered, for if these germs leak out, more boils may form on your skin or the skin of someone who touches you. A physician usually can relieve a boil by prescribing an antibiotic treatment.

Question

When a deceased person is entitled to both a Social Security and Veterans death benefit allowance, how is the distribution made?

Answer

The lump sum Social Security death benefit is paid to the veteran's widow without regard to funeral cost, if she was living with her husband. The $250.00 Veterans funeral benefit usually is paid to the mortuary.

If there is no widow, or the widow was estranged from her husband, Social Security will pay as a death benefit only the difference between the Veterans allowance; and the cost of the funeral. The maximum payable under these circumstances may not exceed the Social Security entitlement; this ranges from $165 to $255.

Feel free to contact our office for copies of the latest official bulletins concerning Social Security and Veterans benefits, as well as other survivors rights and benefits.

Says Sirhan Told Of Shooting Plans

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan confided to an acquaintance last April that he planned to shoot Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and he was observed on the scene 48 hours before the assassination, witnesses testified Friday at Sirhan's first-degree murder trial.

The prosecution, developing its theme of premeditated murder, has called 46 witnesses and appears likely to rest its case next week. The trial is in recess until Monday.

Alvin Clark, a mustached, goateed Negro, testified Friday that Sirhan told him two months before the assassination, "I'm planning on shooting him."

Clark, who collects trash at the Sirhan home in Pasadena, said they became friendly, with Sirhan providing coffee and sandwiches. Shortly after the assassination of Martin Luther King, Clark said Sirhan, a 24-year-old Jordanian, "asked me who I was going to vote for. I told him Sen. Kennedy."

"What do you want to vote for that son of a b for, because I'm planning on shooting him," Clark quoted Sirhan as saying.

On cross-examination, Clark was asked if he told the FBI after Kennedy's death that "you wouldn't want to take the oath because you hated Sirhan so much you would do anything to see him convicted?"

"Yes," replied Clark.

The prosecution then asked Clark if he told the truth in his testimony and he said he had.

The defense contends that Sirhan was in a trance and incapable of premeditated murder—for which the possible penalty is death—when he shot the 42-year-old Kennedy last June 5 just after the senator proclaimed victory in California's Democratic presidential primary.

William Blume, a youth with dark hair hanging below his shoulder, followed Clark on the stand. He said he had worked in the same neighborhood as Sirhan, knew him by sight and recognized him at a publicly advertised reception for Kennedy in the same hotel where Kennedy was shot to death two days later.

Makes Dean's List At an Iowa College

Charles Letier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Leiter, Route 2, has been named to the dean's list at Upper Iowa College, Fayette, for outstanding academic achievement during the first semester.

Students making the dean's list for work done the first semester receive a $100 certificate which can be applied against tuition in the first term of the 1969 summer session.

New View On Hunger In Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern says his investigation of malnutrition in the nation shows a change of attitude in Congress and the White House indicating a real "commitment to end hunger in the United States."

"The climate is much better than it was two years ago" when widespread hunger was first reported, the South Dakota Democrat said in an interview. McGovern heads a special committee studying malnutrition and health.

In the first place "there seems to be a more favorable attitude in the executive branch," he said, noting Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin's agreement Wednesday to provide free food stamps to impoverished people in two South Carolina counties.

Normally, the stamps, which are exchanged for food, have to be paid for.

"If we can get the concept established that the poorest people ought to get fed for free," McGovern said, "we're well on the way to eliminating malnutrition in the United States."

A second indication of changing attitudes cited by McGovern was the Senate overriding its Rules Committee recommendation to cut his committee's budget from $250,000 to $15,000.

"This indicates a change in Congress' attitude," McGovern said.

McGovern said that the committee's hearings, as well as such things as television documentaries have helped increase public awareness of hunger.

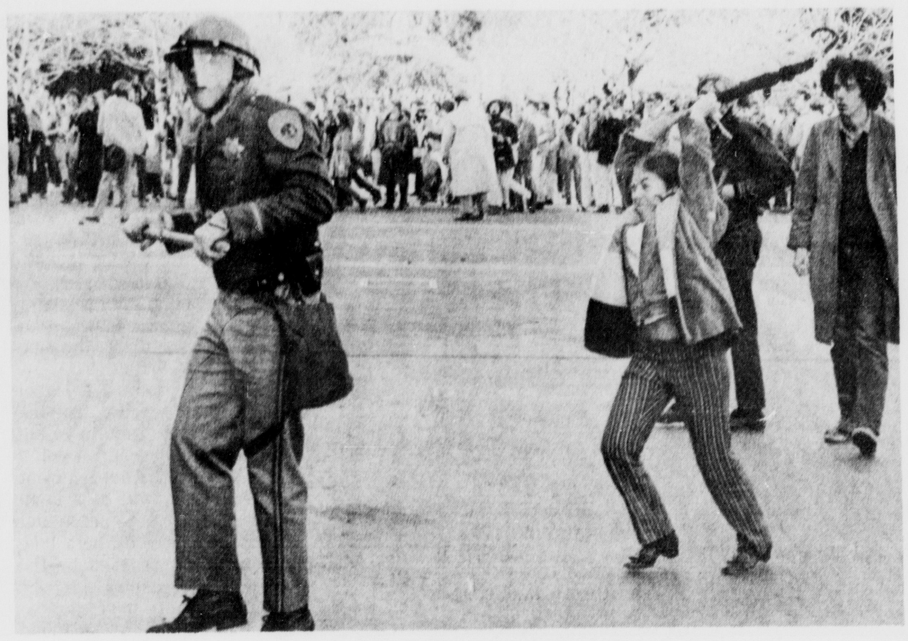

But, he added, important tests are yet to come when Congress votes on funds for various federal food programs.

The committee, which finished three days of hearings on South Carolina Thursday, plans to turn next to hunger in Florida.

It will go on a field trip to Collier County, Fla., March 10 and 11.

In the meantime, McGovern said he will ask Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell to exempt lunch programs when federal funds are cut off from schools systems which refuse to desegregate.

"While the intent of the Civil Rights Act is good, we ought to make a special exception in the case of food," he noted after the committee was told that such programs were stopped when federal schools funds to 14 South Carolina districts were cut off.

Women Would Serve

TAIPEI (AP) — The Chinese Nationalist government is drafting a bill that would require women to serve in the armed forces in time of peace as well as war, cabinet sources reported.

The bill specifies that women between 18 and 25 years old would serve one year in the armed forces to perform supplementary military duties. The bill, being drawn up by the cabinet, must be submitted to the legislature for approval.

Publicity manager, Bob Blackburn, Houstonia; chairman, Thomas McCarthy, Boonville; slide rule contest, Dean Breshears and Joe Breshears, Lincoln, and tickets, Tom Lehman, California.

This Week in Business

By LISA CRONIN
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — As the economic policies of the Nixon administration became clearer last week, a dramatic downturn on the stock market indicated investors are increasingly cautious about a possible slowdown.

The stock market decline began Monday after a weekend statement by Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy that the 10 per cent surcharge might remain in effect through 1970.

Kennedy expanded his views in testimony before the Senate-House Economic Committee Wednesday, saying Congress must extend the surtax for another year "unless fiscal 1970 federal expenditures can be cut back appreciably."

"The economy must be placed under firm restraint until there are unmistakbale signs that we are headed back on a noninflationary path," the Treasury chief said.

However, Kennedy warned against "attempting to stop inflation too abruptly," which he said might cause excessive unemployment.

Paul McCracken, chairman of Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers, said Monday no one can "assume that the distortions from three years of economic overheating and price inflation can be corrected with no effect on unemployment."

Pessimism by government officials was one of the factors that sent the stock market skittering downward through four straight trading days.

The Dow Jones industrial averages, a key barometer of market activity, fell to 916.65 at the close on Thursday, its lowest point last fall.

The stock exchanges and commodities markets were closed Friday in observance of Washington's birthday.

Compounding the cases of business jitters were a series of Congressional hearings planned or in progress last week.

The House Ways and Means Committee began an investigation of possible tax reforms including careful scrutiny of tax exemptions for foundations and favorable tax provisions for corporate mergers.

The House Antitrust Committee embarked on hearings a House Commerce subcommittee announced plans to hold hearings on stock market practices, including the paperwork problem.

The Justice Department scored a victory in the courts last week, securing an injunction Monday against the planned merger of Atlantic Richfield Co. and Sinclair Oil Corp.

Despite occasionally favorable news such as the Ford Motor Co.'s report of record fourth-quarter earnings, the mood last week was one of retrenchment and restraint.

Expense is High To Move a Cabin

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — It couldn't have cost much when author Jack London's cabin was built. But it's going to cost $18,000 to rebuild it.

That's how much Oakland's port commissioners set aside Tuesday to haul the cabin 2,000 miles from Dawson City in Canada's Yukon and set it up in Jack London Square, a redeveloped waterfront area.

The San Francisco-born, Oakland-raised writer inscribed on its walls "author, miner, January 27, 1898" after he dropped out of the University of California and joined the Alaska gold rush.

Confederate Flag Stirs Controversy

By PHYLLIS AUSTIN
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — The Confederate flag, dear to the hearts of generations of Southerners, is at the center of a split on the University of South Carolina campus.

One campus group, the Association of Afro-American Students, has petitioned the university to ban the waving of the flag and the playing of "Dixie" at athletic events and official university unctions. They say the Stars and Bars is a reminder of slavery and a symbol of white racism.

AWARE, an organization of white students wants the flag removed from all state property and plans to raise the issue in the South Carolina Legislature.

An administration spokesman said the university is studying the request from the Afro-American organization, to which most of the school's 264 Negro students belong. Total enrollment is 11,500. Two Confederate flags have been burned publicly at the university during the past two weeks.

After the first flag burning the night of Feb. 12 in front of the home of the university President Dr. Thomas F. Jones, some white students countered with a flag waving rally at the Confederate memorial on the State House grounds.

A second flag burning two days later at one of the university's libraries stirred up a confrontation between Negroes and whites which left one student slightly injured.

State law enforcement division agents arrested a leader of AWARE in connection with the flag burning at Dr. Jones' residence.

The Afro-American students, in asking the university to ban the Confederate flag, said it is "a tribute to a movement that sought to destroy he United States."

"It's repulsive to black students," said Tom Richardson, a member of the Afro-American association.

However, Robert Salley, president of the university Young Republican Club and a participant in the flag pep rally, said the issue is "not so much the flag as what underlies it."

Salley said white students defended the Confederate flag "because they were tired of some groups which are always breaking campus laws."

Opposes Restriction On Sale of Weapons

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Shooting instructor Hank Sorenson told a Florida Senate subcommittee he was against restricting gun sales to people over 21.

"I'd hate to have a Vietnam veteran have to get a note from his mother," he said.

Americans Forced To Ignore Insults

PARIS (AP) The American tactic at the Vietnam peace talks is to ignore the insults and watch patiently for any sign of a change of attitude on the part of North Vietnam and the National Liberation Front.

President Nixon's team refuses to be discouraged by what appears to be inflexible opposition to U.S. proposals on what to talk about, as if convinced that eventually a solution to the Vietnam war is inevitable.

But the opposition of Hanoi and the NLF suggests that the talks have some time to go before they really become negotiations. When that time comes, it unquestionably will be a landmark on the road to peace, but even then there will be a long way to travel, marked by the toughest of bargaining.

If the talks are to be successful, a formula must be found which both sides can accept, since neither is likely to put itself in the position of appearing to surrender.

At the latest talks session, U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge concentrated on the 1954 Geneva Accords as a route to real negotiation. He contended that "common ground" could be found by reverting to "essential elements" of those accords.

Those "essential elements" concern the demarcation line between North and South Vietnam, the buffer demilitarized zone, the disengagement of forces, the principle of nonintervention by one side in the affairs of the other, and the principle of international supervision.

The 1954 accords, which ended the French war with the Communist-led Viet Minh, would be unlikely to be usable again without some revision. For example, the United States regards the International Control Commission, which was supposed to supervise the execution of the agreement, as unworkable and wholly ineffective. The North Vietnamese and NLF would hardly accept those provisions of the accords which required withdrawal of Viet Minh forces in 1954 to the zone north of the 17th Parallel.

But the United States persists in believing that Geneva provides a general framework. This is an old, rather than a new, American approach, and it illuminates the vast difficulties ahead, the yawning chasm of disbelief between Asian communists and the West.

Ever since the Hanoi-U.S. talks began here in May, the Americans have stressed that they have "limited objectives" in Vietnam, the basic one being the right of the South Vietnamese to choose their own political future.

Hanoi's 1969 answer was an echo of 1966: The American proposals were nothing but an attempt to perpetuate the partition of Vietnam.

In Short, Hanoi chooses again not to believe Washington.

Nevertheless, American concentration on the Geneva Accords indicates a belief that there is hope for progress in this area some day. The Americans seem convinced that the talks have created their own momentum. The fact that the two sides are talking permits external and internal pressures to work on the participants.

The United States may be more susceptible to domestic and world opinion than is Hanoi, which, as a tight and isolated dictatorship, is better able to disregard such matters. But there have been some signs recently that even North Vietnam feels the pressure.

There is a feeling, too, that Hanoi would not have come to Paris, and brought the NLF here as well, if it had any hope of military victory, and that thus it must have come with the idea of eventually reaching some sort of settlement.

Capital Highlights

WASHINGTON (AP) — American forces based in Thailand will come home after the Vietnam war ends unless there is a compelling reason for them to stay, the State Department says.

The department added Friday that U.S. forces "would remain only with the agreement of the two governments." Most of the 45,000 troops in Thailand are involved in air operations against the enemy in South Vietnam and along infiltration routes through Laos.

Other U.S. forces advising Thai troops are "under instructions to avoid any combat situations," press spokesman Carl Bartch said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Decisions made at meetings of members of the American Petroleum Institute led to a secret White House meeting that resulted in President Nixon's order for a high-level review of the nation's oil import quota program, Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., says.

McIntyre said Friday Michael Haider, board chairman of Standard Oil of New Jersey, met with Arthur Burns, the President's counselor, on the matter.

He said the meeting and other circumstances under which Nixon's decision were made "cast serious doubts on President Nixon's ability to administer national oil policy in an impartial manner."

The decision for a review, he said, was the result of oil lobby pressure and would delay the proposed free trade zone at Machiasport, Maine, where inexpensive foreign oil could be brought in for processing.

Ghanaians 'Await Messiah'

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — Three years after the downfall of Kwame Nkrumah, Ghanaians who thought once they were in the forefront of Africa's wind of change believe they live in limbo now.

Ghanaians mourn a diminished role for their country of eight million persons. The head of a government-owned corporation whispered to a visitor: "In the old days we were moving. We might have been moving down, but we were moving."

A Ghanaian executive of a major oil marketing company, referring to the speculation in futures trading of Ghana's vital cocos crop in London and New York exchanges said: "Our fate is shaped by speculators thousands of miles away."

"What these people are waiting for," said a European who has lived for years in Ghana, "is another Messiah."

They had little luck with the first one.

Francis Kofi Kwame Nkrumah ruled Ghana in 1951-66. He was leader of government business under a British colonial regime, then president under his own one-party creation in which no man trusted another. It ended at dawn Feb. 24, 1966 when Col. Emmanual Kotoka announced: "The myth surrounding Kwame Nkrumah has been broken."

The army and police had overthrown the government while Nkrumah was in Peking.

Twelve years ago Nkrumah turned Ghana into black Africa's first new independent state in more than a century. His regime erected schools, built a new town and port, sent the first black African to preside over the U.N. General Assembly. Nkrumah had done what few African leaders had accomplished. He whipped desperate tribal groups into a nationality.

The cost was a $1 billion debt and stifled civil liberty. The National Liberation Council which replaced Nkrumah keeps alive the fright of Nkrumah's return. Dissatisfied as many Ghanaians are, they appear to agree they could never take back Nkrumah who is in exile in Guinea.

To many proud young men, the sin of Nkrumah's romance with the Soviet Union, Communist China and other Eastern bloc lands is matched by the council's dependence on the West. Most help since the coup has come from the United States and West Germany. The United States alone has delivered $26 million of a promised $38 million in food and other commodities such as tallow, for soap.

The council has promised a return to civilian rule by Sept. 30. A constituent assembly is examining a draft constitution—which has angered the young by providing for a president at least 50 years old. Political parties wait underground for a word from the military to reveal themselves.

Politics has polarized around Dr. Kofi Busia, 55, a Nkrumah opponent before his 1959 exile, and Komla Gbedemah, 56, once Nkrumah's right-hand man. Between them are young professionals seeking a "third force" alternative to relics of the Nkrumah age.

Mexico is Tough On Poppy Plants

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP) — Mexico has killed 42 million opium-producing poppy plants in trying to stamp out sources of marijuana and narcotics.

David Franco Rodriguez, deputy attorney general of mexico, said the plants were destroyed in more than 2,000 poppy fields uncovered in five states.

Two-Pronged Problem Faces Nixon on Visit

BERLIN (AP) — When President Nixon visits West Berlin Thursday he faces possible trouble on two fronts: political, in terms of East-West tension, and personal, in terms of disruptive actions the city's radical students say will mar his visit.

Of the two situations, the student threat is far more likely to cloud the scene while the President is actually in the city, a stay expected to be only hours long.

The sharpening political situation, on the other hand, is likely to have a much more far-reaching effect on the policies of the new administration.

This is the political situation:

The surrounding East Germans, Communist-led, have escalated their long-standing protests against West German presence in West Berlin into a program of action that already has barred ground transit to the isolated city to all West German lawmakers, armed forces and various other groups.

The latest in a series of travel bans went into effect Feb. 15. It was aimed directly at the scheduled West German election of a new federal president in West Berlin March 5.

The East Germans have accompanied this with a demand that the United States, along with Britain and France, tell the West Germans they cannot hold the election of a successor to retiring Heinrich Luebke in West Berlin.

The United States remains committed to supporting plans to hold the election here, having said so before the Communists increased their threats of possible "consequences." Three elections have been held in West Berlin since 1954.

The West Germans will expect Nixon when he is here to underline that support, and more especially U.S. support of West Berlin's freedom of access.

For the Nixon administration the situation goes far beyond East German threats and attempts at gaining recognition.

Whatever the East Germans do, and what they have done includes claiming that West Berlin lies on their territory, has the approval of the Soviet Union.

The West German Assembly that will choose between Defense Minister Gerhard Schroeder and Justice Minister Gustav Heinemann does not meet until six days after Nixon leaves West Berlin.

American and West Berlin officials are more immediately concerned with what the city's militant students will do when Nixon is here.

Since their leader, "Red" Rudi Dutschke, was critically wounded by an assassin last Easter, the student movement he had built up has weakened in the face of a serious effort by the city for university reform.

Radicals among the leadership have sought a series of confrontations with the police in an attempt to re-establish the mass base that steadily slipped away from them. Police restraint has prevented this.

Some authorities feel the radicals will seize on the Nixon visit as an occasion to force a violent clash with police.

The radical student leadership and a self-styled New Left extraparliamentary opposition have a hard core of supporters, many of them high school students. One informed source says New Left inroads among this young group is greater than anyone wants to admit.

The helmeted police in their prior clashes with students have used mainly nightsticks, water cannon, horses and, reluctantly, tear gas. Their main concern will be to keep the President a safe distance from any demonstrators when he visits City Hall while at the same time not denying the citizenry a chance to see him.

If the students and the citizenry show up at the same place to greet Nixon at the same time the students may risk a severe beating from rank-and-file Berliners angry at Communist threat to the city's fragile ties with the West.

'Ugly Man' Title Goes To Student

OTTERVILLE — Randy Marcum's efforts on behalf of the Heart Fund have earned him the title of Ugly Man of Otterville High School.

Randy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guss Marcum, collected $74.14 for the Heart Fund. He is a freshman.

Two other candidates, Ronnie Allee and Greg Loney, also collected money and presented skits for the title Friday night.

The total collection of all three, $158.14, was donated to the Heart Fund by the Future Nurses Club, sponsor of the event.

MU Curators Open Meetings To the Press

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Newsmen will be allowed to observe all regular meetings of the Missouri University Board of Curators, the board resolved Friday.

The move came on a resolution introduced by a newspaper publisher, Oliver B. Ferguson of Fredericktown, a member of the board.

Other action by the board included the appointment of Dr. Joseph Blankenship as dean of the Conservatory of Music on the Kansas City campus and the appointment of Dr. Armon Frederick Yanders of Michigan State University as dean of the college of arts and sciences on the Columbia campus. Both appointments are effective July 1.

Astronauts Set to Test 'Len'

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Apollo 9 astronauts take the next big leap toward a moon landing Feb. 28, when they are to rocket into earth orbit for 10 days to test the ugly duckling spacecraft which eventually is to ferry two men to the lunar surface.

The American moon landing ship, called a lunar module or "LEN" for short, is the only major piece of Apollo hardware that has not been flown by man in space. The spindley-legged craft looks like a fat bug with antennae for feelers and portholes for eyes.

Air Force Lt. Cols. James A. McDivvitt and David R. Scott and civilian astronaut Russell L. Schweickart are to ride Apollo 9 into orbit atop a Saturn 5 rocket at 11 a.m. EST.

The LEN will be carried into space by the same rocket. Once in orbit, the astronauts will link up with the ungainly-looking craft and McDivitt and Schweickart will crawl into it through a connecting tunnel.

They'll separate, move up to 110 miles away, and then practice rendezvous and docking maneuvers with Scott in the main Apollo ship. To rehearse an emergency in which passage through the tunnel is impossible, Schweickart plans a two-hour space walk in which he'll transfer from the LEM to Apollo and back to the LEM again.

McDivitt, the mission commander, says it will be a key test of whether "we can fly this whole gigantic mass to the moon and land there."

If Apollo 9 succeeds, only one more preliminary flight is planned before the historic moon landing is attempted.

Apollo 10, set for a May 17 launching, is to orbit the moon with a LEM, and two of the astronauts are to drop within 50,000 feet of the surface before rejoining the mother ship. Commander will be Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford.

That flight will set the stage for Apollo 11 to try the landing in mid-July.

If all goes well, the men who will accomplish this dream of the ages will be civilian astronaut Neil A. Armstrong and Air Force Col. Edwin E. Aldrin. They'll guide their LEM to a touchdown near the moon's equator while Air Force Lt. Col. Michael Collins flies Apollo 11 in lunar orbit, awaiting their return.

Russian officials have said for more than a year that they no longer were in the moon race, that the U.S. was too far ahead.

Very few believed them. But careful evaluation of the Soyuz 4-5 mission in January has convinced most U.S. experts that the major Soviet goal is to develop an operational space station as soon as possible.

By joining two manned vehicles in orbit and transferring two crewmen from one to the other, the Russians demonstrated they soon will have the capability to build an orbiting laboratory. The Soviets termed the flight "the world's first experimental space station."

The station could serve as an observation platform for weathermen, astronomers or geologists searching for earth's hidden riches. Scientists cite the attractions to medical men, biologists and engineers of conducting experiments in a true vacuum and weightlessness.

A station also would fit another long-stated Russian target of gaining military superiority in space.

From an orbiting plattorm, cosmonauts could conduct daily reconnaissance missions over every part of the globe. They could intercept hostile missiles, inspect and possibly disable foreigh spaceships and perhaps carry weapons of mass destruction.

American space officials are concerned because budget problems have curtailed plans to launch both peaceful and military manned space stations.

Dr. Thomas O. Paine, acting NASA administrator, said the administration of President Nixon will have to make a decision soon on future space station development.

Robert Gilruth, director of NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center, foresees the day when the United States will assemble a 100-man station in orbit. It could house scientists, doctors, engineers and military astronauts.

Gilruth believes survey of earth's resources would be one of the major economic benefits of a space station. Using sensitive instruments, the astronaut-geologists could detect hidden mineral and oil deposits, locate good and bad growing areas for farmers and survey the oceans for the best fishing areas.

Although Apollo 8 commander Frank Borman described the moon as a bleak, foreboding place where he wouldn't want to live, there are riches that can be gained from this alien world which has fascinated man from the beginning.

Unmanned probes have answered some questions about the moon, but have raised many new ones. So until man visits there and brings back samples of the surface, there can only be conjecture about its origin.

After America lands its first astronaut team on the moon, additional landing flights will be scheduled at three-to-four-month intervals until spacemen have planted at least three large experiment packages on the surface. These packages contain a vast array of instruments to relay vital information for months after the astronauts return home.

In the mid-1970s, the space agency would like to start establishing an Antartica-type base on the moon. Russia also has hinted at such plans.

On Feb. 13, Nixon's science adviser, Dr. Lee A. Dubridge, announced a new study of the nation's space program "to try to evolve a whole new space program proposal" for the next 10 years.

He said the study will be undertaken by the White House Science Office, the Defense Department and NASA. The three agencies are to have a proposal for the President's consideration by Sept. 1.

Dubridge said the space program should be balanced among further lunar exploration, planetary exploration and projects designed primarily to achieve practical benefits for people on earth.

To determine if life ever existed on the moon, astronauts hope to visit permanently shaded areas near the polar regions. Here micro-organism fossils or microbial forms might have been protected through the centuries from the heat and radiation from the sun, perhaps frozen in ice.

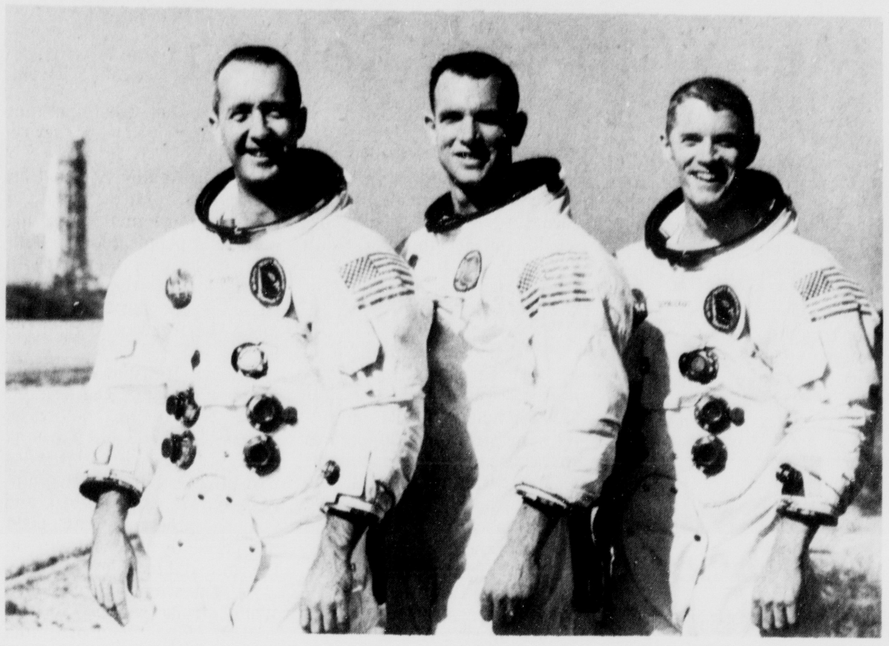

But the real search for extraterrestrial life will be concentrated on the planets, particularly Mars and Venus. When man begins reaching for these faraway places, the moon could become a stopping-off place, a fueling station, with fuel manufactured in lunar refineries.

A major race to the planets could develop between the United States and Russia. The Soviets have conducted a much more vigorous unmanned planetary exploration program and have said they would like to land men on Mars or Venus in the early 1980s

U.S. space agency officials don't believe it's possible for American astronauts to attempt a planetary expedition until the mid-1980s, unless it becomes a crash effort. If a mid-'80s landing is to become a reality, the officials say Nixon must make a commitment soon so that long-range planning and hardware building can begin.

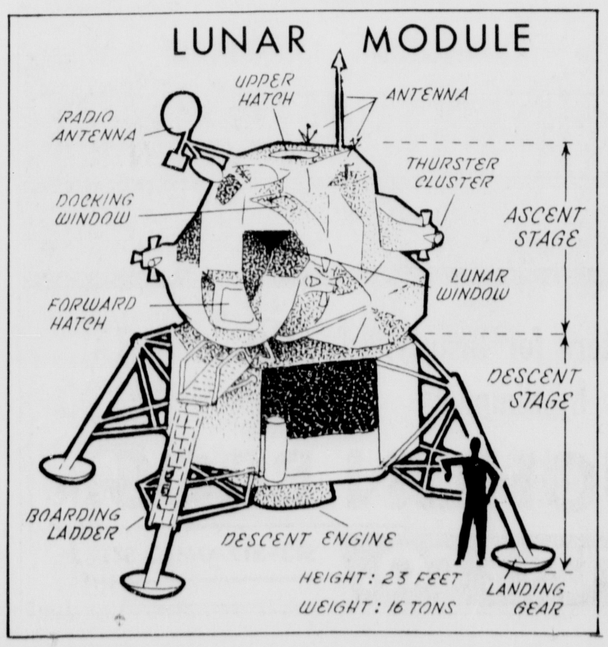

If NASA plans are approved by Congress, two vehicles will orbit Mars in 1971 and two more will land on the red planet in 1973; a Mariner will fly by both Venus and Mercury in 1973, and five other explorers will orbit Venus and Mars during the next decade.

Space scientists would like to climax the program by rocketing a huge nuclear-boosted payload on a ground tour of four planets in the late 1970s. Between 1977 and 1979, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus and Neptune will be lined up in the heavens so that a single spacecraft could pass by all four. Such an alignment will not occur again for 179 years. The payload would take 10 years to reach the farthest, Neptune.

Community Affairs Head Will Resign

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—W. T. (Dunie) Bollinger, who refused to knuckle under to political pressure, said Thursday he was resigning as director of the Department of Community Affairs.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes announced he would name Gene Sally, director of the State Technical Services Office, to replace Bollinger. The effective date of the resignation was not reported.

Bollinger, a former state representative from Van Buren, Mo., said he thought he should let "someone take over who hasn't made the enemies I have."

He has been in hot water much of the time he has been director because he tried to streamline the office, firing some purely political employes and refusing to put on a number more at the demand of politicians.

"You can't do that sort of thing without stepping on some toes," he said.

When he took over the job last year he said he was going to reorganize the new agency and predicted he wouldn't last long with that sort of attitude.

Firm Will Absorb Cost of Redesign

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The state says an engineering firm that designed a bridge that missed its connecting ramps and roadway by 13 feet will absorb all redesigning costs.

Taxpayers won't have to pay a cent, a Highways Department spokesman said Thursday.

Work on the interchange in the $6.9 million section of Interstate 79 in suburban Collier Township was halted when contractors building the bridge discovered it was out of alignment.

The spokesman said the error was made by the Harrisburg Engineering firm of Groff and Myers. He said the consultants have now redesigned the roadway and turned over the plans to the state district engineer in Pittsburgh.

Past PTA Presidents Honored

Past Presidents Meet

Pictured above are ten past presidents of Whittier PTA, who were honored at their Founders Day Program, Feb. 20, at the school. Shown, left to right, and the years they served, are: Mrs. Oliver Thomas, 1967-68; Mrs. Ed Worley, 1965-67; Mrs. Paul Albin, 1964-65; Mrs. Grant Cox, 1962-64; Mrs. Jack Herndon, 1960-62; Mrs. Dorothy Owen, 1956-57; Mrs. George Riley, 1953-54; Mrs. William Morgan, 1951-52; Mrs. A.J. Gregory, 1942-43; and Mrs. Kenneth Corbett, 1931-32. (Democrat-Capital Photo)

The Rev. Marvin Nobles, PTA President, gave special recognition to former Presidents of Whittier PTA at the annual Founders Day observance.

Rev. Nobles gave a brief history of PTA and its founders, Mrs. Alice McLellan Bierney and Mrs. Phoebe Apperson Hearst.

The Founders Day offering was taken by four first grade children wearing birthday hats. They were: Mary Beth McGuire, Vickie Goldsmith, Steve Vinson and Clifford Davis.

Entertainment was provided by the third and fourth grades, directed by music supervisor, Mrs. Donald Donath. Grade three taught by Mrs. Opal Kindred and Mrs. Bernice Ringen, sang "The Flag Song," "Washington and Lincoln" and "America the Beautiful." Grade four taught by Mrs. DeLores Renno and Mrs. Dorothy Ault, sang "Battle Hymn of the Republic" and "It's a Small World."

Room count was taken by principal John Hays and won by Mrs. Opal Kindred, lower grades, and Miss Eileen Kendrick, upper grades.

Devotional was given by Mrs. Allen MacMullin.

Officers elected for 1969-70 were: president, Mrs. Kenneth Davis; 1st vice president, Mrs. Kenneth Mickens; 2nd vice president, Mrs. Allan MacMullin; 3rd vice president, Mrs. Frank Gooch; secretary, Mrs. Hugo Riesel; treasurer, Mrs. Dorothy Ault. The new officers will be installed at the April meeting.

Mr. Wes Raines reported on the progress of the Cub Scout and Boy Scout Troop sponsored by the PTA.

The icebreaker was won by the Rev. Allan MacMullin.

Parent and Family Life Chairman, Mrs. MacMullin, announced that the group's next meeting would be at 1 p.m. March 20 at the school.

The next PTA meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. April 17 with entertainment provided by the Whittier School orchestra under the direction of Mrs. Donald Donath.

Refreshments were served following the meeting by members of the Hospitality Committee, Mrs. James Vinson, Mrs. Gerald Lansing, Mrs. Charles Paxton, and Mrs. Frank Gooch.

Efforts to Obtain Food Met With Stiff Refusal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Robert Coles recalls that two years ago he and five other physicians were told "we were wasting our time" when they sought to convince federal officials something should be done quickly about extreme hunger in the United States.

And when senators sought then to get the Johnson administration to distribute free food in areas of severe malnutrition, they were rebuffed by federal officials who contended they were without authority to do this.

But last week, in just 90 minutes, two senators convinced Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin that he should move against hunger in rural South Carolina by authorizing free food stamps to the poorest of the poor in two counties.

These things happened:

—The Senate, rejecting a 40 per cent cut by its Rules Committee, authorized the full $250,000 budget for the committee's investigation. Support was so overwhelming opponents yielded without a roll call. McGovern said "They were really making a commitment to end hunger in the United States."

—Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., leaped into the vanguard of the fight against hunger with a frank admission that, as governor, he deliberately covered up the problem of hunger and disease. "You don't catch industry with worms—maybe fish, but not industry," he said.

—Hollings' Republican state colleague, Sen. Strom Thurmond, muted his earlier opposition to the hunger probe and said "The main concern should be to find the most effective way to resolve these needs."

—Testimony during three days of hearings clearly established that, in at least two counties of rural South Carolina, hunger and disease are widespread and existing federal efforts are having limited impact.

One witness testified there is evidence that as many as one million persons in the Southeastern United States are afflicted with parasites, including intestinal worms up to 15 inches long.

—Hardin, reversing the policies of Secretary Orville L. Freeman under the Johnson administration, launched what he said is an experiment and what the department termed an unprecedented action in authorizing the first distribution of food stamps without any charge to the recipients. Hopefully, distribution may begin within a week.

"I think it was a real breakthrough," McGovern told a reporter after he and Hollings met with Hardin Wednesday night.

And as the committee concluded the South Carolina phase of its hearings Thursday, the South Dakota Democrat said:

"If we can get the concept established that the poorest people ought to get fed for free, we're well on the way to eliminating malnutrition in the United States."

McGovern said he is pleased at the evidence of changed attitudes in Congress and the executive branch and said "I think the climate is much better than it was two years ago."

But these significant problems remain:

—Lack of funds. Hardin is using a $45-million fund established by Congress last year for child feeding and other food distribution, but this is a relatively small amount. Aid in South Carolina will only go to a small number of desperately poor, not even to many of those whose plight was described to the Senate committee.

—Health. Testimony to the committee indicated that nothing short of a massive education, sanitation and disease-eradication program will improve conditions in such areas since most youngsters who receive one-shot treatment are quickly reinfected when they return home.

—Public Apathy. As Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., put it, "I get a lot more mail expressing outrage at people dying in Biafra than on people starving in Detroit. And they probably passed it (the starvation) going in on the freeway to mail the letter."

—Local Resistance. Hardin made certain state and local officials were willing before he announced the South Carolina pilot program. But witnesses told the committee that administration of various food and welfare programs has been hampered by the attitudes on the state and local levels.

—Congressional resistance. While strong support for increased federal food programs has been evident in the Senate for some time, some key House members have succeeded in balking most efforts. Hardin is well aware that congressional committees hold the key to how much money he gets for any new or expanded food programs.

And despite the path blazed this week by Hollings, there still is a tendency among officeholders to become defensive when conditions in their states are criticized.

Rains Bill On ID Card Introduced

A proposal that the State of Missouri issue one identification card for driver's and chaufferu's license and for other purposes was introduced this week as a bill in the Missouri House of Representatives by Rep. Joe F. Rains (D-Sedalia).

Rains estimated that the state could save thousands of dollars annually by dispensing with issuing so many different identification cards and licenses.

He said that he considered one strong point of his proposal to be the convenience to the individual citizen. He stated that the State Division of Liquor Control had agreed to use the new ID card for purposes of identification of minors. Rains said that in addition, officials of the Department of Revenue, Highway Patrol and welfare authorities endorse the proposal.

The card would be plastic and contain a colored photograph of the holder, date of birth, Social Security number and the expiration date of the individual's driver's or chauffeur's license.

Under Rains' bill, the time of validity of a license to drive would be increased from three to four years and the cost would be $1 a year, or $4 for a four-year renewal.

There has been strong support for this bill among other House members and among citizens there seems to be unusual interest in this proposal, Rains said.

The ancient Olympic Games probably never attracted more than a few hundred competitors.

Not All Play

That dark sphere hurtling through the air is just an ordinary basketball being tossed from man-to-man in a "school in the sky" at Santa Monica, Calif. Playing catch is an important part of the curriculum for these men in a pole-climbing school run by General Telephone Co., of California, a subsidiary of General Telephone & Electronics Corp. By passing the basketball around their "classroom" the novice climbers gain confidence in working at heights. (UPI)

Leftist Leader of Pakistan Will File For the Presidency

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — Leftist leader Zulfikar Ali Bhutto, who danced for joy Friday when President Mohammed Ayub Khan announced he will not seek a third term in 1970, is preparing to bid for the presidency.

The former foreign minister who was released from three months detention last week said he might fly to Dacca, capital of East Pakistan, for weekend talks with other opposition leaders to prepare for elections next January.

Bhutto was reported eager to meet with Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, chief of the rightist Awami League party in East Pakistan, and Maulana Bhashani, head of the pro-Peking wing of the National Awami party.

Bhutto, 41, head of the People's party and a symbol of opposition to Ayub's regime during Pakistan's three months of civil strife, said Ayub's withdrawal was a "victory for the people" and would herald the "restoration of democracy."

Before Ayub's announcement Friday, mobs of youths rampaged through Dacca commemorating the Bengali language riots of 1952. The demonstrators, barefoot in tribute to the 50 people who were killed, roamed the city insisting that everyone else go barefoot too.

Several foreigners, mainly Britons, were hauled from their cars and made to take off their shoes.

One of these was Associated Press correspondent Brian Calvert.

Students armed with iron bars, clubs and rocks smashed windows at the U.S. Consulate and attacked other buildings which had English-language signs. Most foreigners stayed home, while troops guarded city offices, the airport and the high court building.

When news of Ayub's stepdown was broadcast, cheering crowds clustered around radios at street corners and parked cars. Black flags were hoisted in mock mourning for Ayub's regime.

Bhutto told a news conference in Karachi that if His People's party comes to power it will maintain friendly relations with all countries "so long as they do not interfere in our internal affairs."

"We have always been keen on normalizing our relations with India but it is India who does not want to do so," he said. He claimed India was denying self-determination to Kashmir and Jammu, saying "We will not rest until we have achieved this right for the people of Jammu and Kashmir."

Ayub came to power in a bloodless military coup in October 1958, sending President Iskander Mirza into exile. He was re-elected twice, but opponents claim that Ayub and his advisers had lost touch with the people.

His regime helped Pakistan maintain a healthy rate of economic progress, but disparity between top level society and the working mass continued. Three months ago the crisis began when students went on a rampage in Lahore, Karachi and other cities, demanding a better deal from Ayub.

He gave concessions grudgingly but they failed to satisfy the protesters and bloody demonstrations followed.

Ray Bolger Drawn Back to Broadway

NEW YORK (AP)—Ray Bolger, that forever ambling whiz of showbiz, is taking a nonchalant glide into the over-65 bracket by coming back to Broadway.

"That age—it's just funny to me," he observes. "In our business it isn't any particular age at all. It's up to the individual."

There are two parts to his upbeat formula: Staying fit—"Weight-wise, I'm very sharp at 160"—and speaking out. If he talks about the march of time, native New England shrewdness advises, others are less apt to.

"I put it into my nightclub act a few weeks ago at the Waldorf," he grins, "and when the reviews came out, the psychology worked. All were about youthful, limber Ray Bolger."

Right now, his dance-comic-vocal skills are being switched from the "great joy" of solo performance to the "complex challenge" of starring in a large musical.

The show, "Come Summer," due for premier March 11 at the Lunt-Fontanne Theater, has Bolger as a footloose Yankee peddler back in the early 19th century when mechnization was revolutionizing industry.

It wasn't until "On Your Toes" in 1936 that Bolger, already a star, ever took a professional lesson at the ballet bar. His whole career came about from haphazard start and developed with a kind of accidental felicity and casual fitness. He kept meeting people at the right time.

Bolger ended studies at Dorchester, Mass., high school when he was 16—"we didn't have any money, that's all" he says of his widower father and himself—and got a job in the First National Bank of Boston. He also took himself to O'Brien's School of Ballroom Dancing.

"All I could do was the waltz," he reminisces, "and when you can only do one dance at that age it's an early goodnight to your date."

While learning the two-step, Bolger met his first lucky contact, Salvatore Ciccarelli—"He became a successful truck farmer later"—who showed Ray a simple buck-and-wing, then took him to meet Denny Healy, an ex-hoofer turned watchman.

Bolger's next break was running into Denia Rusakoff in the hallway between Rusakoff's ballet school and the ballroom seminary.

"I told him I was an accountant, so he offered to give me lessons if I'd keep his books."

By then the future star was a clerk-at-large in the New England Mutual Life Insurance offices, an association that ended abruptly when a manager decided that an employe who practiced terpsichore during errands hardly fit the firm image.

Bolger knew he'd never be happy in an office, did a weekend vaudeville turn to launch professionally at Taunton, Mass., and by 1921 was hired on as second comic with the Bob Ott Musical Comedy Repertoire company.

En route the eager fledgling picked up some impromptu guidance on how to project his voice—"that was before there were any microphones"—from one of the last survivors of the florid style of emoting.

Bolger got to Broadway in 1925 and hasn't had much time since to loll between stage, films, night clubs and TV assignments. In 1929 he married Gwendolyn Rickard and they've been together ever since.

Perhaps the two biggest events of his professional life were the musical "On Your Toes"—"we created something there with the 'Slaughter on Tenth Avenue' ballet"—and the film "The Wizard of Oz."

"Those annual playbacks on television are a very important factor in my ability to reach young audiences today as well as the middle-aged. It's a kind of immortality to have something that will go on after I'm gone."

Musical Reunion

Ray Bolger is returning to Broadway in a new musical, "Come Summer," due to open in March. Margaret Hamilton, pictured here with him, will also appear in the show. They appeared together in an earlier and memorable production, the movie "The Wizard of Oz," which has now achieved what Bolger calls "a kind of immortality." Bolger was the Straw Man and Margaret Hamilton was the Witch. (AP)

Ray Bolger is again putting his best feet forward in a Broadway musical. Due in March, it is titled "Come Summer." He is seen here rehearsing with Cathryn Damon and David Cryer, who also appear in the show. The director is Agnes de Mille, whose choreography for "Oklahoma!" opened a new era in musical comedy. Bolger has done that himself with "Slaughter on Tenth Avenue," which he created, and his film role in "The Wizard of Oz." (AP)

Lock Put on Door Of Latin Quarter

NEW YORK (AP) — The Latin Quarter night club, famous girl-watching spot shut down since December by a strike of its chorines, has been padlocked for nonpayment of rent.

As a "For Rent" sign went up Thursday on the two-story building on 48th Street near Broadway, Lou Walters, the club's producing-director and manager, said, "I am sure this is the end of the club."

The Latin Quarter has been a favorite place with tourists and conventioneers since it opened during World War II.

The club closed Dec. 27 after its nine chorus girls struck for higher pay. As a result, the management was forced to refund $30,000 to patrons who had made reservations for New Year's Eve.

Jaycee Wives To Coordinate Easter Seals

The Jaycee Wives recently voted to coordinate again this year the 1969 Easter Seal Campaign under the leadership of Mrs. John Swezy. Mrs. Swezy and her committee will handle all the mailing and contacts for the Pettis County area.

The Easter Seals will go into the mail early in March, with two special days planned to add additional funds.

Money obtained from Easter Seals assist the physically handicapped or the crippled reach maximum independence, and to become productive self-supporting citizens.

Something in Common

Bill Passmore, 39, who has been selected Handicapped American of 1968, visits with two young patients at the Tradewinds School For Handicapped Children, Gary, Ind. St. Louis Students Protest

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The issue of lowering the American flag to half staff to mark the death of Malcolm X sparked a Negro protest at one St. Louis area college, but caused no problems at antther.

About 40 negro students at Forest Park Community College occupied three offices in the administration building to dramatize a complaint that one of four security guards drew his gun when students made a move to lower the flag.

Dr. William E. Snead, president of the two-year college, one of three in the St. Louis junior college district, said the group left the premises when he assured them of an investigation into the incident.

He said the students had shown him a program they had marked out for the day and he said he agreed to it, with the exception of lowering the flag. Snead said this would be done only on days of national mourning.

But at Webster college, in the St. Louis suburb of Webster Groves, Dr. Joseph P. Kelly, academic dean, agreed to lower the flag. The request had been made by a representative of 25 negro students, who were members of a program called Veterans' Accelerated Urban Learning for Teaching (VAULT).

Dr. Kelly said he agreed because he felt the request was "a sincere manifestation of the young black veterans of Vietnam who wanted to honor the memory of an American citizen who they believe was a martyr in the cause of Negro civil rights."

Singing Group Prepares New Song Material

The State Fair Community Singers are currently preparing program material for this Spring. Mrs. Donald Barnes announced today that the group will be available to sing for various civic clubs, professional groups, dinners and so on during April and May.

The singers consist of eight girls and eight boys from several communities in the State Fair Community College district. The group is prepared to present programs including up to eight numbers. Anyone interested in having the State Fair Community Singers provide entertainment should contact Mrs. Barnes at 826-4265.

House Torn Down

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An expensive house overlooking the ocean, victim of a crumbling hillside, was demolished Friday as more rain hit coastal areas.

On orders from city officials, workmen pulled down the teetering house, which had caused closing of the Pacific Coast Highway 50 feet below and created traffic jams. Steel cables attached to bulldozers yanked out the house's concrete pillars.

City officials were apprehensive that more rain added to the season's 20 inches so far would result in more slides as cracks in hills widened. More than a dozen homes were destroyed or badly damaged in Highland Park near downtown and splits threatened homes in two other residential areas.

Reward

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Four young boys were tossing oranges at passing cars Friday and finally struck one with splattering success.

The driver of the unmarked police cruiser rewarded the marksmanship with a four-hour stint in the station house.

Living Cost Is Up

MADRID (AP) — The cost of living in Spain has doubled in the past 10 years, the magazine Informaciones Sociales reports. It says a married couple with two children needs $1,466 to get along at the bare minimum in Madrid.

Mummified Mystery

Among the items found in a warehouse full of Army surplus equipment and other odds and ends in Harlingen, Tex., John Rollins found the mummified bodies of three persons: an adult woman who seems to be seven feet tall; a child in her arms, and a second child in a casket. No other information on the remains, which seem to be of African origin, is available.

CAP Groups At a Meeting

A Group 5 commander's call meeting of the Missouri wing of the Civil Air Patrol was held Feb. 16, at the Bothwell Hotel. Members and visitors attending totaled 52. The group includes squadrons from Sedalia, Jefferson City, Kirksville, Linn, Marshall, Rolla and Warrensburg.

Among the topics of discussion were cadet training and aircraft safety, with Capt. V. Dale Lane, Route 2, named safety officer. Lane is manager of Sedalia Memorial Airport.

Highlight of the meeting was a discussion relating to air search conducted last year for a missing plane carrying a Marshall physician. CAP officials and visitors were told that the total valuation of equipment involved in the search came to $1 million, with a manpower expenditure totaling $6,812.50 involved.

Including rental valuation of aircraft hours flown, the total cost, excluding the planes themselves, would have come to $15,812.50, the CAP reported, if private facilities had been utilized.

Four Sedalia cadets took part in a cadet discussion session. They were C-Sgt. Steven Twenter, C-Sgt. Kentis Casto, C-1c Randy Turley, and C-B Marcus R. Casto.

Visitors included Ivan Casto and Leo Twenter.

One-Man Art Show Here

A one-man art show by Douglass Freed, art instructor at State Fair Community College, is on exhibit until March 19, in the student lounge at the college.

The 15 works on display represent the artist's attempts to, in his words, "juxtapose totally different elements within the same composition...to emphasize the mechanical and organic qualities of form."

The paintings, mainly in oils and acrylics, combine these elements — the mechanical and the more amorphic organic elements — in a variety of styles.

Freed received his bachelor of arts and master of arts degrees at Fort Hays State College, Fort Hays, Kan. He has exhibited throughout the Midwest, and his work is represented in several private collections.

At Fort Hays he was selected as the most outstanding art student, and held a graduate assistantship in painting at the college.

The exhibit is open to the public, and may be viewed between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. on weekdays.

Approval Of a Pact Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has wound up hearings on the nuclear nonproliferation treaty with all signs poining to approval of that pet administration project but mounting trouble for another.

Discussion of the treaty to curb the spread of nuclear weapons aas all but forgotten Thursday as critics used committee hearings as a forum to oppose the Sentinel antiballistic missile (ABM) system.

They were unsuccessful, however, in trying to get Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird to guarantee the Sentinel program will not be resumed without an all-out effort to obtain agreement with the Soviet Union that neither side will build such defenses.

Laird, although testifying in favor of the treaty, told the committee "I personally favor going forward with such a system."

In spite of the critics, charges that resumption of the Sentinel program would violate provisions of the treaty, the committee ended its hearings thursday with all indications pointing toward its approval of the pact sometime next week.

The committee already has approved it once, reporting it to the floor last session when it was never brought to a vote.

As did secretary of sate William P. Rogers two days earlier, Laird said he did not believe the treaty's article calling for good-faith negotiations on nuclear disarmament was a bar to missile defense deployment.

During his testimony on the treaty, Laird noted at several points that Congress had approved the Sentinel program under the Johnson administration as a defense against Red China.

Five-Year Sentence To Student

ST. LOUIS (AP) — "There really should be no reason for you to be before me now," U.S. Dist. Judge Roy W. Harper told a Washington University student Thursday, sentencing him to five years in prison for attempting to firebomb a campus ROTC building.

Michael S. Siskind, 20, of Indianapolis, Ind., stood with bowed head as the sentence was pronounced. Siskind had pleaded guilty to a charge of attempting to destroy a national defense premise and material.

He was the first person ever sentenced under a World War II antisabotage law, the Justice Department said.

The youth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Siskind, were in the courtroom, Mrs. Siskind in a wheelchair due to polio.

Harper said Siskind was a member of the Students for a Democratic Society and added, "in my opinion, SDS is committed to destroying our system of government."

Siskind had told Harper earlier in the hearing "I realize now after two months of reflection the seriousness of what I have done. I have changed my attitude."

The attempt on the Reserve Officers Training Corps building came during a period of student unrest.

"In my opinion, some of the faculty in some of our schools are more responsible for the turmoil in this world than you youngsters," Harper said.

But he turned down a defense motion for probation.

The music and drama departments of Smith-Cotton High School presented a joint senior high assembly program Wednesday.

Following introduction by Scott Schumaker, senior high student council president, the Madrigal Singers performed "Bowed Down with Pain and Sorrow," by Van der Muelen; "The Silver Swan," by Gibbons; and "The Little White Hen," by Scandello. The Madrigal is under the direction of Mrs. Geraldine Schrader.

Twelve drama students, under the direction of William Smith, teacher of dramatics, presented a Readers' Theater. Using a favorite February topic, Abraham Lincoln, the following students participated in the reading: Connie May, Maggie Hurt, Steve Cain, Kevin West, Scott Schumaker, and Tom Hutchings, seniors; Marilyn Gibson, Becky Speaker, Diana Wimer, Kathleen Reed, Terry Hamilton, and Mike Feine, juniors.

A reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address by Kevin West, accompanied by the Madrigal singing "Battle Hymn of the Republic," concluded the patriotic program.

Junior High Assembly

A patriotic assembly was presented to the junior high student body of Smith-Cotton Thursday. Boy Scouts Gary Conlee, Jeff Zimmerscheid, and David Stoll, eighth graders, led the pledge to the American flag, which was followed by the national anthem.

An original speech, "Is This a Sick Society?" was delivered by Doug Cline, freshman. An eighth grade double quartet, accompanied by Beth Belt and under the direction of Mrs. Mary Lou Waldrep, presented a medley of patriotic songs. Shelly Walker, freshman, gave a reading entitled "The Making of a Town."

Ninth grade president, John Mahoney, and Mike Arnold, president of the eighth grade class, presented a large American flag to the school to be used in the S-C cafeteria.

Sherry Boggess, freshman, explained the story behind the song, "God Bless America," written by Irving Berlin. Giana Snyder, freshman, then sang the sond, accompanied by Beth Belt.

Sally Lockett, president of the junior high student council, presided over the February assembly.

Mrs. Mary Lou Waldrep is director of the eighth grade quartets. Mrs. Ethel Lyon and Mrs. Betty Hausam were in charge of the assembly.

Guard Is Locked Up

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Two girls in microskirts and see-through blouses walked into Pachuca Jail 60 miles north of here, and while his guard was goggling, Jose Romero walked out. Police said the girls probably were accomplices of Romero, a robbery-assault suspect. The guard was put in Romero's cell, charged with letting a prisoner escape.

Ban on Dancing Ends

DUBLIN (AP) — A traditional Roman Catholic bishops' ban on dancing during Lent in Ireland has practically disappeared this year. For the first time in memory, the bishops made no mention of the subject in their pastoral letters. Irish dance halls plan to shutter only during Holy Week.

The Johnson Sweep

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — File 1011 in the Minnesota House of Representatives could be known as the "Johnson bill."

The bill introduced Thursday would create a John A. Johnson Memorial Highway from St. Paul to St. Peter, Minn., in honor of a governor of Minnesota who died in 1909.

Smith-Cotton Notes

The Smith-Cotton High School Latin Club and Junior Classical League met Wednesday evening in the Smith-Cotton auditorium.

Accompanied by Connie Cordes, Libbie Cain began the program with a vocal solo, "The Lord's Prayer." Next, Katy Reyburn told the story of Cadmus, from Greek mythology, after which Beth Belt entertained the group with a piano solo, "Arabesque."

The concluding item of the program was a dramatic sketch, "Electra Receives the Urn." Participants in this skit were Becky Speaker, Mike Fiene, and Anita Barrick, while Diane Schilb served as narrator.

Area Farmers To Be Honored By Lions Club

The Sedalia Lions Club will honor farmers in the area at their noon meeting on Feb. 26. At that time each member of the Lions Club will have as his guest at least one farmer from this area.

The main speaker for the meeting will be Rick Current, director of consumer services for the Kansas City Royals baseball club. Mr. Current came to the Royals from the St. Louis Cardinals baseball club where he had served as director of group sales for the past three years. He is a 33 year old native of Wichita, Kan., is married, and has three children, and assumed his duties with the Royals Nov. 1, 1968. He is responsible for the direction of group sales, all ticket operations, and the operation of the Royals' speakers bureau.

Current commenting on working for the Kansas City Royals, said: "I'm completely convinced that...everyone connected with the Royals is making every effort to build the best organization in baseball, and I'm happy to be a part of it."

Kenneth E. Hayes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Hayes, Rota, Spain, former Sedalians, has been graduated from Navy boat training at Great Lakes, Ill. Hayes will report to Memphis, Tenn., for six weeks of Aviation Fleet Preparatory School. Kenneth attended Smith-Cotton High School.

States popular for ice fishing include Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New York, Wisconsin and Vermont.

Lucky You—Tax Refund Due!

Working on your Federal income tax?

Then look ahead to Line 25. It gives you a choice welcomed annually by millions of taxpayers.

Line 25 of Form 1040 (or line 11 on the 1040A) asks you to check whether you want a cash refund, or U.S. Savings Bonds to make the same cash last longer and go farther.

It's the easiest thrift decision you'll ever make.

It's the way to hang onto your refund until a time when you'll need it more . . . and make it grow meanwhile at a guaranteed rate of 4.25% when held to maturity. There is nothing safer or surer—and even if your Bonds are lost or stolen they'll be replaced for you.

Leave your tax refund in Uncle Sam's pocket this year, with his promise to pay you a little over four dollars for every three later on. It takes money to build a better America. That's why so many of us file Form 1040 . . . and take refunds in Savings Bonds.

Attempt to Turn Words Into Meaningful Action

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — top leaders of the Southern Baptist Convention are trying to turn words about social involvement and race relations into action—without hopelessly splitting the denomination's 11 million members.

"Some Baptists fear that increased emphasis on social action would dilute the denomination's emphasis on evangelism," said Leonard Hill, Baptist Program managing editor, in an address to the Communications Conference here. "This is not the case. The channel of evangelism is, in its truest sense, being deepened in order that ships of mercy carrying cargoes of spiritual ministries can move quickly to meet the needs of people."

The fears to which Hill referred were expressed before a meeting of the 59-member Southern Baptist executive committee by the Rev. Sam Granade of Evergreen, Ala. He called on Baptist leaders to "lead us away from social and political involvements which deteriorate our strength, and vigorously lead us to a recommitment of proclaiming the gospel to all men through evangelism."

Still, the top leaders of the denomination are going ahead with plans to lead the Baptists not away, but into, "social and political involvements." But in several meetings of various Southern Baptist bodies, leaders time and again expressed the fear of division.

The comments came as convention leaders discussed, during the various meetings, progress made by Baptists in the often touchy area of race relations and what was termed "the urban crisis."

A statement on "The Crisis in Our Nation," adopted by the convention at its annual meeting in Dallas last June, declared, among other things, commitment to obtain equal and human legal rights for all people, refusal to be a part of racism and acceptance of every Christian, regardless of race, as a brother welcome in church fellowship.

At meetings of the Home Missions Board and Communications Conference, state and national leaders itemized ways the statement might be activated. The list ranged from trying to obtain jobs for poor Negroes in Louisville to trying to hold racially integrated teas for white and Negro Baptist women in Alabama.

But much of the discussion, a spokesman reported, "was devoted to discussing Southern Baptist attitudes that must be changed before actions can be meaningful."

"The sort of action and social change we are talking about is slow in coming," observed Foy Valentine, executive secretary of the convention's Christian Life Commission here. "We can't pull off any miracles in three months or three years."

Church to Benefit From Lost Money

BOSTON (AP) — An unidentified man walked into St. Ann's church a year ago and handed over money he said he had found. The cash was held by police for one year. Then, since no one claimed it, it was given to the church. The Rev. Edward D. Whitley says the $9,570 will be used for repairs and other parish expenses.

Mrs. Marshall Sneed Hitt

Memphis Wedding Vows Join Scott--M. Hitt

MEMPHIS, TENN. — Chelsea Avenue Methodist Church was the scene of the afternoon wedding Feb. 9 of Miss Alice Ann Scott and Mr. Marshall Sneed Hitt. The Rev. James Bagby, pastor, officiated. The bride is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. George W. Scott, Houstonia, Mo., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louie Hitt, Piggott, Ark.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore an empire gown of Chantilly lace and candlelight satin, which she designed and created. The lace bodice and long pointed sleeves were accented with pearls. A floor length train of scalloped Chantilly lace fell from the shoulders and her veil of illusion was anchored by a white bow and ostrich feathers. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses surrounded by white carnations and white ribbon streamers.

For something old, on her little finger the bride wore a baby ring that belonged to her paternal grandmother. Something new was a 1969 penny in her shoe. Something borrowed was a pendant cross with a diamond center and the something blue was a blue garter.

Organist, Mrs. Louise Hendren, played "God of Our Fathers," and "Wedding March" and accompanied Mrs. Don Armstrong who sang "The Wedding Prayer."

Bridesmaids were Miss Judy Hitt, sister of the groom, and Miss Elizabeth Scott, sister of the bride. They were identically attired in floor length empire gowns of buttercup yellow with simulated lace aprons. Headdresses of yellow cabbage roses held their shoulder length veils and each girl carried a single long-stemmed sweetheart rose.

The groom chose Truman Brown as best man. Ushers were James and Don Scott, brothers of the bride.

Mrs. Scott selected a coral double knit dress in princess cut with inverted pleats, and bone accessories, for her daughter's wedding. Mother of the groom, Mrs. Hitt, was attired in a blue-green double knit suit with black accessories.

The bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Lloyd Chaplin wore a dress of navy blue linen, pearl necklace and black accessories. Corsages worn by the mothers and grandmother were of white carnations.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the church fellowship room. Miss Linda Chaplin, cousin of the bride, attended the guest book.

A yellow cloth with lace banding covereed the serving table. The three-tiered cake was iced with white and yellow roses and topped with white sugar bells. White flower petal candelabra with yellow tapers flanked the cake.

Serving were Mrs. Truman Brown, Mrs. Jan Boggs and Miss Mildred Shankle.

Yellow net bags filled with rice were distributed from a straw basket by Miss Kim Chaplin, cousin of the bride.

Miss Linda Chaplin caught the bridal bouquet.

The bride designed and made her traveling ensemble of apricot wool. With it she wore white accessories and the yellow rosebud corsage lifted from the bridal bouquet.

The couple will live in Memphis, where both are employed.

Out of town guests included Mr. James Scott, Point Lookout, Mo.; the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd J. Chaplin, Cedar Creek, Mo.; and Mrs. Frank Chaplin, Linda, Kimberly Ann and Ricky, Springfield, Mo.; and Mr. and Mrs. Truman Brown, Warsaw, Mo.

Antons Are Wed 50 Years

A family dinner was held Feb. 15 at Flat Creek Inn in celebration of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Anton, 700 East Broadway.

The table was decorated with a bouquet of golden mums and pompons, a bride and groom centerpiece and a two tier gold and white anniversary cake.

Raymond E. Anton and Mary Eulalia O'Malley were married Feb. 15, 1919, at the Cathedral Church, Des Moines, Iowa and moved to Sedalia in 1922. They are the parents of three children, Mrs. William (Frances) Osborne, Houston, Tex.; Arthur D. Anton, Columbia; and Mrs. Ronald F. (Eulalia) Maly.

Guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. William Osborne and son, Tommy, Houston, Tex.; Dr. and Mrs. Ronald F. Maly, Joey, Raymond and Jennifer, Norman, Okla.; Mrs. Fred Anton, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Henry Heldberg, Mr. and Mrs. Francis O'Malley, all of Shawnee Mission, Kan.; Mrs. James Treloar, Storm Lake, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Anton and children, Beth, David and Philip of Columbia; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Anton, and Mr. and Mrs. Archie Allen and daughters, Cindy and Donna, Kansas City.

Those who could not attend, but sending gifts were: Mrs. George Osborne, Gillespie, Ill.; Mrs. Joseph Maly, Crafton, Neb.; Mrs. Marlen Burback, Hartington, Neb.; Mr. and Mrs. Reese Tillery, Houston, Tex.; William Osborne and Miss Melody Osborne, Houston, Tex.; Mr. Thomas O'Malley, Dr. and Mrs. J. F. O'Malley, and Mrs. Earl Shackleford, Kansas City; and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Todd, Sedalia.

Honor Society Initiates 24 New Members

WARRENSBURG — Alpha Lambda Delta, national honor society for freshmen women at Central Missouri State College this month initiated 24 women into the society.

Student membership is limited to freshmen women who have registered for a minimum of ten hours credit and have earned a cumulative grade average of 3.5 on a 4.0 scale.

Alpha Lambda Delta promotes intelligent living, high standards of learning and encourages superior scholastic attainment.

Among those accepted into the society are Linda Dittman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Dittman, 905 South Beacon St., and Charlotte Hopkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hopkins, Route 1.

Also accepted were Glenda Briggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Briggs, Deepwater; Nancy Byrum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Byrum, Warsaw; and Joan Snider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Snider, Boonville.

Active membership terminates at the end of the sophomore year when women become collegiate alumni.

Rebehak Lodge Plans Supper

GREEN RIDGE — Rebekah Lodge met in regular session Feb. 17 at the lodge hall with Mrs. John Bronson, Noble Grand, presiding.

Members will have a pancake supper for their families and the members and families of the Green Ridge Odd Fellows. Mrs. Loy Smith and Mrs. Lloyd Brown were appointed to plan entertainment for the gathering.

A tentative May date was set for the Green Ridge Lodge Hospitality Night. All the lodges in the District are invited. Mrs. J.M. Palmer will present a program of color slides on her trip to Turkey last fall when she and her husband visited their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Palmer.

January Vows Unite Edwards--J. F. Cary

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry F. Cary

HOUSTONIA — In an evening candlelight ceremony Jan. 31 at the First Baptist Church, Miss Lyndall Ruth Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Edwards, was united in marriage to Jerry F. Cary, whose father officiated at the double ring ceremony. The groom is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. James Cary.

Baskets of red carnations, white mums, palms and candles decorated the church.

Mrs. Clyde Waters, Sedalia, played traditional wedding selections and provided accompaniment for Mrs. Robert Lawson as she sang, "With This Ring, I Thee Wed." Mrs. Walters also accompanied Mrs. Lawson and the Rev. Roy E. Dameron, Sedalia, as they sang "We'll Walk With God." Following the benediction, Rev. Dameron sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Edwards, escorted down the aisle by her father, was attired in a floor length bouffant gown of Chantilly lace, with detachable watteau train. The fitted bodice featured a scalloped neckline accented with sequins and pearls. The fingertip veil of bridal illusion was secured bv a white grosgrain ribbon headband. She carried a bouquet of red carnations and white carnations.

Maid of Honor, Miss Kathy Alexander, wore a floor length red velvet gown. The empire waist was accented with white velvet ribbon. Red net illusion outline her headpiece of red velvet ribbon. Miss Pam Faulconer, Knob Noster, wore a floor length gown with white satin bodice and red velvet skirt. Her headpiece was identical to that of the maid of honor. The attendants carried colonial bouquets of variegated carnations in the bridal colors.

Miss Anita Williams, Hughesville, was flower girl. She was attired in a floor length gown of red velvet accented with a white velvet sash at the waist. She dropped carnations petals from a white lace basket.

Master Randy Thomas, Independence, nephew of the groom, carried the rings on a white, satin and lace pillow.

The groom chose his brother, James R. Cary, Independence, as best man, and another brother, John T. Cary, Lee's Summit, as groomsman. Seating the guests were Mark Edwards, brother of the bride, and Douglas Roberts, Jameson, Mo., brother-in-law of the groom.

Harold A. Williams, II, and David Williams, Hughesville lighted the candles.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Edwards selected a two-piece navy blue crepe dress accented by white gloves and scarf.

Mrs. Cary, mother of the groom, was attired in a black bonded knit suit with black accessories.

A reception in the church dining hall followed the ceremony.

Mrs. Robert Harlan, Sedalia, made and served the 4-tier wedding cake. Assisting Mrs. Harlan were Miss Linda O'Dell, Marshall, and Miss Betty Norfleet, Clinton.

Serving punch and coffee were Mrs. Ernie Smith, Mrs. Harold Williams, and Misses Debbie Johnson and Shirley Smith.

Presiding at the guest book was Miss Jacquelin Williams, and receiving at the gift table were Miss Shirley Smith and Miss Debbie Johnson.

For traveling the bride selected a navy dress with white trim. Her corsage of red carnations was lifted from the bridal bouquet.

The couple is at home in Independence, Mo.

The new Mrs. Cary is a graduate of Northwest High School, Hughesville, and the Sedalia School of Hairdressing.

The groom is a graduate of Gilman City High School, Gilman City, Mo., and attended Southwest Baptist College, Bolivar, before entering the U.S. Army. He served 18 months of his two year tour of duty in Germany. He is presently employed at Armco Steel Co., Kansas City.

On Jan. 3 Mrs. Harold Williams and Mrs. Robert Lawson were hostesses to a mixed shower for the engaged couple in Mrs. Mrs. Williams' home.

Mrs. Ernie Smith and Mrs. Lewis Rhodus were hostesses at a shower Jan. 14 honoring Miss Edwards at the First Baptist Church.

The bride-to-be was feted with a shower by Mrs. Dan Jipson on Jan. 17 at the home of Mrs. Jipson.

Miss Killion Plans Recital

Miss Mary Killion, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Killion, Hughesville, will present an organ recital at 4 p.m. Sunday, March 2, in the sanctuary of the Linn Memorial Methodist Church, Fayette.

Miss Killion is a senior at Central Methodist College majoring in music.

The program will include numbers by DuMage, Bach, Hindemith and Sowerby.

The recital is presented as part of the requirements for a Bachelor of Music Education degree.

Menu Suggestions For Lenten Season Dishes

CRABMEAT CUSTARD PIE

By GAYNOR MADDOX

The combined protein in 3 eggs, 1 cup of Swiss cheese and 2 cups of milk added to 1 can of crabmeat produces a hefty meatless dish for any family.

That's why this Crabmeat Custard Pie is perfect for those who follow meatless days during Lent, or for those who simply enjoy seafood dishes.

CRABMEAT CUSTARD PIE

- 1 can (7½ oz.) crabmeat
- 9-inch unbaked pie shell with high-fluted edge
- 3 eggs, beaten slightly
- 1 tablespoon chopped chives
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup (¼ lb.) shredded Swiss cheese
- 2 cups milk, scalded

Drain and flake crabmeat, removing any remaining cartilage. Spread crabmeat evenly over bottom of pie shell. Combine eggs, chives and salt. Stir cheese into scalded milk; mix well and pour slowly into beaten eggs, stirring constantly. Pour into pie shell. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) about 30 to 35 minutes or until knife inserted in center of custard comes out clean. Let stand 10 minutes before cutting into wedges. Six servings.

NEW POTATO SALAD WITH ANCHOVY-EGG DRESSING

- 1 quart diced, cooked new potatoes
- 2 tablespoons salad oil
- 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon salt
- one-third cup diced fresh onions
- 1½ cups diced fresh celery
- ¼ cup sliced ripe olives
- 2 hard-cooked egg whites, diced
- one-third cup Anchovy-Egg Dressing
- 2 tablespoons mayonnaise
- Romaine lettuce
- Ripe olives

Combine potatoes, salad oil, lemon juice, salt and onions. Cover and marinate in refrigerator at least one hour. Ju st before serving, add celery, olives, hard-cooked egg whites, Anchovy-Egg Dressing and mayonnaise. Mix lightly. Serve on salad greens. Garnish with ripe olives. Eight to 10 servings.

ANCHOVY-EGG DRESSING

- 1 teaspoon powdered mustard
- 2 teaspoons water
- 2 hard-cooked egg yolks
- ½ teaspoon ground black pepper
- ⅛ teaspoon minced fresh garlic
- 2 tablespoons anchovy paste
- 1 egg white, unbeaten
- ¼ cup salad oil
- 1 tablespoon wine vinegar

Mix mustard with water and let stand 10 minutes. Mash egg yolks in small mixing bowl. Add pepper, garlic, anchovy paste and egg white. Beat until sauce thickens. Gradually beat in oil and vinegar. Mix with potato salad. Store remaining dressing in refrigerator. Makes two-thirds cup.

Family Member Is Reunion Honoree

A family reunion was held Feb. 16 in honor of Nellie Stotts, on her 69th birthday.

Also attending were Mrs. Mildred Hazelbacker, Dennis, Vicki, Becky, and Carla; Mrs. Helen Lamb, Cindy, Jenny, Larry, Sue, and Lori Anna; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Phillips; Miss Christina Hamel; Louise Deitzman, Terry, Lammie and Tricia; Mr. Jake Meyer; Miss Charlene Dirck; Lawrence and Lyonel Meyer; Mr. and Mrs. Lex Sigman; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hayworth, Douglas, Michael and Lisa.

Optimist Wives At Luncheon

A luncheon was held Feb. 15 for the 'Opti' Mrs. at Flat Creek Inn. There were 82 wives present, representing the entire state of Missouri.

The theme was based on Valentine, with the centerpiece and floral arrangements in red and white.

Mistress of ceremonies, Mrs. Bill Watson, introduced singer, Mrs. Helyn Johnson and her accompanist, Rosalie De Lozier, who entertained the gathering.

The Mall Beauty Salon presented the program. Operators Diane Smith and Don Schabram used displays of wigs and wiglets and models to demonstrate how and when to wear hairpieces and why every woman needs them in her wardrobe.

Wives of state officials present were Mrs. Hal Coleman, Mrs. Bill Kasmann, Mrs. Jack Creasy, Mrs. Bill Bailey, Mrs. Ralph Glasscock and Mrs. Red Osbourn.

Sedalia wives who helped in the preparations were Mrs. Carolyn Hendrickson, Mrs. Donna Raines, Mrs. Edna Lawson, Mrs. Lla Arbogast, Mrs. Helen Settles, Mrs. Grace Hesterlee, Mrs. Billy Cromley, Mrs. Joan Cook, Mrs. Ab Ball, Mrs. Bill McCune and Mrs. Evelyn Watson.

Sorority Has Valentine Tea

Alpha Eta Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, held a Valentine Tea, Feb. 15, at the home of Mrs. Nancy Hayden. Guests were greeted by Mrs. Donna Bohm and Mrs. Susan Phillips.

A welcome and introduction was given by Mrs. Hayden and Mrs. Ginger Kayes gave a brief outline of the sorority's functions and history. Mrs. Donna Bohm spoke on the philanthropic projects of the sorority and Mrs. Kathy Hammons told of the money making projects.

Mrs. Eleanor Speaker was the guest speaker. She gave an illustrated report of fine art and the Sedalia Council on the Arts which is sponsoring the Missouri Vanguard Theater group. This group will be performing here in March. Mrs. Speaker also discussed the importance of art in family living and ways of interpreting the different arts.

Guests attending included Mrs. Beverly Westbrook, Miss Kathy Greer, Mrs. Norman Porter, Mrs. Dee Blane, Mrs. Carol Lower, Mrs. Linda Martin, and Mrs. Dianne Ferguson.

Shower Honors Miss Muntzel

BUNCETON — Mrs. George Gander and Mrs. Paul Lenger were hostesses at a surprise bridal shower Feb. 17 in honor of Miss Joyce Muntzel.

A blue and white color scheme was used in the decorations. Streamers and wedding bells decked the gift table which held a large wedding bell centerpiece.

Game prizes were awarded to Mrs. Louis Muntzel, Mrs. Bob Baker, Mrs. Vohn Young, Mrs. Harold Ries and Mrs. H.V. Niederwimmer.

The feted bride-to-be will be married March 8 to Steve Saltzman of Versailles.

Miss Hobdy Is Pledge

DENTON, TEX. — F. Ann Hobdy, Sedalia, is among 81 spring semester rush pledges to the nine social sororities at North Texas State University. Rush is that period of time when formal activities are held to encourage students to pledge.

Miss Hobdy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Hobdy, 1206 S. Stewart, is pledging Chi Omega. She is a sophomore secondary education major.

To Hold Open House

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Sullivan, 523 West Sixth St., will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house at Sacred Heart cafeteria, from 2 to 4 p.m. March 4.

The couple requests no gifts.

When you want to bake pork sausage links, place them on a rack in a shallow pan in a 400-degree oven until they're well browned — usually about half an hour. This is a convenient way to prepare the sausage links when you are serving a bigger-than-usual group at brunchtime.

Quotable Women

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"Faces are red. Consumers are blue. Four days for me. Four years for you."—Willie Mae Rogers, in a Valentine to President Nixon after giving up her job as his consultant on consumer affairs.

"I wish they could transplant vocal chords like they do hearts and other things. But they're like rubber. When they're pulled out, it is kaput."—Christa Ludwig, Metropolitan Opera mezzo-soprano.

"I try to create in students a critical view of society."—Marlene Dixon, assistant professor of sociology whose dismissal set off a student sit-in at the University of Chicago.

"He wanted the boys and me to know how very much he had prayed for Frank during Apollo 8. I was awestruck. I was speechless."—Mrs. Frank Borman, wife of the U.S. astronaut, after an audience with Pope Paul VI.

"If they won't let me survive as a teacher, I wish they'd take me out and shoot me like a horse."—Betty Blodgett, 41-year-old gym teacher fired from a Larkspur, Calif., high school for being overweight.

"Nudity invades the rights of a human being. My body belongs to me—that's my private life, my personal territory."—Actress Monica Evans on why she refused to appear nude in a Broadway play.

Stirring Up a Storm

Central Missourians are familiar with those faint rumblings out of the southwest that presage arrival of an intense thunderstorm.

A similarity to this are the rumblings heard almost every day from people who are expressing protests of what seems endless tax increases proposed in Washington and Jefferson City. Will there ever be a breaking point?

Quite disturbing to the middle and fixed income families are reports that millionaires go untaxed; that Washington lawmakers without a direct vote raise their salaries $12,500 a year, their pensions $10,000, their tax deductions for living expenses $3,000, their purchases of stationery or what not to $3,000; free mailing privileges, free telephone and telegraph service; $3,000 a year for office expenses outside of Washington; free hair cuts for senators and cut rate haircuts (75 cents) for representatives; and other benefits not spelled out in detail.

To the credit of our Congressman William J. Randall, who in the past has opposed salary increases for members of Congress, he tried to force a roll call vote on this issue without success. He was certainly correct in stating that "by doing nothing against these pay increases Congress loses its sword and comes crippled into the arena to fight inflation."

How can peg-legged Congressmen fight inflation under such conditions? Keep the 10 per cent surtax on income; raise other taxes on the middle groups, but let the millionaries and Congressmen alone!

It's like creeping paralysis that started when a Britisher named John Maynard Keynes came out with queer economics in 1936, prescribing something called "deficit financing." This called for spending more than is collected in taxes and charging the difference to posterity. Politicans with great glee accepted this foolishness to gain votes, although a dozen or more of the world's top economists had documented its inherent idiocy. Still no administration in 30 years has had the knowledge and courage to toss the prescription into the Potomac river.

Now President Nixon has committed his administration to coming up with a tax reform program. He says the time is ripe for tax reform and he wants the Treasury department to "think in completely new terms" about it. He describes the current tax system as having grown up like Topsy out of necessity. We question his use of the term necessity. Better would be the words carelessness or indifference to the country's economic soundness.

The day Congress increased members' salaries to $42,500 yearly, plus fringe benefits, President Nixon, probably with tongue in check, remarked on the subject of tax reform: "Congress is now receptive to change."

And why not? Who wouldn't be at that juncture?

The growing inequities in our tax systems are making the taxpayers more than a little distrubed. If grass roots rumblings increase anymore than we have heard lately they will surely portend the approach of a real big storm — a taxpayers' revolt.

"We Have to Cut the Fat Out of Spending!"

Lent

Lent is the time to revalue ourselves.
A time to look ourselves o'er.
To add up the good and the bad the past year
And see how our lives might score.
Lent is a time to start once again
Our better habits to form.
It is a time to rekindle the fire
For friendships kind and warm;
Lent is a time to count blessings we have.
A time when we should repent.
A time to change, if we're lacking a bit.
A time of preparation is Lent.
Lent is a time to stop and to think.
When others we should forgive.
Lent is a time when we should strive
To live as He taught us to live.
As spring approaches in the season of Lent
We watch all of life renew
And it is a time when all of us
Should do the same thing, too,
Leading the way to the cross is Lent.
A time for our own reflection.
Are we worthy of the promise He made
Through His death and His resurrection.

WASHINGTON — Modern art is no longer welcome in the White House; the "spirit of '76" is now adorning its walls. The inhabitants of the press lounge suddenly became aware of rugged seascapes, restful landscapes and other traditional paintings. Gone are the rotating colorful abstractions of another era, so regularly changed by the National Collection of Fine Arts. This Collection is responsible for the decoration of White House offices and is meagerly supported by the government. The new edict is quite a blow to young artists.

President Nixon was asked by a woman reporter at his recent press conference if women were becoming a "lost sex" in the administration. The President said he was not aware of it and he would "see that we correct that imbalance promptly."

So far three women have been appointed to top policy jobs: Patricia Hitt, of California, long time friend of the Nixons, as Assistant Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare; Elizabeth Koontz of Salisbury, N.C., a Democrat and former president of the National Education Association, as Director of the Women's Bureau, Department of Labor of U.S. representative to the U.N. Commission on the Status of Women; and Rita Hauser, formerly co-chairman of New Yorkers for Nixon, as U.S. representative to the U.N. Human Rights Commission.

Gerry Van der Heuvel, Mrs. Nixon's press secretary, and Liz Carpenter, Mrs. Johnson's press secretary, recommend that the government stop penny-pinching the First Lady and give her a military plane for her government traveling. The First Lady could easily be hijacked on a commercial plane, they agreed.

Actors and actresses have been lobbying on Capitol Hill for a Department of Peace. A few congressmen have responded, but the general opinion is that there are already agencies working toward that end in the established departments and it would be a duplication.

Two prominent Republican women want to see their names on the brand new bills coming out of the money printing office. Both Mary Brooks and Dorothy Elston want to be Treasurer of the United States, an office which was first given to a woman by President Truman when he appointed Kansas City banker Georgia Neese Clark. She was followed by an Eisenhower appointee, Ivy Baker Priest. Two lady Treasurers, Elizabeth Rudel Smith and Katherine Granahan, were appointed by President Kennedy.

The job is a political payoff at a salary of $39,000 under the present pay raise but the administrative duties have been performed by William Howell, Deputy Treasurer, for the last ten years.

President Nixon's personal piano has been shipped to Key Biscayne where he can tickle the ivories at will, with or without an audience. The trucks have already moved the family china, flat silver, kitchen equipment and special personal possessions such as Mrs. Nixon's Doughty birds. These rare porcelains, a pair of flycatchers, were a gift to their mother from her daughters.

Secretary George Romney of the Department of Housing and Urban Development enjoys the fact that another George Romney has some popular portraits hanging in the National Gallery.

The Opera Society has joined the diplomatic circle and is enjoying the hospitality of the embassies for their lectures on the three performances held during ths year. Sometimes the ambassadors of their wives are present during the coffee period to greet the ticket holders. Lectures have been held at the Turkish, Kuwait and Mexican embassies.

Ponder Effectiveness of Nixon Trip

—Stock Exchange Cleanup—

On Feb. 2, Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson published a detailed story regarding the foul-up of the New York Stock Exchange due to increased paperwork, and the fact that few brokers could meet their commitments if called upon to do so.

Later that week, the New York Stock Exchange announced it had retained the Rand Corp. and Rockwell-American to study the logjam of paperwork and bring the stock market up to date.

DREW PERASON AND JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — For some time, members of the diplomatic corps have been debating backstage whether President Nixon's unprecedent trip to Europe, only one month after assuming office, will really accomplish anything. They note that he will be only half a day in Brussels, the capital of NATO, one day in Bonn, overnight only in Rome, a little longer in London and Paris.

They wonder how, in view of the time necessary to sleep eat and go through a minimum of official protocol, anything worthwhile can be decided, or important talks even begin in such a whirlwind visit.

They also recall that Nixon, as a private VIP, has conferred with most of the European leaders before.

However, the general conclusion is that the trip can be worthwhile. American interest in western Europe will be revived. The new president can sketch broad outlines of his ideas. Any sticky details will be left for subordinates to work out.

There is, however, one big danger in the President's trip. He could make the same mistake John F. Kennedy made, by heating up the cold war at a time when he very much needs Soviet support to help end the war in Vietnam, settle problems in the dangerous Near East, and head off the missile and ABM race.

In fact, Nixon may even need a certain amount of Soviet cooperation in Latin America where the Peruvian military have rushed to resume Russian diplomatic relations, signed a Soviet trade pact and are trying to inflame the entire South American continent against the United States.

Russian policy is a global policy. If Moscow is following a cooperative line with the United States, it extends from North Vietnam to Cuba and Latin America. If it is not cooperative, there can be obstruction all the way from Cuba to the West Berlin autobahn.

—Dangerous Diplomacy—

President Kennedy found this out when he spurned the very warm message which Nikita Khrushchev sent him on inauguration day, and declined to see Khrushchev even though the then Soviet chairman offered to come to New York. Later, after Kennedy got into hot water with the Cuban Bay of Pigs fiasco, he himself initiated a meeting with Khrushchev in Vienna, where the Russian leader was cold. The meeting was a failure, and USA-USSR relations skidded downhill to near war over the Cuban missile crisis.

It was one of the most disastrous chapters in recent American diplomacy.

Soviet relations with Nixon started on the same warm basis as with Kennedy. On the day of Nixon's inauguration, the Kremlin issued an extremely cordial statement welcoming talks on all matters of importance. Nixon, it should be noted, replied more cordially than did Kennedy.

But he had previously vetoed President Johnson's plan to go to Europe to meet Premier Kosygin. Johnson had even invited President-elect Nixon to come along. Nixon politely said no, also told the Russians privately he was against a Johnson-Kosygin meeting.

The Russians therefore were looking forward to an early talk with Nixon, after he had time to get settled in office. Instead he is rushing off to western Europe after only one month in office, to strengthen NATO, a military alliance aimed at the Soviet Union.

—Trouble in Berlin—

He is also going to Berlin just a few days before a showdown between west and east Germany over the holding of west German presidential elections in that city. Already a serious diplomatic hassle has developed which could result in another showdown over access to Berlin.

Once before, both Kennedy and Johnson visited West Berlin at crucial periods with dubious results — LBJ when he was vice president, and Kennedy when he was president in the summer of 1963. Kennedy's melodramatic speech on the steps of the Berlin city hall in which he announced, "I am a Berliner," set West Germany wild with enthusiasm, but helped to undermine his own American University speech of June 10, 1963 in which he outlined a new policy of conciliation with Soviet Russia.

President Nixon likewise delivered a conciliatory and constructive inaugural address which received an enthusiastic reception in Moscow. Editorial comment was most friendly.

He has also sent word to Moscow that he means no affront to the Soviet government by his trip to Europe, and he has had a further talk with Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin. However, actions speak louder than words, and Soviet press and radio comment has already begun to cool.

The big problem, which right-wing senators don't realize, is that there is as much division over the United States in the Kremlin as there is division over Russia in the Pentagon.

The most serious aspect of this division is regarding missiles and building the $50 billion anti-ballistic missile system. Red army generals and right wingers in the Kremlin want to go ahead, don't particularly trust the United States; just as the Pentagon and the new right wing Secretary of Defense, Melvin Laird, also want to go ahead, don't trust Soviet Russia.

It took a lot of fast talking by Lyndon Johnson with Kosygin at Glassboro, and a lot of cold logic by ex-Secretary of Defense Bob McNamara, before the hard-liners in the Kremlin came around even to willingness to talk about the ABM and missiles with the United States.

This is the biggest gain President Nixon could jeopardize by a quick trip to Europe.

'69 Promises Fireworks On Prayer Ban in Schools

It would be hard to discover a more controversial or explosive issue than prayer and Bible reading in the public schools. And if we read the signs of the times, we will not have to look for another debate topic for 1969. Prayer and Bible reading are again the secret words of dissent and disagreement.

The Religious News Service reports that the city of Clairton, Pa., has approved, through the nine-member school board, a course for students in the public schools called "Bible Reading and Prayer." Officials of the board state it is in response to the almost unanimous demands of the students and their parents. The high school principal at Clairton (pop. 20,000) said the idea came out of discussion with students in the Problems of Democracy class—certainly the right spot in the school curriculum to introduce it!

It is almost five years since the Supreme Court ruled against the school prayers that had been written and adopted by the Board of Regents of New York State. You will recall that the court insisted that the state could not constitutionally enforce such a devotional practice in the public schools.

Since that landmark decision, a lot of religious fireworks have exploded in and out of public schools. In the fall of 1964, the Christian Herald invited its subscribers to express their feelings on the place of prayer and Bible reading in the public schools. An avalanche of cards and letters—more than 100,000—was received in a three-month period with about 85 per cent in favor of some religious expression in school.

Although the Clairton school system is proceeding with the revival of religious "exercises," there has been no legal opinion from state or county authorities—and no injunction to date. Nationally, the ruling of the Supreme Court was received with very mixed patterns—almost up to the mood or theological persuasions of local boards and school superintendents.

In many parts of the South and Midwest, it has been business or, in this instance, religion as usual. In large urban areas where a pluralistic religious culture is no longer dominated by Protestant pressures, the Supreme Court ruling of 1964 has guaranteed a sectarian truce. Not only have denominational exercises been rare but school-sponsored baccalaureate services at graduation time are entirely in the co-operative hands of local churches.

Yet regional yearnings, and district customs prevail. Hundreds of high schools all along the "pluralistic" eastern seaboard continue to sponsor Christmas concerts of sacred and secular music. And the birthday of Martin Luther King Jr. was observed by thousands of students in February, complete with hymn singing, prayers and reading from his books as well as selections of scripture—all in a public school setting.

But these mixed patterns of religious observance and devotional "courses" are not the main fuel behind the explosive debate of 1969. Much controversy, with new arguments and old, will be evident when Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., presses for a constitutional amendment providing for the freedom of religious exercises in public schools.

The bidding is his and since he was writing on play, he did not bother to explain the bids. We don't blame him. The hand makes four no-trump but the play is automatic. The five-diamond contract presents quite a problem because there are only 10 easy tricks and there is no way to make the 11th by sheer power.

The correct line of play, which also turns out to be a winner, is to ruff the first heart. Declarer wants to save his discard until later. His next play is a trump to dummy's king followed by a trump back to his own hand. Now he is ready to look for his 11th trick and the only place it can hide is in the club suit.

His first club play should be a low one to dummy's 10. He will be home free unless East is able to win with the jack. That is just what East does. If East returns a heart, South should ruff again still keeping his discard in reserve. If East returns a spade, South should take his ace right away. If East returns a club, South should play low.

Let's assume a spade return. South takes his ace and leads his other low club to dummy's ace. He has hopes that the king will appear but it doesn't and he is down to the last shot in his locker.

He discards his queen of clubs on dummy's ace of hearts and ruffs a club. When both opponents follow, he enters dummy with the nine of diamonds and discards one spade loser on the 13th club.

QUICK QUIZ

Q—What is said to be the quietest place in the world?

A—The "dead room," measuring 35-by-28 feet, in the Bell Telephone System laboratory at Murray Hill, N.J., that eliminates 99.98 per cent of reflected sound.

Q—Which is the world's longest navigable river?

A—The Amazon, which seagoing vessels can ascend as far as Iquitos, Peru, about 2,300 miles from the Atlantic seaboard.

Q—Do any birds build communal nests?

A—The anis in Florida and Texas build communal nests and several females deposit their eggs in it. All the anis take turns incubating and, later, in caring for the young.

The Sedalia Kiwanis club was dined and entertained at Smith-Cotton High school by Principal Paul A. Grigsby and the students. Over 100 persons were seated in the dining room on the third floor. A delicious three course roast turkey dinner was served by the home economics classes, directed by their teachers. Miss Tillie Snell and Miss Louise Enloe. The high school orchestra directed by Mrs. Eva Graves Walker played. The entertainment was in the auditorium. Kiwanian E. J. Donnelly was program chairman.

Guest Editorials

WABASH (Ind.) Plain Dealer: The Simple Things. — Forces are now coverging that make possible, for the first time, the hope that many of man's deepest aspirations can at last be realized. The spiraling pace of change allows us to contemplate, within our lifetime, advances that once would have taken centuries. In throwing wide the horizons of space, we have discovered new horizons on earth. For the first time, because the people of the world want peace and the leaders are afraid of war, the times are on the side of peace.

The greatest honor history can bestow is the title of peacemaker. This honor now beckons America — the chance to help lead the world at last out of the valley of turmoil and onto that high ground of peace man has dreamed of since the dawn of civilization . . . this is our summons to greatness.

The simple things are the ones most needed today if we are to surmount what divides us, and cement what unites us . . .

The Middle East situation is ripe for settlement. Heretofore, to settle a war it was necessary to move in and contribute men and arms. Here is something new. It can be settled by withholding men and arms, flowing from four countries to the Middle East. Israel and the Arbas are trying to say they won't accept an imposed peace settlement. They will. They want nothing more than peace and they know they are unable to effect it between themselves. After 20 years of trying this is evident.

The planet Mars has seasons, but they are longer than the earth's seasons because the Martian year is longer.

Tigers, Grems Both Drop 1969 Homecoming Contests

Homecoming Queen

Rolla's Bulldogs Whip S-C

Smith-Cotton's basketball fortunes sank to their lowest point this season as the Tigers took sole possession of the Central Missouri Conference cellar position in a 58-30 loss to Rolla's Bulldogs.

In junior varsity action, the Bengals broke a three-game losing streak, downing the visitors 55-33.

Bob Hollingsworth led the Bulldogs as they escaped last place for the first time this season. His 15 points paced the visitors as they outscored Sedalia in every quarter.

Pete Greene led the Bengals' hapless offensive thrust with ten points, most acquired on 25-foot jumpers from the top of the key. Bill Woolery contributed seven to the Tigers' total.

John Knapp led the junior Black and Gold to their fifth conference win with 16 points. Knappy held sway over the low post area to help produce the 20-point victory advantage.

Totals:

Rolla 11 10 17 20 — 58
Sedalia 7 8 7 8 — 30

Gremlins Drop Tilt To Warsaw

The Sacred Heart Grems dropped their 1969 basketball Homecoming tilt Friday night, 67-48.

The Wildcats took the lead from the start and held it to easily dispose of the fighting Gremlins.

Jim Wanerski and Ed Gonser put together two more fine efforts to help Sacred Heart. Wanserski took team honors with 16 points, while Gonser added 13.

Martin of Warsaw poured points through the hoop at a rate which gave him game scoring honors with 28 big markers. Barb and Cobb also scofed in double figures for the Wildcats, getting 11 and 10 points, respectively.

The B game went to Warsaw also, with Hughes scoring 16 points in a 46- 20 victory. Dan Barr put through 10 for the Grems.

Warsaw's girls took the volleyball encounter from Sacred Heart 40- 15. Rita Fischer and Theresa Herrick combined for high serving honors for the Grems with five points each.

Score by quarters

Sacred Heart 12 6 14 16—48
Warsaw 22 10 13 24—67

Individual scoring. Sacred Heart—Gonser, 13; Wanserski, 16; Huhman, 9; Barr, 3; Boss, 5; Warsaw—Martin, 28; Henderson, 8; Barb, 11; Martin, 5; Cobb, 10; Swearngin4.

Sacred Heart Queen

Miss Jackie Myers, (center) daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jewel Myers, was crowned Homecoming Queen 1969 at Sacred Heart High School Friday night at halftime of the game with the Warsaw Wildcats. Queen attendants are Miss Theresa Herrick (left) daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Herrick, and Miss Martha Karigan (right), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Karigan.

Lions Club Tournament Boasts Top Team Lineup

The Sedalia Lions Club annual independent basketball tournament has a line-up of top teams for this year's round-ball competition.

The tournament will be held March 4 — 8 in the field house of the State Fair Community College Roadrunners on the state fairground. Five big nights of basketball by some of the top players and teams in the Midwest will be offered.

Sedalia's Possum Trotters will have their work cut out for them. The local boys, under the player-manager direction of Ronald Spencer, have been doing quite well for themselves in other games throughout the area. The local team members are: W.D. Bell, Enos Johnson, Cye Casey, Tom Cline, James Whitney, Eugene Sims, Lee Brown, Fletcher Gravitt, Nat Newbill, Chuck Stockstill, Billy Shobe, and Ronald Spencer.

Co-chairmen of the tournament, Lions John Mais and Wink Ream, have indicated that some outstanding players will be here. Springfield Empire Bank has a former Little All-American from SMS, Lee Shepherd. To add to the colorful basketball that the team plays is Manny Oliver, a former Globetrotter, and Med Parks, who has played for the St. Louis Hawks.

The Kansas City Rim Rockers will have two favorites, normally considered running mates over the years on their team. Many people will remember Ike Eisenhower and John O'Neill.

Pilot Grove Independents have a former Missouri University star on their team, Gary Garner. Pilot Grove is managed by a local boy, Larry McCown, who also plays on the team.

Last year's tournament winners are back this year for a hot contest; known last year as the Kansas City Raiders, the group is returning this year as the Lee's Summit Merchants independent team.

Another return team is the Columbia Hurricanes, with an outstanding player, Marshall Evans, from Lincoln University, as well as other L.U. players. Also on the Hurricanes team is a former pro football star from Canada, Leo Lewis.

The Columbia Heidelberg Hams, always a favorite in mid-Missouri, have players such as Gene Jones from M.U. and one of our local fellows, Jim Chapman.

Other teams in this year's tournament include: urich, Whiteman Air Force Base, Houstonia, Macon, Columbia Fidelity Life, Jefferson City, New London, Rolla and the Raytown Hawks.

The bracket for the tourney will be announced later.

Len Dawson

Len Dawson Will Hold Football Camp

Something novel and of interest to high school boys of this area is being introduced by Len Dawson, quarterback of the AFL Kansas City Chiefs.

A football camp that will school young men of high school age in the inside techniques of offensive and defensive football in all phases will be held June 1 through July 11.

In announcing the new camp, Sawson stressed that no bodily contact will permitted and no games will be played that will endanger health or scholastic eligibility.

The schedule is organized for eight one-week or two-week stay covering lodging, meals and instruction. The staff, headed by Dawson, will include other professional players and outstanding high school coaches.

The Len Dawson Football Camp will be held at Lakeside Park, near Kansas City, offering a variety of recreation during non-instruction; hours; fishing badmiton, archery and horse-shoes.

Brochure and applications are available by writing to P. O. Box 5181, Kansas City, Missouri 64132.

Big Eight Indoor Track Sold Out

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Big Eight Commissioner Wayne Duke announced Saturday that the finals of the conference's 41st annual indoor track and field championships next Saturday night in Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium are sold out.

It is the seventh straight year the finals will be run off before a capacity throng of nearly 10,000 fans.

Girls' Volleyball Tourney At Alma

The Holy Cross Lutheran School of Emma will sponsor a girl's volleyball tournament on Feb. 28 and March 1. The tournament will be held in the gymnasium of the Concordia Public Grade School with the first game being played at 7 p.m.

Participating schools will be Trinity Lutheran of Alma, St. Paul's of Concordia, Zion of Corder, Immanuel of Higginsville, and St. Paul's of Sedalia.

In first round play Sedalia and Corder will meet at 7 p.m. Game two will see Concordia and Higginsville at 7:45. In Game three Alma drew a bye. Game 4, Emma drew a bye at 9:15.

Two Sign Letters To Attend CMS

WARRENSBURG, Mo. (February 20) — The Central Missouri state College football staff has gained the signatures of intent to attend CMSC this fall from Tom Oates and Jim Robb, two Warrensburg Public High football standouts.

The two signed letters of intent Monday to attend CMSC and play football with the Mules beginning the 1969 season it was announced by Head Football Coach Howard Mahanes.

Jim Robb, a 200 pound, 6'0" three-year letterman for the Warrensburg Tigers as a defensive guard explained that he was attending CMSC because he like the coaching staff and felt that he could play football for the Mules.

Jim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Robb, Route 2, Centerview. Robb was the Mules' head football coach for three years from 1962 - 65 and is presently Director of Placement, Business, Industry and Government for Central Missouri State College.

Tom Oates earned two letters at the public high as an offensive center. The 215 pound, 5'11" lineman will help fill the gaps left by graduation this spring according to the Mule coaching staff.

Tom indicated that he admired the Mules' coaching staff and the way the team played football. He hoped he could earn a position with the ball club in future years.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom W. Oates, Route 4, Warrensubrg.

Yumbel In Stunning Surprise

MIAMI (AP) — Walnut Hill Farms' Yumbel scored a stunning upset in the $137,200 Widener Handicap at Hialeah Saturday with a head victory over Wheatley Stable's Funny Fellow.

Mrs. J. L. Greer's Mr. Brogann held on for third and W. T. Pasco II's Petit Duc was fourth in the field of 11.

Yumbel, an 8-year-old Chilean bred horse who has been campaigning in this country since last June, carried only 112 pounds with Fernando Toro in the saddle, ran the 1¼ miles in a slow 2:30 1-5 and paid $94.40, $29.40 and $13 across the board.

Funny Fellow, under 121 pounds with Braulio Baeza in the saddle, was 8-5 favorite with the crowd of 30,206 and returned $3.80 and $2.80 while show price on Mr. Brogann, 113 pounds with Jorge Velasquez up, was $6.80.

Fractional times over a fast track for the 32nd running of the Widener were 23 3-5, 48 2-5, 1:12 and 1:37. The track record for the distance is 1:59 3-5 set by Bald Eagle in winning this feature Feb. 20, 1960. He carried 123 pounds that day.

Yumble and Mr. Brogann battled for the lead as they started the gruelling run past the stands the first time and swapped places on the front end until only yards from the finish where Yumble stuck his nose in front and Funny Fellow came fast on the outside to grab second place, only a nose in front of Mr. Brogann.

Abe's Hope finished fifth and Fort March, the high weight under 124 pounds, was sixth, followed by Out The Window, Meson 2nd, Needles Stitch, Irish Dude, and Kar-Stan in that order.

May Miss Spring Schedule

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mike Burke, president of the New York Yankees, said Saturday that unless the baseball players' pension dispute is settled by Wednesday, there is no way the exhibition season can begin on March 8 as scheduled.

"We may have to call off the exhibition schedule, or at least the early part of it," Burke said at the Yankees' Fort Lauderdale, Fla., training camp.

In New York, John Gaherin, the owners' negotiator in the pension fund hassle, asked the Major League Players' Association Friday to poll its entire membership on the owners' $5.3 million package.

Marvin Miller, the association's executive director, says the poll of the 400 players will take at least two weeks.

Williams Back To Florida

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ted Williams, the million-dollar messiah named to lead the last-place Washington Senators into baseball's promised land, flew back to Florida Saturday to face the toughest test of his life.

Williams will plunge into spring training with the Senators Monday to find out whether he can pass on to a rag-tag crew of losers and castoffs a significant part of the easy, awesome skill that made him the game's greatest living hitter.

The Senators are betting $1.2 million—the richest bonanza ever paid a manager in baseball history—that Williams can.

Robert short, the new owner of the dismal American League club brought the Hall of Fame hitter back into baseball Friday night with a fabulous five-year contract as manager, vice president and part-owner of the Senators.

Fittingly, Williams's first regular-season game as manager will mark the start of Baseball's centennial year with President Nixon throwing out the first ball for the traditional opener in the nation's Capital April 7.

The former Boston Red Sox slugger, emerging from eight years of baseball retirement, faces a massive rebuilding job with a team of tinsel and tar paper.

"This may be a long, hard grind for a while," Williams said.

He said he would begin by trying to teach drive and dedication, to bring young ballplayers a full awareness of how much success in the sport can mean for their lives.

In his commitment to dedication and determination, Williams sounded remarkably akin to Vince Lombardi, the Capital's other celebrated sports immortal hired to revive the Washington Redskins.

Williams cracked, "I'm new in this racket, but I'm sure we'll win more games than the Redskins."

The Redskins play only a 14-game season in the National Football League.

Regional Cage Play Set For Area S and M Schools

Area Class M and Class S basketball teams will be kept pretty busy in the next few weeks participating in regional tournaments. Most of the tournaments will begin February 24.

The number of teams assigned to each regional varies according to the geographical location of the teams invovled. Several regionals are split with first and second round games being played at separate sites in accord with geographical areas to permit as many games as possible to be played with a minimum amount of transportation and loss of school time.

The following are regional basketball tournaments in which area Class S and Class M teams will participate:

CLASS S
Smithton tournament

Calhoun vs. Sacred Heart, Monday — 6:30 p.m.; Jamestown vs. Stover, Monday — 8 p.m.; Smithton vs. Bunceton, Monday — 9:30 p.m.; LaMonte — bye.; Otterville — bye.; Lincoln vs. Green Ridge, Tuesday — 6:30 p.m.; Leeton vs. Northwest, Tuesday — 8 p.m.; Prairie Home vs. Pilot Grove, Tuesday — 9:30 p.m.

St. Paul's Tournament (Concordia)

Sweet Springs vs. Wellington, Monday — 5 p.m.; Malta Bend vs. SS Peter and Paul, Monday — 8 p.m; St. Paul's vs. Lone Jack, Tuesday — 6 p.m.

CLASS M
Eldon Tournament

Versailles, second seeded; Warsaw, third seeded; Eldon, fourth seeded.

Slater Tournament

Boonville, first seeded; Higginsville, first seeded; Slater, second seeded; Concordia, second seeded.

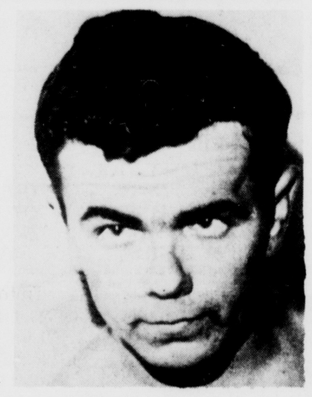

Harrisonville Tournament

Knob Noster, first seeded; Warrensburg, second seeded; Clinton, third seeded.

The winners of the 16 regionals in each class will advance to first round state games at ten different sites across the state. Quarterfinal games are planned for Warrensburg, Springfield, Cape Girardeau and Kirksville in Class S and Montgomery City, Warrensburg, Springfield and Cape Girardeau in Class M. The Class M-S semifinal and finals are scheduled for March 7-8 at the University of Missouri, Columbia.

Rhodes, Kent Hook Up In Vicious Chain Match

What may be professional wrestling's most vicious event—a chain match—is scheduled for Tuesday's ring program at Convention Hall.

Given an opportunity to settle their differences in the unusual action will be rugged Dusty Rhodes and speedster Don Kent.

Under provisions for the clash, the two men will be chained at the wrist. The chain itself is eight feet long. Use of the chain forces both contestants to stay in the ring and keep the action going.

One of the complaints the talented Kent has had in previous matches with the 265-pound Rhodes was that the big Dallas heavyweight headed for the ropes every time he appeared to be in trouble. It won't help in the chain match, since Kent will be right alongside.

Matchmaker Gust Karras said he had never witnessed such a match until recently in Waterloo, Iowa, when Ronnie Etchison and Tornado Murdock were chained.

"It turned out to be the roughest match I've seen in 40 years," the matchmaker stated. "That's why I wanted to try it in Sedalia." The match Tuesday will be over the best of three falls to a finish.

Mixed team action also is slated, with a heavyweight and maidget making up each unit. Ronnie Etchison and Wee Willie Wilson will oppose Tornado Murdock and Mighty Atom in the team scrap.

Also set are matches between Rudy Martin and Frank Hester. Wilson and Mighty Atom.

St. Paul's Wins Sixth Straight

The St. Paul's Lutheran elementary school team took their sixth straight basketball victory Friday night, defeating Trinity Lutheran of Alma, 31-24.

Danny Miller was high point man for the winners pumping in 15 points, also good for game scoring honors. He was helped out by Jackson with 11.

Tieman was tops for Alma with 11 points, followed by Lovercamp and Fiene with six each.

In the B game, St. Paul's defeated Alma 19-12.

The Alma girls were victorious in volleyball competition two games to one for the visitors' only victory on the St. Paul's court.

A game individual scoring: St. Paul's — J. Kueck, 1; D. Schroeder, 1; D. Miller, 15; R. Ehlers, 3; J. Jackson, 11; Trinity — Lovercamp, 6; Fiene, 6; Tieman, 11; Rist, 1.

Top U.S. Fencer Dies of Cancer

NEW YORK (AP) — Jose R. de Capriles, regarded by many as the greatest fencer ever developed in the United States, died late Friday of cancer. He was 57.

De Capriles competed in the 1936, 1948 and 1952 Olympics and was captain of the U.S. Pan-American team in 1955 where he won one gold medal and two silvers.

A graduate of New York University, he was vice president for law and administration for the Lehigh Valley Railroad.

New York University will take part in two basketball tournaments during the 1969-70 season. The Violets will play in the Marshall University Invitational at Huntingtin, W. Va., and the Holiday Festival in Madison Square Garden.

Yarbrough Takes Victory In Tragedy-Marred Race

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Lee Roy Yarbrough drove a 1966 Ford to victory Saturday in the Permatex 300, a rain-plagued sportsman race in which young Don MacTavish was killed in a grotesque smashup.

The shattered body of the handsome, 26-year-old, Mac Tavish was lifted out of a shapeless mass of metal after a spectacular crash involving four cars just 22 miles after the start of the event. He was dead on arrival at the field hospital.

As the race, halted three times by rain squalls, went grimly on, Yarbrough won the $40,000 event in a stirring duel with Dewayne "Tiny" Lund of Cross, S.C., in a 1966 Dodge.

The fatal accident came with explosive suddenness.

Going into the grandstand straightaway completing the ninth lap, MacTavish lost control of his Comet and barreled headon into the wall at an estimated 175 miles an hour.

In the vicious impact, the engine exploded and the front end of the car disintegrated, spraying parts like machine-gun fire over the track. The Comet spun crazily, with MacTavish hanging on to his bucket seat—nothing in front of him but part of his rollbar cage.

As he rocketed off the high-banked west turn, there was no time for a cluster of cars just behind to brake down to take evasive action. A Ford riven by Sam Sommers of Savannah, Ga., smashed at top speed into the open front end of MacTavish's car, driving it into the grass infield.

Ambulance attendants lifted the shattered body of MacTavish out of a shapeless mass of metal and transported it to the field hospital. The death was not announced for nearly one hour at the track, but it was obvious to 28,500 spectators that the youthful driver could not have survived.

"I've never seen a car come apart like that," said an awed mechanic who witnessed the tragedy.

Debris sprayed the track, and Sommers said a piece of the wreckage landed on the hood of his car, making it impossible for him to avoid the collision.

Bunkie Blackburn, the defending race champion from Daytona Beach, said, "It looked like MacTavish was trying to get under two cars on the bank when he went out of control. I thought the draft got him and spun him."

"He went straight into the wall and then just exploded," Blackburn said. "It came apart like a bomb going off."

Blackburn ran over MacTavish's radiator, and the oil pan of his Ford was cut off, spreading oil over the track.

In the oil slick left by Blackburn, Bob James of Cleveland went into a spin on his Pontiac and crashed into a Ford driven by Hank Thomas of Winston-Salem, N.C. Both cars spun off the track, too badly disabled to continue the race.

"I started for the grass," Thomas said. "But another car was sitting there. I caught somebody's bumper and spun, then got hit by another car."

No other driver was injured.

Violent Crash

Daytona Beach, Fla. — Don MacTavish, Stillwater, N.Y., still presses his foot on an accelerator no longer there, and fuel spews to a now-missing engine as his shattered modified stock race car careens wildly after colliding with the grandstand wall Saturday.

Borrowed Track, New Area Showcase for AAU Athletes

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A borrowed track and a sparkling new area serve as a showcase for more than 400 outstanding athletes gathering here for the 81st National AAU Indoor Track and Field Championships Saturday.

The 11-lap board track is being shipped from Baltimore for the meet at the spanking new 13,500-seat Spectrum, which hosts basketball and hockey and now, for the first time—indoor track.

The meet has drawn many Olympians including gold medal winners, Bob Seagren, Willie Davenport, Bob Beamon and Madeline Manning. But Villanova's Olympians, Mary Liquori, Frank Murphy and Larry James will be missing.

Wildcat Coach Jim "Jumbo" Elliott is keeping most of his squad rested for the IC4A championships the following week. However, Olympic runnerup Erv Hall of the Wildcats will be favored in the 60-yard high hurdles and Villanova is expected to compete in two relay races.

As an added incentive, approximately 36 of the outstanding performers here will be invited to tour Europe, the West Indies and Japan later in March and compete against other foreign nations.

The meets' Executive Director, Bert Lancaster, is mainly responsible for bringing the championships to Philadelphia. Oakland was the site of the last two and Albuquerque, N.M., in 1966, while New York City has been host from 1026-1965.

"I just thought Philadelphia, with its long history of outstanding trackmen, deserved to have the best," Lancaster, a 40-year-old former speedster from Penn State said.

Seagren, the Southern California star, who holds the world indoor and outdoor recores in the pole vault, will be challenged by John Pennel, Peter Chen and Dennis Phillips.

Davenport, the 25-year-old former paratrooper, from Southern University is unbeaten in the high hurdles this season, and has added three world records to his growing list. He will face stiff tests from Hall and Leon Coleman, the 2-4 finishers at the Olympic Games.

Beamon, another world record holder, 29 feet 2½ inches in his specialty, the long jump, has to overcome Olympic teammates Norman Tate and Ralph Boston.

Kansas Is Favorite In Big Eight Track

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Favored Kansas breezed to victory in the Central Collegiate Conference indoor track meet Saturday, even without the aid of star miler Jim Ryun.

Kansas, running in its first CCC meet, rolled up 179 points to 112 for Notre Dame and Western Michigan's 75.

Ryun jogged a bit but decided not to run just prior to the two-mile event. Bothered by a foot injury, Ryun has run only twice since he was upset in the summer Olympics.

George Byers of Kansas was a double winner in the 60 yard high and low hurdles, tying meet records with both of his runs.

Rick Wohlhuter of Notre Dame turned in a record-setting 600-yard effort of 1:09.4, just four tenths second off the world indoor mark.

Drake took fourth with 56 points in the 43rd annual running of the meet, followed by Southern Illinois, 51, Kent State, 31, and Kentucky State 19.

Byers took the 60-yard high hurdles in :07.3 and Ron Jessie of Kansas was second in :07.4. KU's Kenny Gaines was fifth in :07.5 and Bob Bornkessell was sixth, no time given.

Byers won the low hurdles in :06.7 and Bornkessell was second in :07.0.

Calhoun 76, Leeton 67

Calhoun and Leeton, tied for third in the Golden Valley Conference, played their final regularly scheduled game of the season Friday night at Leeton — and Calhoun's Eagles proved themselves the better team by trouncing Leeton 76-67.

It was a non-conference game, which left Calhoun with a 11-16 season record going into the Smithton Regional Tournament Monday night.

Calhoun bombed its way into the game with a 23-10 edge in the first quarter and kept up the pace throughout. The Eagles never lost their advantage, and the closest Leeton got to Calhoun on the scoreboard was four points in the last quarter.

Darrell Everett, a powerhouse for Calhoun all year, topped his scoring performances for the season by whipping 11 field goals and eight charity tosses through the nets for 30 points.

David Micke followed that up for the Eagles by splitting the nets with nine field goals and two free throws for 20 points.

Top gun for the trailing Leeton five was Bancroft, who bounced the roundball off the backboards for nine field goals and ten from the charity line for 28 points. Descombes backed him up with 20, but it wasn't enough to off-set the Everett-Micke combination presented by Calhoun.

The Eagles will go against the Sacred Heart Gremlins in the Smithton Regional at 6:30 p.m. Monday. The Grems, win a home-coming contest Friday night, went down to Warsaw's Wildcats, 67-48. Leeton sees regional action in the same tournament Tuesday night, going against Northwest of Hughesville.

Score by quarters:
Calhoun 23 19 16 18 — 76
Leeton 10 18 20 19 — 67

Individual scoring: Calhoun — Carroll Dennis, 1-1-3; Darrell Everett, 11-8-30; David Edwards, 3-2-8; David Micke, 9-2-20; Bill Curry, 3-3-9; John Abney, 3-0-6. Leeton — Bancroft, 9-10-28; Armstrong, 4-4-12; Descombes, 8-1-1; Cronhart, 1-2-4; Teter, 1-0-2; Van Winkle, 0-1-1.

Warrensburg 73, Windsor 55

WINDSOR — Warrensburg's Tigers defeated the Greyhounds 73-55 here Friday night. Windsor finished the season with an 11-14 record.

Warrensburg took a one point lead in the first quarter which remained at the half. In the third quarter the Tigers added another seven points to their lead and ten more in the final quarter.

Warrensburg's JV team was also victorious, defeating Windsor 69-61. Mullins was high point man for the game, sinking 16 points for Windsor while Markham sunk 11 points for Warrensburg.

Score by Quarters:

. . . your newly appointed Butler Agri-Builder in West Central Missouri

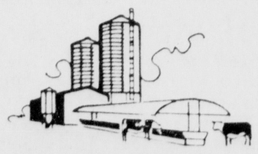

No longer do you have to shop all around for the farm structures and equipment you need. For we are your newly-appointed Butler Agri-Builder. And we can help you solve all your farmstead automation problems . . whatever they might be.

We are equipped to sell and erect the full line of quality Butler metal buildings, bins, tanks, and handling equipment . . . plus many related products. This means we can counsel with you independently—with no favoritism for any certain type of product. And this results in the structure—or complete system—that's best for your farm, best for your budget. You save time, trouble and money.

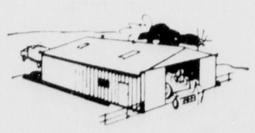

We invite you to stop by and get acquainted with us whenever it's convenient for you. Ask us about our layout planning service—our complete construction service—our financing—our service after the sale. Or call or write us for further information. We serve farm-related businesses as well as farmers.

BUTLER STOR-N-DRY. America's most thoroughly engineered bin drying system—used by more farmers than any other brand.

BUTLER STOR-N-FEED. Oxygen-controlled storage for the feeding of low moisture silage and high moisture grain.

BUTLER FARM BUILDINGS. A full line of low-cost metal buildings for grain, machinery, livestock and other farmstead needs.

Men at MU Will Donate Thieir Blood

FT. LEONARD WOOD, Mo., (AP) — Some students at the University of Missouri-Rolla have come up with a practical means of showing their support for American troops fighting in Vietnam.

More than 300 members of the school's Men's Residence Halls Association will travel in a bus relay next Wednesday to donate blood at the Army hospital here.

The blood will be sent to McGuire Air Force Base in New Jersey for shipment to Southeast Asia.

"We were trying to think of something the association could do to benefit someone," explained Douglas Wassmer, a UMR sophomore and public relations chairman of the association.

"We came up with the idea of giving blood for soldiers in Vietnam, because we all have friends serving there. Some have been wounded, and some have died."

BRITAIN'S BOBBY

No Favoritism Is Shown Chief

ROME, N.Y. (AP) — Public Safety Commissioner John A. Engelmann appeared in traffic court Thursday to pay a fine for overtime parking, his third since last spring, when he was named to head the city's police and fire departments.

Handing over the money, Engelmann quipped: "It's worth the dollar not to be accused of being favored by the men in blue."

A FLEET ROYAL

DENVER (AP) — Outfielder Pat Kelly, who has been drafted by the Kansas City Royals in the American League, set a Denver record for stolen bases in Class AAA baseball by swiping 38 last season.

Gold Market is Swayed By Every Nuance, Rumor

NEW YORK (AP) — Whispers at Washington cocktail parties reach Europe as supersonic thunder. Casual remarks are interpreted as official statements. Denials are received as affirmations. Even silence is studied for meaning.

This is the gold market, a subject that to most people has become remote, boring, meaningless, but which represents to bankers, speculators and some heads of states an unbearably tense situation.

What will the price of gold be one year from now? No more than $35 an ounce if you judge from official U.S. statements. A lot more than that if South Africa, the world's largest producer, realizes its hopes.

The least suggestion of a price change sends speculators to market.

Suppose, for instance, that the United States, which officially maintains the price of monetary gold at $35 an ounce, hints that there is some slight chance it might decide to pay more. Hope immediately swells in the breasts of gold hoarders. And those without gold rush to buy.

Something of that sort did happen not long ago. When President-elect Nixon introduced his new Treasury secretary-designate, David Kennedy, the gentleman immediately was asked THE question.

"I want to keep every option open," Kennedy said, adding, "I do not want to start any rumors to cause any kind of a crisis that I will have to work on."

He got what he sought to avoid. To most people the statement was clear. Not to the goldbugs. The price of gold rose: European speculators went into an uproar. And American bankers issued wistful criticisms.

The entire international monetary structure was, in fact, shaken by Kennedy's refusal to be committed on a subject he felt was better dealt with only after he had assumed office, still more than a month away.

Careful lest he create more turmoil, the secretary-designate refrained from additional comment except to say that anybody would be crazy to speculate on what he had said. But craziness has become normal in the gold market.

The peculiar behavior goes back a long way, but it reached a crisis one year ago. At that time the United States was being forced to convert many millions of dollars into gold and ship the gold overseas.

The necessity for doing so was a commitment by the U.S. government to redeem dollars in gold. And because the United States was leaving a lot of dollars abroad, a lot of dollars were coming back in exchange for gold.

Much of this gold was getting into the hands of speculators and industrial users and leaving less and less gold for backing money, thus endangering the entire world monetary system.

To escape further danger, the big industrial nations simply shut off the drain to the private market. Instead, they decided to keep what gold they had, neither buying nor selling to speculators or industrial users.

This was bad news for private hoarders and some governments too, each of which had been hoping that the United States would be forced to raise the price of gold to, say, $70 in order to conserve its diminishing supply.

Instead, a two-market system was established. Monetary gold would remain at $35 no matter what happened in the private market. The private market would reflect supply-demand and seek its own price. It has: between $37 and $43.

However, the private price is maintained at that level because South Africa sits atop an enormous pile of gold. Should South Africa have to sell, and that day could be approaching, the free market price could drop.

However, should the United States raise the monetary price of gold it would mean that speculators and gold procers still might benefit.

If, for example, monetary gold went to $70 an ounce, it would serve notice that the free market price rally was lower than it could be—that gold really was worth a bigger price. A free market rise might quickly follow.

Outlines University Viewpoint

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The president of the University of Missouri said today the right of students to discuss, to listen and to express dissenting opinions will be protected, the university will not tolerate disruption under the guise of protection of freedom.

The university president, John C. Weaver, made the statement shortly before a meeting of the school's Board of Curators on the St. Louis campus.

"Let it be understood that at the University of Missouri there will be an unassailable freedom of speech and thought, but there will also be the protection of an orderly way of academic life.

"The disruption of university life by some results immediately in the loss of elemental freedoms for others, and the academic community must stand at all times for the freedom of of all its members," Weaver said, emphasizing the "all."

"Dividing lines are not always easy to establish in human affairs," Weaver said. "But the university . . . has no difficulty in drawing the one that separates the right of dissent from the anarchy of disruption."

As Weaver was issuing his statement, a student from the university's main campus at Columbia said a militant student group, Students for a Democratic Society, is "on the verge of turning Mizzou into another University of Wisconsin."

Michael Thompson, Missouri chairman of Young Americans for Freedom, which is holding its state convention in St. Louis, urged students and faculty members to reject the SDS.

He referred to a recent issue of the "Columbia Free Press" depicting the rape of Justice and the Statue of Liberty by policemen as a bold provocation.

"SDS purposefully baited the university by publishing that edition," Thompson said. "They wanted to be arrested. They need to be made into martyrs in order to gain support from the student body.

"We urge the campus community to recognize the fact that SDS has manufactured an issue which they hope to use in order to bring disruption to Mizzou," Thompson said.

Negro Unrest To Be Topic Of Historian

Andrew Rollins, Jr., president of the Kansas City, Kan., chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and an expert in Negro history, will speak at Sacred Heart cafeteria at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Rollins' talk will concern the reasons behind black militancy, Sacred Heart spokesmen said.

A war veteran, Rollins spent 15 years in the Post Office Department and served on the board of directors of CORE and the NAACP. He is currently employed by Kansas City and works with the city's Police Special Forces unit.

Refreshments will be served. The public is invited.

For Davidson: Larceny and Lace

By JOAN CROSBY
NEA Entertainment Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—There's hope for John Davidson yet.

The dimpled, talented young man has spent his entire professional career being typed as wholesome, personable, dimpled and very talented. Now, at last, he is playing a role with a touch of larceny in him.

John, presently doing one of the best night club acts at the prestigious Persian Room of New York's Plaza Hotel, is making his straight TV acting debut on Feb. 27 on NBC-TV's Daniel Boone.

"I play the guy who falls in love with the girl," he says, "but he does something illegal. There's a little mischief in him."

After making two Disney movies, in which he played boy-next-door types, John has done the Boone as an "audition."

"We want to get the film for screen test purposes," he said. "Universal is interested in a multipicture deal. It's all leading to a TV series. That's my aim."

A Broadway musical has been written for him called "Plato's Republic" and is about a college that secedes from the Union.

John recently married pretty Jackie Miller, former member of the New Christy Minstrels.

He doesn't think his marriage will have an adverse effect on his fans, because "if anything, there is a great respect for a happily married man.

Mr. and Mrs. John Davidson

"Now," he said, "I can sing love songs and believe them. Knowing the marriage is right has given me added confidence. For the first time I'm able to exploit my emotions."

Steve Lawrence says the trouble with the generation gap is that it isn't large enough. If you agree with him, and a lot do, don't let it deter you from watching a new ABC-TV series, The Generation Gap, a game show which matches the knowledge of over-30s about the younger generation with the latter's knowledge of "olden days."

It's in the hands of a new network personality named Dennis Wholey who, at 30, says he represents the gap. He wears an Edwardian suit and a forward hair comb which will make the kids think he's one of them.

ANDREE'S REMAINS

The remains of Salomon Andree, Swedish explorer, were discovered in 1930, quite by accident, 33 years after his ill-fated attempt to cross the north polar region in a baloon. His was the first attempt ever made to reach the north pole by air.

SWEET PICKLE STICKS

Mrs. Eugene Kahle
Route 1
LaMonte, Mo.

9 medium cucumbers
6 cups boiling water to cover.

Let stand overnight. Drain and pack in jars. Heat the following syrup boiling hot and pour over cucumbers and seal tightly. Process in boiling water for 5 minutes.

Syrup:
2½ c. vinegar
2¼ c. sugar
2 tbsps. salt
1 tbsp. celery seed,
3¼ tsp. tumeric

Combine and boil 5 minutes before pouring over pickles. This makes a good crisp pickle that everyone likes. This recipe is easy to make and the pickles can be eaten immediately.

SWEET PICKLES

Mrs. Edna Simpson
Bunceton, Mo.

Place washed cucumber in ½ gal. jar; add to each jar:
2 tablespoons salt
1½ tablespoons mixed spices
1 teaspoon alum (rounded)
2 cups vinegar

Finish filling each jar with cool water. When ready to use drain off liquid and slice, cover with 4 cups sugar. This will make its own syrup. Be ready to use in 24 hrs. Leave in first mixture about a week or longer.

APPLE BUTTER

Mrs. Edna Simpson
Bunceton, Mo.

peal 2 gal. apples
add 2 pt. sugar
2 pieces stick cinnamon
¼ cup vinegar
cover and leave overnight

Put in a cold packer and cook for 2 hours on high heat. Be sure you use an asbestos lid on top of burner. Also don't remove the lid from cold packer while it is cooking ot it will stick.

PORK CHOP CASSEROLE

Mrs. W.D. (Imogene) Martensen
Box 62
Fortuna

4 pork chops
4 med. potatoes
4 tbsp. margarine
4 tbsp. flour
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
1 tsp. prepared mustard
½ tsp. thyme
½ tsp. worcestershire sauce
1½ cup milk
½ cup chopped onion

Brown pork chops in skillet. Melt margarine in a small sauce pan, add dry ingredients, then the worcestershire sauce and milk. Heat and stir until it makes a sauce. Set aside. Peel and slice potatoes. Grease a baking dish or pan, alternate the sliced potatoes and the sauce in this dish or pan. Last, place the pork chops on top, cover and bake in 350 degree oven for 1½ hours. Uncover the last 15 minutes so the chops will be crisp.

CHICKEN CASSEROLE

Mrs. Ray Rookey
Florence, Mo.

1 pkg. onion soup (dry)
1 cup rice, uncooked
1 layer of chicken pieces (one chicken)
1 can creamed chicken soup (prepared as directed on can)

Method:

Place all ingredients in buttered 1 qt. casserole, one layer at a time — onion soup, rice and chicken. Pour chicken soup over all, adding more seasonings to taste, if needed. If additional moisture is required during baking to keep from sticking, add liquid made from chicken bouillon cube. Bake in oven (350) until chicken is tender. Serves 4.

PIZZA BURGERS

Mrs. Robert Schwan
218 Waterbury Ridge
Heritage Village
Sedalia, Mo.

1 pound hamburger
1 can pizza sauce (10½ oz.)
¼ cup parmesan cheese, grated
1 onion, chopped very fine
½ teaspoon ground oregano
dash salt, pepper
4 oz. package grated mozzerella cheese
1 loaf french bread, sliced

Combine first seven ingredients and mix well. Place a spoon full of this mixture on top of each slice of bread and spread it evenly. Broil in oven until hamburger is done. Top wity mozzerella cheese and return to oven just long enough to brown cheese slightly.

HAMBURGER CASSEROLE

Mrs. Murl Steele
315 East 11th
Sedalia, Mo.

1½ lb. ground beef (brown in shortening)
1 onion minced

Add:

1 c. diced celery

After meat is lightly brown add onions and celery. Cook all 5 mins. and add:

1 small can mushrooms
1 can mushroom soup
1 can cream chicken soup.

Stir all good and pour in greased casserole dish and top with chow mein noodles. Bake 350 degrees 30 to 45 mins.

GEORGIA'S ONE DISH MEAL

Georgia McCanless
Lincoln

6 or 8 pork chops
6 or 8 potatoes quartered
4 to 6 onions quartered (use more if you like)
1 large can green beans drained
½ cup water
1¼ tsp. salt
pepper if desired.

Place chops single layer in large pan or baking dish. Put potatoes and onions atop the chops. Add green beans scattered over top of all. Pour in the ½ cup of water to which salt has been added. Sprinkle with pepper if desired. Cover tightly and bake in 325 degree oven 1 hour and 30 minutes or until chops are done and tender.

SAUSAGE SUPREME

Mrs. Harry Heimsoth
1500 East 9th
Sedalia, Mo.

1 lb. mild pork sausage
1 onion chopped
½ cup green pepper chopped
1 can cream of mushroom soup
½ cup milk
1 cup diced cheese
1 small pkg. fine noodles

Fry crumbled sausage, onion and green peppers long enough to fry out fat but not crisp. Cook noodles and drain. Mix all remaining ingredients together in casserole and bake in slow oven 325 degrees for about 35 minutes.

CHICKEN LOAF

Mrs. Byron Chryst
Windsor, Mo.

1 stewing hen
1½ cups celery
1½ cups American cheese
1 medium onion
2 eggs
¼ tsp. pepper
1 tbsp. salt
1 can cream of chicken soup
4 cups Ritz crackers
4 to 5 cups chicken broth

Cook chicken until it falls off the bone. Cool and remove bone, cut into small pieces. Add diced celery, diced cheese, and diced onion. Mix, then add other ingredients. Bake in a buttered casserole until brown on top, in 350 degree oven approximately 1 hour.

MEAT BALL STEW

Mrs. Frank Vansell
Versailles, Mo.

1 or 1½ lb. hamburger
¼ cup chopped onion
½ tsp. Worcestershire sauce
½ can tomato paste
1 egg
1 cup bread crumbs
2 tsp. salt
½ tsp. pepper

Mix altogether & form meat balls. Brown well on all sides in greased skillet. Drain off excess fat. Then add cup of potatoes, onions, green beans, ½ can tomato paste, 1 cup water. Cover and cook slowly until tender, then add can of peas & carrots.

HAM LOAF

(Serves 12)

Mrs. Russell S. Lewis
2404 Albert Lee
Sedalia, Mo.

2 lbs. fresh, lean ham ground
1 lb. cured ham (ready to eat) ground
2 tbsps cracker crumbs
2 whole eggs
1 c. milk

Mix all ingredients and shape into 1 or 2 loaves. This will be quite soft. Cook uncovered 1½ hours at 350 degrees. Baste every 15 minutes with milk. 1 cup will be enough.

Serve loaf with the following dressing:

1 c. cream whipped or 1 c. sour cream.
½ c. Miracle Whip dressing
1 or 2 tsps. grated horseradish.

Makes a soft sauce and may be poured when served. If whipped cream is used, I use 1 c. salad dressing and it can be dipped.

CHICKEN & BROCCOLI CASSEROLE
(Serves 6)
Mrs. Russell S. Lewis
2404 Albert Lee
Sedalia, Missouri

Part 1.
Breasts & Wings from two (2) frying chickens
1 box frozen broccoli spears
½ tsps. salt
1 tsp. lemon juice
1 tsp. sugar

Part 2
½ c. chicken fat or part oleo margarine
¼ c. flour
1 c. chicken broth
½ c. milk
¼ c. mayonnaise
¼ tsp. curry powder (a must)
½ c. cubed or grated Velveeta cheese.
½ c. or more buttered bread crumbs.

Cook and cool chicken. Take off bones and cut into large bite size pieces. Cool broth and skim off fat for sauce. Cook broccoli spears with salt, sugar and lemon juice, until barely done. Cut stalk end loose from head. (This makes it easier to serve.) Butter a shallow baking dish and layer broccoli in bottom. Add layer of chicken. Mix fat and flour, add next 5 ingredients and cook until thick. Pour evenly over chicken and top with crumbs. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until brown.

PRONTO PUPS
Mrs. Murl Steele
315 East 11th St.
Sedalia, Mo.
2 c. pancake mix
½ c. corn meal
1 tsp. salt
Mix well
Add:
1½ c. milk

Mix well. Dip each of 10 frankfurters in batter. Coat well. Fry in fat heated to 365 degrees until golden brown. Turn to brown evenly. Serve immediately. If desired, insert a popsicle stick in end of each frankfurter before serving. Note: batter thickens on standing. If it gets too thick, add milk, a little at a time.

CORN CRISPED CHICKEN
Mrs. Murl Steele
315 East 11th St.
Sedalia, Mo.

Dip 1 cut up chicken (2½ to 3 lbs.) in ½ c. Pet evaporated milk.

Roll in mixture of 1 c. Kellogg's Corn Flake crumbs 1 tsp. Accent, 1 tsp. salt and ¼ tsp. pepper. Place in shallow baking pan lined with Reynolds Wrap. Bake in 350 oven (moderate) about 1 hr. or until drum stick is tender when pierced with a fork.

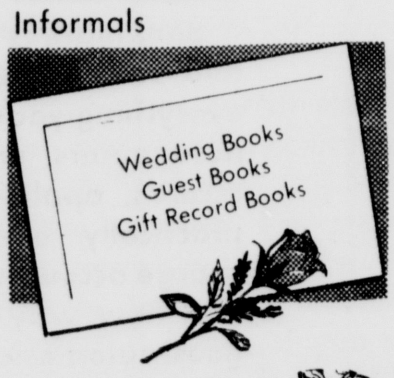

Tip: for tangy flavor, mix 2 tbsps. bottled mustard and 1 tbsp. Worchestershire sauce with Pet milk.

"See you in three weeks!"

Think it can't happen to you? It can with savings here! It's simple as 1, 2, 3!

1.—Decide where you want to go. By car, through New England? By jet, to Spain?

2.—Make an estimate of how much money you'll need. And remember that when you save ahead and pay cash, it costs less.

3.—See one of our savings officers. He's an expert in figuring the modest weekly sum you'll need to save—and the surprising amount our generous, compounded earnings will add to your funds.

Then save faithfully—and start collecting travel folders. Because just like 1, 2, 3—you'll soon be on your way! Start this week.

Bread, Rolls, Muffins, Waffles

QUICK ROLLS

Mrs. Herbert Hillme
37 E. Rosehill
Marshall, Mo.

1½ c. warm water
2 packages of dry yeast
4 cups sifted flour
¼ cup sugar
1½ tsps. salt
one-third c. soft shortening
1 egg, room temperature

Pour warm water into large mixer bowl. Add yeast and let stand about 5 minutes. Stir. Add ½ the flour, sugar, salt, shortening and egg. Set your mixer on medium speed and beat this misture for 1½-2 minutes, until batter is smooth and shiny. (Beating in this recipe takes the place of kneading).

Add remaining flour. Stir in by hand till flour disappears. Cover bowl. Let rise in a warm place till doubled. This takes 30 minutes or more. When batter has risen to desired size, stir a few strokes (20-25) and spoon into greased muffin pans, filling ½ full. Let rise in warm place (about 20-30 minutes). Preheat oven to 425 degrees (hot oven). Bake 10-15 minutes or till brown as you like.

This will fill 18-24 muffin cups, depending on the size you have.

SWEET DOUGH
For Coffee Cake and Sweet Rolls

Mrs. Lillie Hurt
2013 East 7th Street
Sedalia, Mo.

2 packages dry yeast
1 cup lukewarm water
1 cup milk (lukewarm)
½ cup butter
two-thirds cup sugar
1 tsp. salt
2 eggs, well beaten
grated rind and juice of ½ lemon
⅛ tsp. grated nutmeg
7 cups or more of sifted flour

Pour water over yeast, stir and let stand about ten minutes. Scald milk and cool until lukewarm. Cream together the butter, sugar and salt, add eggs, nutmeg and lemon if desired. Add lukewarm milk to softened yeast and blend this liquid with 3 cups of flour. Beat smooth, then add butter mixture and enough flour to make a medium soft dough. Knead smooth but keep as soft as can be handled without sticking. Let rise in a cozy warm place until doubled.

For Coffee Cake

Take sweet dough when risen until light, roll about one-third at a time on a floured board until ½ inch thick. Place in a shallow greased pan. Butter top. Let rise until doubled. Sprinkle top with ½ cup sugar mixed with ½ teaspoon cinnamon. Dot top with bits of butter. Bake about 20 minutes in a medium hot oven 350 degrees.

For Cinnamon Rolls

Take sweet dough when risen until light, roll about one-third at a time until one-third inch thick and 12 to 15 inches wide. Brush with butter. Sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. Roll up as for a jelly roll. Cut slices, place cut side down in buttered pan. Butter tops. Let rise until doubled. Back in moderate oven (350 degrees) 25 minutes or until done. Serve plain or frost with confectioners' sugar frosting.

PHIL'S FRIED MUSH

Dovie Powell
Route 3
Warsaw, Mo.

5 cups water
2 tsps salt
½ lb. fresh well seasoned pork sausage
1½ cups corn meal

Put water in heavy aluminum pan with handle. Bring to full boil. Add salt. Add ¼ tsp. ground sage and ¼ tsp. ground hot peppers or cayenne to sausage. Mix well and crumble in hot water. Turn heat down to medium, sprinkle meal in a little at a time. Keep stirring. When all meal is in, cook slowly boiling & stirring 5 to 10 minutes or until all lumps of meal are out. Cover with lid and simmer slowly 15 minutes longer. Stir often. Pour in mold to cool and set. Not in tin, plastic or foil. Slice and fry in a small amount of butter.

STREUSEL COFFEE CAKE

Mrs. W.D. Martensen
Fortuna

¾ cup warm water
1 pkg. yeast
¼ cup sugar
1 tsp. salt
2¼ cups flour
1 egg
¼ cup soft shortening or butter

In mixing bowl, dissolve yeast in warm water. Add sugar and salt and about half of the flour. Beat thoroughly two minutes. Add egg and shortening. Beat in rest of flour gradually until smooth. Drop small spoonfuls over entire bottom of greased 8 or 9 inch square pan or 10 inch skillet.

Sprinkle with the following: Mix thoroughly 2 tbsp. butter, ½ cup granulated or brown sugar, 2 tbsp. flour, 2 tsp. cinnamon, ½ cup chopped nuts.

Cover, let rise in warm place 50 or 60 minutes, until double in bulk. Heat oven to 375 degrees, bake 30 to 35 minutes, until golden brown. Turn out of pan immediately to avoid sticking.

ROLLS

Mrs. Leonard Yankee
612 East 12th
Sedalia, Mo.

Dissolve 3 packages yeast
½ cup water
1 tbsp. sugar, let rise

Then add:
6 cups hot water
1½ cups sugar
2 tbsps salt
8 tbsps shortening
3 eggs in cup and beat.

Put some flour in and make paste and put eggs and yeast in that and mix real good. Add enough flour to make soft dough and raise. Then partly bake and freeze till ready to use. Bake about 10 minutes. Then take out of freezer and finish baking. Makes about 4 dozen rolls.

WAFFLES

Mrs. Charlie Albin

BREAD STICKS

Mrs. Robert J. Schwan
218 Waterbury Ridge
Heritage Village
Sedalia

1 package dry yeast
1 cup warm water
3 cups flour
3 tablespoons white sugar
1½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoon shortening
Coarse salt (usually sold as salad salt)
1 egg white, room temperature
1 tablespoon water

Combine yeast with cup of warm water and dissolve well. In large bowl combine flour, sugar and salt. Cut in shortening until very fine (I use a fork). Add softened yeast and mix until dough is formed. Cover and let rest in greased bowl about 20 minutes.

Cut off pieces slightly smaller than a golf ball. Roll into long sticks 10-12". Place on a greased backing sheet and let rise 20 minutes.

Brush with egg wash made of beaten egg white and 1 tbsp. water. Sprinkle with coarse salt. Bake at 425 degrees for 12-15 minutes.

HEAVENLY APPLE PIE

Mrs. Raymond Williams
Route 1
LaMonte, Mo.

Line a 9" pie plate with your favorite pastry. Fill with the following ingredients.

two-thirds cup brown sugar
two-thirds cup granulated sugar
1 tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. nutmeg
5 cups freshly cooked or canned apple slices
3 tbsps. butter

Blend sugars, spices and flour. Combine with apple slices. Fill pastry shell. Dot with butter. Cover with pastry; make slits for steam to escape. Bake 425 degrees for 45 to 50 minutes. For a shiny crust brush top with milk before baking.

APRICOT ANGEL CAKE

(Serves 16)

Mrs. Russell S. Lewis
2404 Albert Lee
Sedalia, Mo.

1 Angel Food Cake home baked or 2 bakery cakes
1 46 oz. can apricot nectar
1 tsp. lemon juice
1½ c. sugar
7 tbsps. cornstarch
1 envelope Knox gelatin
1 c. cream whipped
½ to ¾ c. powdered sugar
1 8 oz. pkg. Philadelphia Cream cheese (softened)

Cut cake into small squares or break in pieces. Cook and cool next 4 ingredients. Soak gelatin in ½ c. of the nectar and dissolve it in the hot apricot mixture and cool.

Put a layer of cake pieces in the bottom of a 10x14 pan using half the cake. Cover with half the sauce. Top with another layer of cake then pour over that the other half of the sauce. Be sure all cake is coated. Chill and top with the following:

Whip the cream and add powdered sugar and vanilla. Whip the softened Philadelphia cheese and mix with whipped cream. Spread over pan of cake. Keeps several days. You may use Dream Whip and ¼ c. powdered sugar if you prefer, instead of whipped cream. This is a nice dessert for Halloween if you color cake and topping deep yellow.

RAINBOW FREEZE

(Serves 12)

Mrs. Russell S. Lewis
2404 Albert Lee
Sedalia, Mo.

1 pt. whipping cream
3 tbsps. sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
18 coconut macaroons (1 box Nabisco)
½ c. chopped English walnuts
4 pts. sherbet (1 pt. each of the following)
lime, orange, pineapple and raspberry

Whip cream, add sugar and vanilla. Break macaroons into pieces and drop into whipped cream mixture. Add nuts. Butter a 9x13 pan and pour ½ of the mixture into pan. Alternate teaspoons of sherbets in a full layer over the whipped mixture. Push sherbets against each other rainbow fashion.

Cover with other half of whipped cream mixture and freeze. Cut into squares to serve. Keeps well frozen. Beautiful, easy and delicious.

FRUIT TREE

Mrs. Dale J. Rhoads
Route 1
Smithton

The Fruit Tree can be used as a centerpiece and the fruit served as an appetizer, a breakfast fruit or a simple dessert. Dips for the fruit can be arranged on the tray around the Fruit Tree. The guests will pluck the fruit from the tree, then dip them in one or all of the accompaniments.

To "grow" the Fruit Tree, start with a ball of plastic foam about the size of a large orange (from florist shop or variety store). Insert a small diameter wood dowel about the length of a pencil for tree trunk. Cover the ball with artificial strawberry or other green leaves, tacking them with pins. To support the trunk, fill a small flower pot with plaster of paris.

Use toothpicks to pin fruits to the "top of the tree." Fresh strawberries frozen pineapple chunks and mandarin oranges, melon balls or other combinations may be used. (Use colored wood toothpicks, the plastic ones bend.)

Arrange the following dips around the tree: Orange juice, confectioners sugar, sour cream garnished with grated orange rind, and toasted flaked coconut. Mint leaves, parsley or other geenery can be used to garnish the tray.

GERMAN SWEET CHOCOLATE PIE

Mrs. C.A. Masters
405 East 19th St.
Sedalia

1 package (4 oz.) Bakers German Sweet Chocolate
¼ cup butter
1 and two-thirds cups evaporated milk
1½ cups sugar
3 tablespoon cornstarch
2 eggs
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 unbaked 10 inch pie shell, fluted
1 and one-third cups Bakers Angel Flake Coconut
½ cup chopped pecans

Melt chocolate with butter over low heat, stir until blended. Remove from heat; gradually blend in milk. Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt thoroughly; beat in egg and vanilla.

Gradually blend in chocolate mixture. Pour into pie shell. Mix coconut and nuts; sprinkle over filling. Bake at 375 degrees for 45 to 50 minutes or until top is puffed and brown. (Filling will be soft, but will set when cool.) Cool 4 hours or more. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

Note: If topping browns too quickly, cover loosely with aluminum foil during the last 15 minutes of baking to prevent over browning.

QUICK FRUITED RASPBERRIES

Mrs. Myloh Eckhoff
Cole Camp

1 pkg. raspberry jello
1 cup hot water
½ cup cold water
1 10 oz. ounce pkg. frozen raspberries
1 banana

About 1½ hours before serving: Add raspberry jello to hot water, while stirring until dissolved. Add cold water and frozen block of raspberries. Stir until fruit thaws, mixture is slightly thickened. Fold in peeled, thinly-sliced bananas. Pour into a pretty bowl. Refrigerate until firm, makes six servings.

OLD FASHIONED CUSTARD PIE

Mrs. Bruce Ulmer
1007 So. Arlington
Sedalia

1 nine inch unbaked pie shell
4 slightly beaten eggs
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon almond
2½ cups heated sweet milk
Nutmeg

Blend eggs, sugar, salt, vanilla and almond extract. Gradually stir in milk. Pour into unbaked crust. Bake at 400 degrees for 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 250 degrees and finish baking until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Remove from oven and sprinkle with nutmeg, lightly.

STRAWBERRY FROZEN DESSERT

Mrs. Esther Porter
802 Ruthann Drive, Sedalia

4⅜ cups whipping cream
5 cups powdered sugar
1 pound butter (or margarine)
2½ cups chopped nuts
10 eggs
8¾ cups frozen strawberries

Cookie crumbs — you may prefer gingersnaps, graham crackers, vanilla wafers or chocolate wafers. Cream sugar and butter, beat eggs slightly and blend, add strawberries, and nuts, whip cream and fold in, chill in refrigerator. Line bottom of pan with cookie crumbs. Top with remaining crumbs. Freeze at least 24 hours, otherwise it will be soft even though it will taste good. Makes 50 servings. Very good for clubs.

UPSIDE DOWN APPLE PIE
Mrs. Fred L. Fowler
1208 East 9th, Sedalia

¼ cup butter or margarine
two-thirds cup pecan halves
two-thirds cup brown sugar, firmly packed
6 cups sliced apples
½ tsp. each lemon, butter and burnt sugar flavoring
¼ tsp. salt
¼ cup water or cream
½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
½ tsp. each cinnamon & nutmeg
¼ cup butter or margarine
Pastry for two crust pie

Spread butter over bottom and sides of a nine inch pie pan. Arrange pecan halves, flat side up, over bottom and sides of the pan. Cover with the two-thirds cup of brown sugar, then cover with the bottom layer of pastry. Combine flavorings and water or cream and pour over apples in a bowl. Combine the rest of ingredients, all but butter, and mix with apples.

Then put into pie pan. Level and cover with dots of ¼ cup of butter and cover with top crust. Bake in 450 degree oven 10 minutes, reduce the heat to 350 and bake 30 minutes more or until apples are tender. When done remove from oven and turn on to a serving plate at once. Serve with whipped cream or ice cream.

LEMON CHIFFON PIE

Mrs. Lucile Ballah
Route 3, Box 215A, Sedalia

1 envelope Knox unflavored gelatin
1 cup sugar, divided
⅛ tsp. salt
4 eggs, separated
½ cup lemon juice
¼ cup water
2 tsps. grated lemon rind
1 9 inch baked pie shell

Mix gelatin, ½ cup of the sugar and salt thoroughly in top of double boiler. Beat egg yolks, lemon juice and water together; add to gelatin. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly until gelatin is dissolved, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in grated lemon rind. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from spoon. Beat egg whites until stiff. Beat in remaining ½ cup sugar. Fold gelatin mixture into stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into a baked pie shell. Chill until firm. Garnish with whipped cream if desired.

TWO CRUST LEMON PIE

Mrs. Jimmie Singleton
407 West Broadway, Sedalia

LEMON FILLING

Combine:
1¼ cups sugar
2 tbsps. flour
⅛ tsp salt
Blend in:
¼ cup soft margarine, mixed thoroughly with spoon
Add:
2 eggs, well beaten, reserve one tsp. egg white for crust

Blend well until smooth. Grate 1 tsp. lemon rind from one medium size lemon, peel the lemon and cut lemon into paper thin slices, about one-third cup. Add 1 cup water, lemon rind and lemon slices to sugar mixture, blend well. Pour into unbaked pie shell and top with pie crust, rubbing egg white on top crust. Bake in moderately hot oven, 400 degrees, 35 minutes.

PUMPKIN PIE

Mrs. Paul McLaughlin
Route 2, Nelson, Mo.

2 cups cooked and strained pumpkin
1 cup whole milk
3 eggs
½ cup sugar
1¼ tsps. cinnamon
¼ tsp. cloves
¼ tsp. nutmeg
¼ tsp. ginger
¼ tsp. salt

Method: Mix together the cooked pumpkin and milk. Add well beaten egg yolks. Add sugar which has been sifted with the spices and salt. Beat until all ingredients are well blended. Last fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into ar unbaked pastry shell and bake until the filling is firm.

ESKIMO PIE

Mrs. E. O. Farier
Lincoln, Mo.

2 egg yolks
½ cup white sugar
1 pinch salt
½ cup sweet milk
½ cup cold water
¾ tbsp. plain gelatin
½ pint whipping cream
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
15 graham crackers
1 tsp. vanilla
2 tbsp. brown sugar
3 tbsp. melted butter

Cook egg yolks, milk, sugar, and salt into a custard using a double boiler. Dissolve gelatin in the cold water and add to the custard mixture while it is hot. Put in refrigerator to cool while you prepare the rest.

Roll graham crackers into crumbs, add brown sugar and melted to crumb mixture. Place half of crumbs in the bottom of a bake dish. Whip cream and beat egg whites until stiff, add to the cooled custard and fold in until thoroughly mixed, Don't beat it.

Pour mixture into the crumb shell and sprinkle over the top the remaining crumbs. Let chill in the refrigerator at least two hours. I sometimes freeze mine and think it is better.

SOUR CREAM COFFEE CAKE
Mrs. Gerald G. Goll
204 Waterbury Ridge
Sedalia
½ cup shortening
¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 eggs
2 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ pint commercial sour cream
6 tablespoon butter
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup chopped nuts

Cream shortening, sugar and vanilla thoroughly. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Sift flour baking powder and soda together. Add to creamed mixture alternately with sour cream blending after each addition. Spread half of batter in greased 10" tube pan. Cream butter, brown sugar and cinnamon together. Add nuts and mix well. Dot batter in pan evenly with half of nut mixture. Cover with remaining batter. Dot with remaining nut mixture. Bake about 50 minutes at 350 degrees.

NO BAKE FRUIT CAKE
Mrs. Edna Simpson
Bunceton
1 cup small marshmallows
8 cups graham cracker crumbs
2 cups seedless raisins
1 pkg. (8 oz.) pitted dates (chopped)
1½ cup diced mixed candied fruit
1½ cup walnuts (coarsely chopped)
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon cloves
6 tablespoons orange juice
1 cup milk (undilated)

Line loaf pan with wax paper — set aside.

In large bowl combine all ingredients except orange juice and milk. Mix well with hands and remaining ingredients until graham cracker crumbs are moistened. Cover with foil and let set in refrigerator for at least 2 days.

ORANGE CANDY CAKE
Mrs. Albert Parsons
Sweet Springs, Mo.
1 cup butter
2 cups sugar
5 eggs
1 tbsp. vanilla
1 8-oz pkg. dates, cut up
1 lb pkg. orange slice candy, cut up
2 cups pecans, chopped
1 4-oz can shredded coconut
4 cups sifted flour
½ tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
¾ cup buttermilk

Cream butter and sugar until fluffy. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Add vanilla. Mix dates, candy, nuts and coconut with ¼ cup flour. Sift remaining dry ingredients: alternately fold them into creamed mixture with buttermilk.

Fold in fruit-nut mixture. Spoon into well-greased and floured 10" tube pan. Bake in slow oven (300) for 2½ hours, or until done.

Remove cake from oven and pour on a syrup of 1 tsp each grated orange and lemon peal, ¼ cup each orange and lemon juice and ½ cup confectioners sugar.

Cool on rack; then remove from pan. For improved flavor and ease in cutting, wrap cake in aluminum foil and refrigerate at least one day before cutting.

Sweet and moist with the flavor of fruit cake, but without the expense.

1 cup white sugar
½ cup shortening
1 tsp. cinnamon
¼ tsp. allspice
¼ tsp. nutmet
2 cups sifted all purpose flour
2 tsp. soda
½ tsp. salt
½ cup chopped nuts
4 cups chopped, peeled, raw apples

Cream shortening and sugar in large mixing bowl. Add eggs and beat well. Sift dry ingredients together and add to creamed mixture. Add apples, nuts and mix well. Batter will be stiff. Bake 40 to 45 minutes in 350 degree oven. Serve with whipped cream or ice cream.

CHEESE CAKE
Mrs. Olen E. Downs
Route 4, Sedalia

CRUST

¾ cup graham cracker crumbs
1 tbsp. sugar
1 tbsp. melted butter

FILLING

3 pkgs. (8 oz.) cream cheese
4 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
1 cup sugar

Beat together.

TOPPING

2 cups dairy sour cream
1 tbsp. sugar
1 tsp. vanilla

Preheat oven 375 degrees. Combine crumbs, sugar and butter for crust and spread evenly in bottom of 9 inch spring form pan. In large bowl of mixer beat cheese until light, add eggs, sugar and vanilla. Continue beating until light and fluffy. Pour into crust in pan. Bake 45 minutes. Remove cake from oven, spread topping evenly over cake. Bake 5 minutes longer. Cool, refrigerate 5 hours or overnight. Freezes well.

FEATHER SPONGE CAKE
Mrs. Robert Oelrichs
Mora, Mo.

6 egg yolks
½ cup cold water
1½ cups sugar
½ tsp. vanilla
½ tsp. orange or lemon extract
1½ cups cake flour
¼ tsp. salt
6 egg whites
¾ tsp. cream of tartar

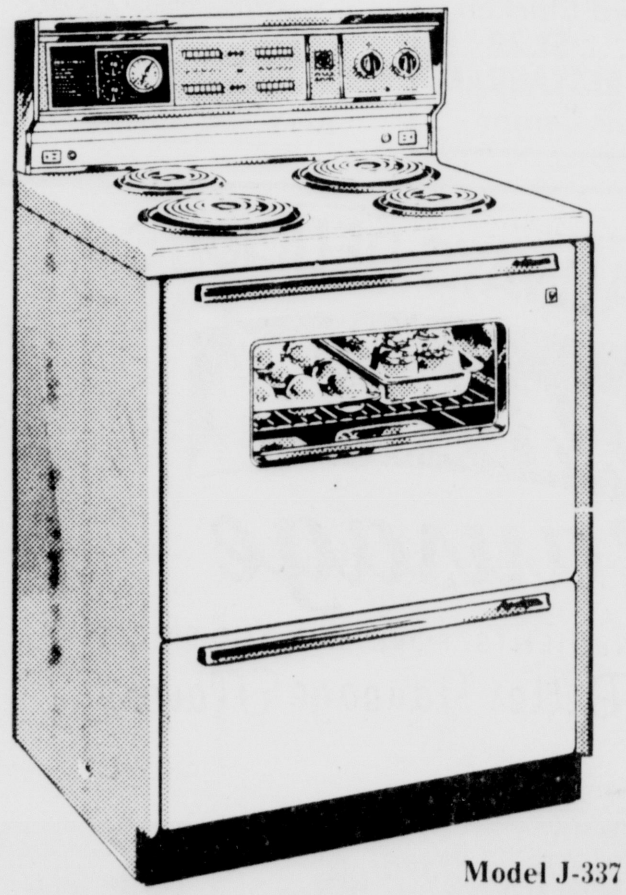

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored. Add water and continue beating until very thick. Gradually beat in sugar, then extract. Fold in flour sifted with sald, a little at a time. Beat egg whites until foamy, add cream of tartar and beat until they form moist glossy peaks. Fold into egg yolk mixture. Bake in 10 in. ungreased angel-cake pan in slow oven 325 degrees for 1 hour. Invert pan to cool.

PINEAPPLE UPSIDE-DOWN CAKE

Mrs. Michael DeLozier
237. S. Park, Sedalia

½ cup butter
1 cup brown sugar
1 No. 2 can sliced pineapple
1 cup sifted cake flour
2 tbsp. whole pecans
1 tsp. baking powder
⅛ tsp. salt
3 eggs, separated
1 cup granulated sugar
5 tbsp. pineapple juice

Melt butter in large baking pan. Spread brown sugar evenly in pan and arrange pineapple slices on sugar, filling in spaces with pecans (if desired.) Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Beat egg yolks until light, adding sugar gradually. Add pineapple juice and sifted flour, fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour batter over pineapple. Bake in 375 degree oven for 30 to 35 minutes.

CAKE ICING

Mrs. Buddy Elsea
1301 East Boonville, Sedalia

1 cup shortening
3 tbsp. water
1 tsp. vanilla
1 pound box powdered sugar

Whip shortening until fluffy. Add water and vanilla and ¾ box of powdered sugar and mix well. Then add rest of powdered sugar.

VANILLA WAFER CAKE

Mrs. Everett Stevenson
Smithton, Mo.

1 pkg. (12 oz.) vanilla wafers, crushed
2 sticks oleo creamed with
2 cups sugar

Add 6 eggs one at a time and beat well. Add crushed wafers alternately with ½ cup sweet milk. Add 1 can angel flake cocoanut and 1 cup chopped nuts. Bake in greased and floured tube pan 1 hour and 15 minutes at 325 degrees.

PINEAPPLE CAKE

Mrs. J. C. H. Greer
Route 4, Sedalia

Mix together:
1½ cups sugar
2 cups flour
2 tsps. soda
2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple, juice and all.

No shortening in cake. Bake in oblong pan 9x12x3, greased and floured, 30 minutes in a 350 degree oven.

ICING

1 cup sugar
1 stick margarine
1 small can Pet milk

Mix together and boil 2 minutes, remove from heat and add 1 cup angel flake cocoanut. Pour icing over cake while icing and cake are both hot.

GERMAN CARROT CAKE

Mrs. Harry Heimsoth
1500 East 9th, Sedalia

2 cups sifted flour
2 cups sugar
2 tsp. soda
2 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. salt

Mix together, then add
1½ cups liquid oil

Beat well and add 3 cups raw grated carrots, add 4 eggs one at a time and beat after each. Nuts may be added. Bake in 350 degree oven for 30 to 40 minutes.

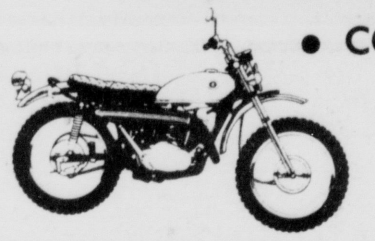

ICING

8 oz. pkg. creamed cheese
1 box powdered sugar
½ cup butter
2 tsps. vanilla

Cream butter and cheese and add sugar. Beat, then add 4 oz. pkg. of flaked cocoanut. Put icing on cake while still warm as it spreads better.

How to Recognize Their Danger Signals

Ask Them Yourself

FOR PRES. RICHARD M. NIXON

How do you feel about the proposition of allowing 18-year-olds to vote? —B. R., Waco, Texas

● I have supported the proposition since it was first suggested. The reason is not so much because they are old enough to fight but rather because they are smart enough to vote. I have been tremendously impressed by the way our young people have an interest in world affairs today.

FOR DR. MARIE HINRICHS, American Medical Association

What institution would make the most use of a person's whole body for transplants or medical research?—C. Neuman, Chambersburg, Colo.

● The National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws is proposing a uniform anatomical gift code which would permit a person to donate his body or a part thereof for research or transplants to the following: 1) any hospital, surgeon, or physician; 2) any accredited medical or dental school, college, or university for education or research; 3) any bank or storage facility for medical or dental education or research; or 4) any specified individual for therapy or transplantation.

FOR LOU BROCK, outfielder, St. Louis Cards

What is your best time in the 100-yard dash? What is the proper way to slide when wearing metal spikes?—Neil Nagano, Morro Bay, Calif.

● I have never been timed in the 100-yard dash, but I'm sure it wouldn't match the times of today's sprinters. The secret of sliding is to slide with your body low to the ground, using the sides of your hips and legs as buffers.

FOR WOODY ALLEN, comedian

You started writing comedy material when you were 17. Can you tell me the best way to begin a career?—Miss Bonnie Doll, Quincy, Mass.

● I began by sending jokes to columnists in daily newspapers. It got my name around and eventually led to job offers. Another way is to get the address of a comic you'd like to write for and start barraging him with material. If you've really got the talent, you'll eventually get his interest.

FOR MARJE FIELDS, Vice president Voigts and Fields Agency

How can I get my child considered for a tv commercial? Is it necessary to live in New York City?—Eileen Salvo, Patchogue, N. Y.

● First, take several head snapshots of the child and submit them with a covering letter to a reputable agent. Next, telephone the agent for an appointment. If he agrees that the child has commercial possibilities, he will advise you further. Although it is not essential to live in New York, you should live close by because auditions are held after school each day, and the actual shooting can begin as early as 6 a.m.

FOR DON ADAMS of "Get Smart"

Were you the voice for the cartoon character, Tennessee Tuxedo?—J. N., Niagara Falls, N. Y.

● Yes, that was I.

FOR JACK WEBB of "Dragnet 1969"

Why did you choose sergeant badge 714 for your television series symbol? E. A. Honeycutt, Bluefield, W. Va.

● We gave Joe Friday the rank of sergeant because it fit into the show's story theme. When the series began in 1949, badges in the 700 series seemed in the far-away future. I figured 7 was a lucky number, went for the 700 series, and picked 14 as the double of 7.

FOR JULIE ANDREWS

How long does it take to prepare a typical musical number for one of your movies? — Barbara Deane, Kansas City, Mo.

● In "Star," for example, it took up to three months to prepare a number such as "Jenny," involving a large cast, some difficult stunts, and some tricky acrobatics, which I had to do myself.

FOR DEAN MARTIN

Do you select the songs you sing on your show? How about the songs for your guests?—Mrs. Donna Birmingham, Battle Creek, Mich.

● Usually the show staff selects the songs, since they know what I like. Sometimes I change the selections, however. In the case of guests, our staff usually confers with them before selecting songs.

WHAT IN THE WORLD!

Monkey Talk A tired adage says that if you give a monkey a typewriter and the infinity of time, he'll produce the works of Shakespeare. Well, someone at London's Chessington Zoo decided to put the adage to a test. He gave an orangutan two typewriters and all the time he wanted. Some 20 minutes after learning to operate the machines, the orangutan got bored and went back to his swing, but not before authoring his literary masterpiece, titled "skmadsex." Pop writing!

College for Bright Kids Soon prodigies of 14 and 15 will have a college of their own. Dr. Marie L. Fetsch, who heads a day school, notes that brilliant high-school grads of that age are often considered too young to get into college. On Long Island, the Sands Point Fetsch College for Gifted Students will open on the site of the phased-out Navy base in 1969 or '70 for 1,000 of the world's young geniuses. Minimum requirements: IQ of 130; "A" average; college-board scores in verbal and math, 650 each. Goal: Ph.D. by 20. Cost: room, board, and tuition, $4,000 a year.

Free the Epileptic "The epileptic child needs no more rest than any other child," says Samuel Livingston, M.D., director of Johns Hopkins Epilepsy Clinic. "To force him to rest indoors when everyone else is out playing only makes him feel deprived." One person in 100 in the U.S. suffers from epilepsy, and there is no evidence that it will be aggravated by a head injury. With modern medical care, symptoms can be eliminated, or at least reduced, to allow the epileptic child a normal life, including play, school, jobs, marriage, and children.

Ski Craze Now you can enjoy the thrills of the ski slopes without any of the dangers—in fact, without knowing how to ski. All you need have is a "sitzski," a portable device which resembles a bicycle on runners. It's safer because the sitzskier has a low center of gravity (hard to overturn), four contact points with the ground, and can ski under control regardless of snow conditions. Need more assurance? Well, they've been recommended to nonskiers by Jean-Claude Killy, who knows a little about the sport.

Of All the Nerve! DePauw University dean's list co-ed Sally Wilton is a compulsive letter writer. She registered at New York's posh Plaza Hotel just to use their letterhead and request $100,000 from tycoon Howard Hughes—to underwrite her proposed 45-minute film starring (hopefully) Rod Steiger. Hughes did respond—explaining he accepted film ideas only through agents. Next target is painter Marc Chagall, to ask him to illustrate a children's story she dreamed up. Sally describes herself as, "impulsive, irrational, giddy." Accurate, too!

Go-getter Sally Wilton

Experts Explain—Why Our

Campus riots, drugs, premarital sex— here is an in-depth appraisal of the reasons for youth's seemingly violent reactions to today's world

By THEODORE IRWIN

THEY STAGE sit-in strikes at high schools and colleges. Turn on with drugs. Turn off by dressing like hippies. "Cop out" by running away from home.

Daily, teen-agers voice milder forms of defiance, whether it's objecting to cleaning up their messy rooms or arguing with parents over other domestic rules. Clearly, the "shook-up" younger generation is rebelling, and confused adults find it revolting.

The dissent syndrome is contagious, a widespread epidemic, as it sifts down from college-age youth, to younger kids. What's behind it? What does rebellion tell us as parents? How can we cope with it?

Before trying to understand what's happening, let's start with some reassurance. Dr. William A. Schonfeld, president of the American Society for Adolescent Psychiatry, reminds us that youthful insurrection can be normal—and healthy.

"Rebellion," says Doctor Schonfeld, "can help teen-agers grow. It is an important part of their development. Often, when they experiment —'doing their own thing'—they test out their parents or institutions, by trial and error, to see just how far they can go. Like all of us, youth has a right to be angry. There's a need for healthy aggression, and if sports don't provide it, rebellion can be a positive use of their energy."

Dr. Herbert Gans, research sociologist at the Center for Urban Education, sees positive rebellion this way: "Each new generation wants change. Youthful dissent is an index of the social changes going on. When youngsters become angry at not being listened to, they channel their anger in various ways. This aggression is part of normal life."

Dr. Gerald Alpern, Indiana University research psychiatrist, adds: "The adolescent needs to go through a period of revolt. If he did not, he would be much like the very young child who depends on his parents for every decision, for his emotional well-being. When an unhappy person waits until he is 35 or 40 to revolt, it usually takes more drastic forms."

It is comforting to hear that not all dissident youngsters are unhappy. In group-protest movements, they get a soul-satisfying exhilaration out of planning, gathering information, making decisions, and involving others. Some young people have been heard to brag about how many times they've been "busted" by police.

But when is rebellion unhealthy and harmful? Psychiatrists generally agree that extreme forms of anti-social dissent are destructive: such acts as wrecking school files, rioting, use of drugs, sexual promiscuity, or any action that is physically or emotionally detrimental. Unfortunately, some youths rebel merely for the sake of rebelling—and their methods may prove disastrous.

What criteria then can we use to distinguish between the harmful and the normal? "When youth's rebellion takes the form of involvement and a sincere effort to effect reasonable changes for the better, then it can have meaning," advises Doctor Schonfeld. "The principle of wanting change is realistic. But if they merely defy the patterns of society as a way of attracting attention or escaping boredom, then their rebellion serves no social purpose."

According to social scientists, the young rebels fall into types. There are the passive and uncommitted rebels, who withdraw from the Establishment. In contrast, the activists usually have real convictions and try to do something about them. Some are conformists, rebelling because their friends suffer similar pains. They follow a leader or hero who articulates their gripes.

Their rebellion takes a variety of forms. Young people act out their feelings in individual patterns. Some of them are familiar and overt, others are hidden.

Many adults, for instance, are unaware that failure at school may be a conscious or unconscious protest against parental pressure to achieve good grades. This weapon against parents is termed "passive aggression" by child-study experts.

Another weapon is running away from home. Many youngsters can't get along with parents and look elsewhere for another "family," perhaps among the communal hippies and "flower children," most of whom are passive rebels, although some have recently become politically active and more revolutionary.

"The hippie movement," contends Dr. Gisela Konopka of the University of Minnesota, "is really a revolt against the affluent environment of our times. By experiencing hardships, they hope to gain a sense of significance and struggle."

As for sexual misbehavior, some authorities maintain that it generally represents defiance—a girl wants to prove she's grown up. Doctor Gans, however, sees it as a form of change, not rebellion, attributed to the precocious sexual development of girls. Yet a girl often spells out her revolt with a very early marriage.

Experimenting with or taking to "pot" and other narcotics is a device for "tuning out." The community is defied when these young people can do what adults scream should not be done. For inhibited young people who can't voice dissent at home, "pot" and other drugs may give them a sense of togetherness in a group

What to Do If Your Youngster Rebels

If you are a parent faced with a rebellious son or daughter, here are some helpful suggestions, based on advice by a panel of experts:

- Make yourself available to discuss whatever is troubling your teen-ager and help him find a logical solution.
- Try to view the problems through his eyes. Look at what he's angry about, instead of being angry with him.
- Have him learn to trust you, which means starting early in childhood. Once he trusts his parents, this tends to produce respect for the adult generation in general.
- Constant appeasement and permissiveness will not work. Limits have to be set. While firm discipline may be met with clamor and protest, these are often face-saving gestures. Basically, a teen-ager appreciates an adult's ability to resist his unrealistic demands.
- Ask yourself: Is his behavior really hurting him or anyone else? Is your child unique? Being "different" does not necessarily make his behavior bad.
- Don't feel personally assaulted by such fads as long hair and odd clothes. Recognize them as a teen-ager's attempt at individuality.
- You owe your child a reasonable explanation for family rules and the demands made on him.
- Restrain your pressures on him to "win" and be popular.
- Be aware that something is wrong if he does not kick up now and then.
- Observe the three A's: affection, acceptance, approval. Part of real affection means giving a child the freedom to express himself as an individual, whether in anger or dissent.
- Adults, in general, should involve youth in a meaningful way in civic projects and school committees, permitting them to take part in planning and decision-making.

Teen-Agers Rebel

Feelings of depression could spark rebellion. Youngsters have ventilated their emotional hang-ups through tantrums, truancy, stealing, and a wide range of delinquent behavior. "Those who turn inward, to sick expressions of depression, are the real acid-heads, the real LSD nuts," notes Doctor Alpern.

What about the armies of demonstrators who are hopping mad over the war in Vietnam, the draft, or their schools?

"Their gripes are tangible," says Doctor Gans. "In school, many teachers don't know how to teach. Curricula often are geared to the 19th century. Professors go off on research. Some students see the university as a microcosm of society and attack society through the university.

On the political front, the young activists want to change the "system," to build a new world. The late Sen. Robert Kennedy and Sen. Eugene McCarthy were their voices and apparently gave them hope. These heroes listened to youth and made dissent respectable.

Despite the various "causes" that have emerged, Doctor Schonfeld believes that many participate without purpose or ideals. "They merely identify with a youth movement. While they speak of peace and love, they cruelly disregard their parents and incite riots."

Just why American youths rebel does not always appear on the surface. Obviously, they protest the Vietnam war because they believe it's "stupid and unjust." At school, they're bored with dull courses. But what really underlies their unrest and drives them to revolt?

As every harassed father and mother knows, a teen-ager is changing physically, mentally, and emotionally. He's in a sort of "second infancy." He has bade farewell to childhood—but is not yet ready for adulthood. In this period of transition and turmoil, he wants to know, "Who am I?" Questions crop up about sex, career, religion, independence. All are fertile fields for resistance to authority—first his parents, then his teachers, and finally, the community itself.

Another area of turmoil in families is created by what Doctor Schonfeld calls the "Great Expectations Syndrome." Girls have to be popular at parties and dances; boys must excel in sports or in school grades. If a youth sees himself failing—according to his elders' standards of success—he is likely to rebel in one way or another. By running away to a slum, for instance, the suburban youngster evades the demands put on him by his parents.

Looking around, the discontented youngster of a middle-class family may rebel against the "rat race"—the materialistic values of his parents. "In our affluent society," remarks Doctor Schonfeld, "many youngsters don't have to strive for survival or economic success. So they are content to struggle for more idealistic concepts."

Many young people feel that schools, our political set-up, and their parents are getting stale, so they want to shake us up. They simply want a change.

This is vividly reflected in some of their favorite songs, such as Phil Ochs' "Changes" and Bob Dylan's "The Times They Are A-Changin.'" The Dylan song calls upon mothers and fathers not to criticize what they don't understand. "Your sons and daughters are beyond your command, your old rules are rapidly aging . . ."

Essentially, the "acting-out" and activist rebels are trying to tell us they're dissatisfied with existing conditions, don't find a valid place for themselves in building their own world, and are searching for a purpose in life. Some want a "bloodless revolution," though they're not sure what they're striving for will be any better than what we already have. Others believe they can find contentment in a guru-type of Asiatic philosophy or religion.

"We're developing a new life cycle called adolescence," says Doctor Gans, endeavoring to explain the phenomenon. "Until recently, kids went to work directly from elementary or high school. But now affluence has prolonged the period of adolescence, and youngsters have more time for rebellion. And we're just not sure how they ought to behave."

Doctor Schonfeld views youthful rebellion as a free expression of feelings. If Johnny's father resents his boss, he can't express his feelings directly for fear of losing his job. Johnny, on the other hand, has much less to lose since he's not dependent on the Establishment, so he does let loose his resentments.

Part of the responsibility may lie with parents, Mrs. Selma B. Ortof of the Child Study Association of America points out. "A mother wants her daughter to start dating and going to parties at the age of 12, even using eye make-up. But then she will not permit her daughter to act out or be flirtatious at that age."

Everything boils down to one question: what can parents do to prevent their offspring's rebellion or at least keep it within healthy, constructive bounds? Unfortunately, there is no one, all-encompassing answer. But one helpful thought came from Judge Leo Blessing of New Orleans, La.: "One sure cure for adolescence is age. If we can suffer with them, be patient and tolerant, they will grow older—and hopefully wiser." ◆

Plus FREE ALL-TRANSISTOR RADIO

This solid-state, all-transistor radio is so compact that it fits in the palm of your hand—yet its dynamic speaker enables you to hear your favorite programs with amazing clarity. Attractive too—comes complete with battery, earphone for private listening and a convenient wrist strap.

Tops any record club offer ever made!

Just think of it! Now you can get ANY 12 of the hit records shown here—all 12 for less than the price of one! That's right—if you join the Columbia Record Club now, you may have ANY 12 of these records for only $3.98! What's more, we'll even give you the attractive all-transistor radio shown at the left as a free gift! And all you have to do is agree to buy a record a month during the coming ten months.

In short, within ten months you'll have a sizable library of 22 records—but you'll have paid for just half of them...that's practically a 50% saving off regular Club prices—and you get a free radio besides!

FREE MUSIC MAGAZINE. You'll have no problem in selecting a record a month during your membership, because each monthly issue contains up to 300 different records to choose from...hit albums from every field of music, from scores of different record labels! You may accept the monthly selection for the field of music in which you are mainly interested...or take any of the other records offered—the choice is entirely up to you.

RECORDS SENT ON CREDIT. Upon enrollment, the Club will open a charge account in your name...you pay for your records only after you have received them—played them—and are enjoying them. They will be mailed and billed to you at the regular Club price of $4.98 (Classical, occasional Original Cast recordings and special albums somewhat higher), plus a mailing and handling charge.

FANTASTIC BONUS PLAN. As soon as you complete your enrollment agreement, you will automatically become eligible for the Club's bonus plan—which entitles you to one record free for every one you buy. There are no "saving certificates" to accumulate, no delays, no limitations—every time you buy a record, you get another one free! Under this plan you pay as little as $2.84 a record (including all mailing and handling charges) for all your records.

SEND NO MONEY—MAIL THE COUPON TODAY! Just write in the numbers of the twelve records you want, for which you will be billed only $3.98, plus postage and handling. Be sure to indicate the type of music in which you are mainly interested. Act now!

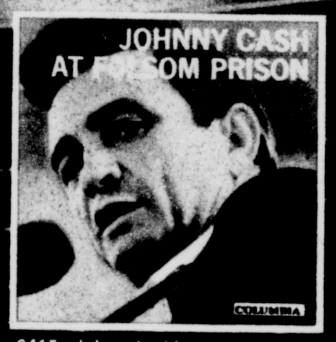

Note: Since stereo records may now be played on monaural (regular high-fidelity) phonographs, and cost no more than monaural records, all of your records will be sent in stereo.

Will You Be the Victim of a

They are warning signals of a possible massive stroke later; if heeded immediately, doctors

By JIM WINCHESTER

JOHN WAS 46 years old, a self-reliant, somewhat overweight man. One night at dinner he became dizzy and confused.

His arm was so weak he couldn't lift a fork. When he tried to talk, the words were blurred. In a few minutes, though, he was okay. "Gee, Pop," his teen-age daughter chided him, "you'd better lay off those cocktails after this."

Only it wasn't the liquor. John, like half-a-million other Americans each year, had suffered a "little" stroke. Over the next few years he had others: a slight numbness in the face when shaving, passing vertigo, a brief, upset stomach.

Unfortunately, John didn't recognize—or heed—these red flags. Then one morning he woke up to find his right hand numb and a little awkward. At breakfast the coffee pot slipped from his grip. Half-an-hour later his right leg was paralyzed. This was a real stroke, a major medical tragedy which severely cripples or kills almost one million Americans every year.

If a doctor had been called in early enough, the big, shattering stroke might have been averted. Too often, though, patients fail to tell their physician what has happened to them. By the time they have their next physical check-up the incidents are forgotten or ignored. Without a history, doctors aren't likely to diagnose an ailment whose symptoms have vanished.

A "little" stroke may also be temporarily overlooked because of something else which happened at the same time. A man who blacks-out on the street might be picked up as a drunk because his breath smells of alcohol. Or a husband will worry about the bump on his wife's head after she "tripped"—when actually a "little" stroke was responsible for the accident.

A stroke—little or large—occurs when the blood supply to a part of the brain is reduced or completely cut off. This can be caused by a blood clot or by bleeding from an artery in the brain. When the nerve cells of a part of the brain are deprived of their blood supply and the oxygen it carries, the part or parts of the body controlled by these nerve centers cannot function normally.

The violence of the episode will vary, depending largely on the position in the brain of the tissue that is hurt and how much damage is done. The shock to the nerve cells may be so small that bad effects are minor and are over within minutes. In other cases, nature steps in quickly, diverting the blood through another artery so it by-passes the injury entirely. The duties of the area that has been hit are then taken over by other parts of the brain.

Little strokes, at the time they happen, seldom do major damage. It usually takes a number of them over a period of years to build up to the point where a big stroke occurs. As warnings, however, little strokes are vitally important. When caught early, though, doctors can now apply many modern measures to prevent real trouble.

A brief numbness of arms and legs, stumbling speech, forgetfulness or a spinning head, for instance, very well may indicate that one or more of the four neck arteries supplying blood to the brain is narrowed or clotted to such an extent that the brain is being denied some of its needed nourishment.

If this is a probable cause, a dye is injected into the blood stream. As it surges up through the neck on a scheduled three-second trip through the brain, rapid-fire X rays are taken. Where there is a block, a dark shadow appears. What's wrong and where is clearly outlined. Surgeons can then make an incision and scrape away the obstruction. Often, crippling or fatal damage is prevented.

More commonly, new drugs are used today to help avoid a major stroke. They are particularly effective in lowering and controlling high blood pressure and keeping blood from clotting.

If a person is prone to stroke—and this is revealed by early warnings—anticoagulants boost chances of survival by 33 percent, long-term medical surveys reveal. Most of these drugs which are prescribed today can be taken orally. Research also is advanced on purified enzymes to dissolve blood clots which have already formed.

Most strokes occur, though, when a weak part of an artery in the brain itself bursts under high blood pressure, just like a blow out in a tire, causing hemorrhaging.

Until a few years ago, there was no effective treatment for hypertension, the medical name for prolonged high blood pressure. When the disorder lasted too long, death or damage was considered inevitable.

Hypertension is now on the run. It still can't be cured, but a growing family of medications can control it by keeping pressures from reaching dangerous levels. Normal blood-pressure readings vary considerably with each individual. Most physicians, however, consider a reading of more than 135 over 95 suspicious in an adult. A continued reading of 150 over 100 or above usually calls for medical attention.

Until the early 1950s there were few drugs designed specifically to treat high blood pressure. The first effective one was derived from a chemical substitute for curare, the muscle-paralyzing poison made from a plant bark by South American Indians. An even more effective drug extracted from rauwolfia, a plant grown in India, where it has been used for centuries as a children's sedative, a snake-bite remedy, and to treat mental illness, was the next advance in the war against hypertension.

A few years later another drug —guanethidine—was developed. It inhibits the manufacture of a powerful hormone produced by the adrenal glands. Because the hormone constricts blood vessels, the heart has to pump harder to force blood through the body—and so blood pressure goes up. And, too, diuretics, which wash excess salts from the body, also are now in wide use in the treatment of high blood pressure.

Many times, a combination of these and other drugs are used to help prevent strokes. Together, they are given much of the credit for lowering the death rate from hypertension can prevent crippling or fatal damage

and related heart disease by nearly 50 percent in the last 15 years. Dr. Irving H. Page, a world authority on cardiovascular disease, says they are responsible for "a quiet revolution, representing a great unsung victory. Hypertension is a killer being tamed."

The earlier the symptoms of stroke are recognized and reported, the sooner and better the chances for preventive care. Dr. Walter Alvarez of Chicago, formerly with the Mayo Clinic, says:

"A little stroke may be suspected whenever a man or a woman past 38 years of age or so has a mental and nervous disability that is out of all proportion to the little indigestion, abdominal, or chest pains that are being complained about; a sudden nervous breakdown; or unexpected dizzy spells, blackouts, or stumbling."

Dr. Alvarez, who is credited with focusing much of today's medical attention on the importance of little strokes, tells of one case: "Recently, a 50-year-old executive was referred to me for treatment of a suspected duodenal ulcer, diagnosed because of a few indefinite changes in X rays. Because his complaint wasn't that of hunger pain but rather of feelings of weakness, queerness in the head, depression, and inability to concentrate on his work, I questioned his wife. I learned that the illness had appeared after two brief spells when he had become mentally confused and had fallen down for a moment. He'd had, of course, a little stroke and no ulcer at all."

Changes in character are very significant in spotting little strokes. Often, a wife, after repeated questioning, will admit that on one or more occasions in the past, she was appalled and puzzled when a previously kind, affectionate, and gentle husband suddenly began to explode in anger over almost nothing. A man who used to be a tower of strength to relatives may become mentally weak, querulous, and weepy. A once-loved son may be puzzled to find that his father no longer will trust him even to go to the bank to deposit a few dollars for him.

Sometimes, after a little stroke, a woman will lose most of her old interests in husband, children, and grandchildren. She will let her house go uncared for, will refuse to see old friends, and will begin tucking things away here and there—and later be unable to find them. These patients, when they admit it, will sometimes say that in a single moment they seem to have lost all their old sense of well-being and all their former zest for life.

Only a physician can diagnose a little stroke or plan medical treatment for it. Many varieties of damage or "insult," as it's called in medicine, to the highly specialized brain tissue may produce symptoms that resemble a stroke, major or minor, but are actually something else entirely. Those who suffer from migraine headaches may have sensations which resemble a stroke. Or it might just be a leg going to sleep and not paralysis.

It takes training and experience to tell whether it's the real thing or not. And a doctor can do his job properly only if the patient promptly reports all the details of any warning signs. ◆

Tells How to Make Money Writing Short Paragraphs

Chicago Man Reveals a Short Cut to Authorship

Discloses little-known angle by which beginners often get paid five to ten times more per word than the rates paid to famous authors. Now anyone who can write a sentence in plain English can write for money without spending weary years "learning to write."

FOR years and years a relatively few people have had a "corner" on one of the most profitable authors' markets ever known. They've been going quietly along selling thousands and thousands of contributions. None of them has had to be trained authors. None of them has been "big name" writers. Yet, in hundreds of cases they have been paid from five to ten times as much per word as was earned by famous authors.

The successful men and women in this field had such a good thing that they kept it pretty well to themselves. Mr. Benson Barrett was one of these people. For years he enjoyed a steady income—made enough money in spare time to pay for a fine farm near Chicago.

Finally, Mr. Barrett decided to let others in on the secret. Since then he has shown a number of other men and women how to write for money. He has not had to give them any lessons in writing. He has not asked them to go through any long course of study or practice. In fact, most of his protégés have started mailing contributions to magazines within two weeks after starting with his plan.

Mr. Barrett says that the only skill required is that the beginner be able to write a sentence in plain English. Almost anyone with a grade school education can write well enough to follow Mr. Barrett's plan, because the contributions you will send to magazines are almost never more than one short paragraph in length.

Shut-ins, housewives, folks who are retired on small incomes, even employed men and women who like to use idle hours in a constructive way—all types are making money on short paragraphs.

Mr. Barrett does not teach you to write. He shows you what to write, what form to put it in, and whom to send it to. He shows you a simple method for getting ideas by the hundreds. He gives you a list of more than 200 magazines whose editors are looking for this kind of material and who will buy from beginners. In other words, he teaches you a method, an angle, a plan for starting to write for money right away.

IF you would like to see your writing in print and get paid for it—just send your name on coupon to Mr. Barrett. He will send full information about his plan of coaching by return mail—postage prepaid. He makes no charge for this information. And, no salesman will call on you. You decide, at home, whether you'd like to try his plan. If the idea of getting paid for writing short paragraphs appeals to you write to Mr. Barrett for this information.

No telling where it might lead. Such a small start may even open opportunities for real authorship. And, since it can't cost you anything more than a 5¢ stamp, you'll certainly want to get all the facts. Please address coupon below to Mr. Benson Barrett, 6216 N. Clark Street, Dept. 376-O, Chicago, Illinois 60626.

Please send me, free and without obligation, the full story of your unique coaching method, showing how I can write to sell right away, how you furnish names and addresses of editors who buy from beginners and tell me how I can start submitting manuscripts the first week. I understand that everything you send me will come postpaid and that no salesman will call.

Now...Denture Invention

For people with both "uppers" and "lowers"

The big difference between natural teeth and dentures is in performance. Natural teeth are held solidly in place by living connective tissue. Without connective tissue, even the most expensive dentures may slip and rock. Gums often get raw and sore. Constant rubbing may cause serious bone damage. Eating can be slow, painful. You speak less clearly. You dare not laugh for fear of dentures dropping.

Now chemists have developed an artificial connective membrane — FIXODENT. It connects dentures with gums and mouth surfaces. It is incredibly effective for both uppers and lowers.

FIXODENT's elastic membrane absorbs the shock of biting and chewing —helps protect gums from bruising and irritation. You eat faster—bite harder, without pain—enjoy your food more. Eat hard-to-chew foods—steaks, fruits—prevent "denture malnutrition," a problem of older people.

FIXODENT helps you speak easier, faster, more clearly. When dentures slip you hold them in place with tongue and cheek muscles that ache. FIXODENT helps prevent strain.

The special pencil-point dispenser spots FIXODENT with precision—no oozing over. Often lasts 'round-the-clock. It even resists hot drinks. Dentures that fit are essential to health. See your dentist regularly. Get special FIXODENT at all drug counters.

LSU's "Pistol Pete" Maravich:

The Price He Pays for Stardom

By JOHN MUSEMECHE

ONLY SECONDS left in the game. Louisiana State trails by a point. Frosh coach Greg Bernbrook screams for his team to use the "special" play which will isolate a man under the basket.

Instead, the ball is passed in to "Pistol Pete" Maravich, who fires a 45-foot jump shot straight and true, and LSU has won another cliff hanger. The coach looks stunned, but one player sums it all up: "That's our special play—giving the ball to Pete and letting him shoot."

And shoot he does—at such a prodigious pace that All-America Pete Maravich has become the highest scorer in college history, last year averaging 43.5 points a game. And this year he has been doing a repeat performance. In a recent victory over Tulane, Pistol Pete scored a phenomenal 55 points.

Pete's father Press, who happens to be LSU's head basketball coach, describes his son on the court as "an animal being attacked. He's ready to scratch, run, jump, shoot, do anything not to lose." Others describe him as "a machine with a basketball in his hands, who instinctively knows what to do." But becoming a basketball superstar was not a natural gift. Pete paid a high price to get where he is.

Press Maravich tried to interest his boy in basketball at the age of six. "He was about as interested as going to the dentist," Press recalls. "I set up a hoop and coaxed him into shooting. He thought it was too easy. He missed the first time and the second. Then he got mad and kept at it. He was hooked."

From then on, all Pete did was practice. "He'd even take a basketball to the movies," says Press. "Dribble it all over town. As a result, Pete can do things with a basketball that you wouldn't believe possible."

Pistol Pete's ambition is to become a pro star, and his ability almost guarantees that. "My dad always told me that anything worth wanting is worth working for. I never thought it strange to spend a lot of time with a basketball."

Though both Pete and his father will deny it, you get the feeling that the father-son combination was predestined. When the late Jim Corbett, LSU athletic director, signed Press to be head coach a couple of years ago, it was silently agreed that Pistol Pete would come along as part of the deal. How does Pete feel about playing for his father? "I've never really thought about it," he says.

Press and Pete Maravich

Obviously, Pistol Pete is the most talked-about LSU athlete since Billy Cannon won football's Heisman Trophy in the late '50s. Stories of his total dedication to basketball are numerous; most are true.

Press, for example, arranged for his nine-year-old son to play in a game with pro star Hal Greer. After the game, Pete innocently announced to his father, "I think I can take Greer one-on-one."

Or, as a high-school star, Pete challenged one of his father's Clemson stars to a shooting contest. Pete won—yet the loser wound up on the All-Atlantic Coast Conference team that year.

Shooting has always been Pete's mania. It has, in fact, brought criticism. But Pete's teammates come to his rescue. "When Pete's shooting, we win," says one of the LSU starters. "That's what the game is all about—winning. We'd be crazy if we didn't give the ball to Pete. And, too, we all get more shooting room because other teams key on Pete."

With all the publicity Pete gets, it is really surprising that he doesn't have a big head. Almost incredibly, he has remained an affable, easy-going 20-year-old.

Pistol Pete is a bit superstitious, though. He has worn the same pair of flopping, gray socks in every game he has played since his senior year in high school. "He considers those socks a good-luck charm," says a teammate. "Washes them personally after every game." The socks have become his trademark.

Will the pros with their fancy outfits allow Pistol Pete to keep those dingy socks after graduation? If Maravich can score enough points, the lucky club owner will probably wash them out himself. ◆

World's Fastest Way to Remove Stomach Bulge!

Perfected by a leading physician to carve inches off your waist line (without diet or weight loss) in less time than it takes you to smoke a single cigarette every day!

How? In a completely different way than you have ever dreamed possible before... as easily and logically as this:

Builds You An Invisible "Muscle-Girdle" That Automatically Holds In Your Waist-Line, AT THE SAME TIME THAT IT STRENGTHENS YOUR LOWER BACK!

Quite frankly, the development of this SLIM-WHEEL is based on this simple fact: That the Number One Sign of Ageing (and the Number One Cause of the low-back pain that makes you feel, as well as look, ten years older than your age) is the bulging, protruding, bloated-looking stomach that sets in your twenties—and destroys your posture, your appearance, and your vitality from that moment on.

What causes this bulging stomach? Gravity! The fact that the older you grow, the more gravity pulls down your internal organs—presses them against those weak stomach muscles—draws your lower spine forward, twisting it hopelessly out of line.

And what can you do about this bulging stomach, to pull it hard and flat again, permanently? Only one thing, of course—EXERCISE! The kind of exercise that builds you a permanent muscle-girdle clear around that vital mid-section—that coaxes those internal organs back where they should be—that straightens that terribly-vulnerable spine right up again—and then gives you the DAY-LONG HOLDING POWER to keep that mid-section flat and hard and firm and straight, right up until the wee hours of the morning, if you decide to go out and do the town!

Now, there are dozens of good exercises that will do this for you. But —until today—every one of them had a "fatal flaw" that kept them from giving you the real benefits you need for your stomach!

You could, for example, jog. But jogging is mainly an exercise for your lungs and legs, and you would have to religiously use it for at least a half hour a day before it could pull in your stomach.

You could try knee bends, toe touches, and other standing exercises. But they still take ten to fifteen torturous minutes a day, and they can easily injure your back.

Or—even better—you can try sit-ups or a slant board. Ten minutes a day will do here. But again, all your weight is focussed right on that lower back—and you can be terribly hurt.

Or—now, this very next week, and entirely at our risk—you can try a completely new kind of CONDENSED exercise, in which you exercise ONLY the great holding muscles of your center stomach... in which NOT ONE OUNCE OF WEIGHT presses down on your back... and which you are ABSOLUTELY FORBIDDEN to do more than two or three easy minutes a day!

It's as simple as this—

First You Warm Up For 30 Seconds. Then You Exercise For 60 Seconds. Then You Admire Yourself All Day Long!

This Muscle-Girdle Exercise Plan consists of a simple wheel with a handle through it, and an ingenious, medically-developed and medically-proven idea.

What you do, every morning for two exhilerating minutes, is this:

You put the wheel on the floor and stand above it. Take a deep breath and greet the morning. In two minutes you'll be in your shower or at breakfast, and it's going to be a wonderful day. You'll prove that to yourself in the next ninety seconds.

Now, put your hands on your hips and do the simple shoulder warm-up we show you. You do it three times with the left shoulder, and three times with the right. You don't bend from the hips. You don't twist your spine. There is no conscious exertion. You won't even take a deep breath. But you will have warmed up and loosened your stomach muscles; you will feel better; and you'll be ready to zip right through your real exercise.

Now get down on your knees. Take the handles of the SLIM-WHEEL in your hands. Roll out the wheel as far as you can comfortably stretch, in the way we show you. Then roll it back again. That's it! You've done it! Five more times in the morning . . . six times at night . . . and you're finished!

(Later, you'll work your way up to twenty times. To do any more would simply be ridiculous.)

Now—what happened in those five or six little wheel-out, wheel-in exercises? Quite simply, you have stretched tight, automatically, without your own conscious effort, muscles in your stomach and back that you may not have exercised for years! You will absolutely FEEL the effect of that stretch the first time you roll that wheel out! It is NOT a gentle feeling! It is a feeling of firmness and hardness and good strong exercise (and, above all, CONTROL) so exhilerating that it may be difficult for you to stop with a mere five or six roll-outs!

But stop you must, because that's all you'll need at the beginning! Because this exercise will only work for you if you do it EVERY SINGLE DAY! And that's why it's been made so simple... so easy... so quick! So you can do it every single day in less time than it takes you to smoke a cigarette—and get every one of these benefits to boot:

You May Have To Buy A New Wardrobe— BUT YOU MAY ALSO BE ABLE TO THROW AWAY THAT HEATING PAD FOR YOUR BACK!

Of course you'll look slimmer, in a mere week or two. Of course you'll have to start taking in clothes—one inch... two inches... three inches... maybe four. Of course friends will start pestering you—to find out what kind of "diet" could take off that kind of bulge, that quickly, without caving in your face!

These are all the obvious benefits. But there are even deeper and more meaningful benefits, that will stay with you for years. There's the marvelous feeling of control, and looking young again. There's the general all-over better tone of your mid section, that may mean fewer stomach-aches and less indigestion for you.

But most of all, there's the incredible drain-off of back pain and back-caused fatigue that could take ten years off the way you feel! Nothing drains vitality as much as a back that's too weak to carry you through the day! Nothing kills sleep as much as a back that's too tired to stop hurting! And no pills, no brace, no belts will ever do as much good for your back as this continuous, gentle, strengthening, muscle-girdle-building exercise that protects you for the rest of your life!

Try It Entirely At Our Risk!

The entire cost of this complete SLIM-WHEEL is only $7.98. You try it for one full month entirely at our risk. If you are not delighted in every way, of course, every cent of your money will be returned at once.

No one deserves a fat stomach! Why not get rid of yours—today!

Make Tuna Your Lucky Catch

MELANIE DE PROFT Food Editor

■ Protein-rich tuna is wonderfully flexible and can be combined with a multitude of other kitchen staples in endless variety. It is little wonder that tuna is the most popular seafood on our dinner tables.

Tuna Salad Mexicana

3 cans (6½ or 7 oz. each) tuna, drained
1 can (17 oz.) golden whole kernel corn, drained
⅓ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped scallions or green onions
1 avocado, cut in pieces
¾ cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon oregano leaves, crushed
¼ teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper
2 hard-cooked eggs, peeled and quartered

1. Put into a large bowl the tuna chunks, corn, celery, scallions, and avocado. Lightly toss with a blend of the mayonnaise, lemon juice, and seasonings. Cover and chill.

2. To serve, turn into a lettuce lined-salad bowl. Garnish top with hard-cooked egg and, if desired, additional avocado, sliced. 6 servings

Tuna Florentine

2 pkgs. (10 oz. each) frozen chopped spinach or 1 lb. fresh spinach, washed and drained
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
¾ teaspoon Accent
¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 env. à la king sauce mix*
Milk
½ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
Few grains cayenne
1 cup shredded Swiss cheese
¼ cup shredded Parmesan cheese
2 cans (6½ or 7 oz. each) tuna, drained
⅓ cup toasted sliced almonds

1. In a large, heavy skillet or saucepan, put spinach, onion, Accent, nutmeg, and ⅛ teaspoon pepper; cover. Cook over medium heat until tender, stirring occasionally with a fork. Drain, reserving liquid. Spoon spinach evenly into a 1½-qt. shallow baking dish and keep warm.

2. Prepare à la king sauce mix, following package directions and increasing liquid to 2¾ cups (use liquid drained from spinach plus milk). Remove from heat; add a blend of the dry mustard, salt, remaining pepper, and cayenne along with the cheeses, and stir until melted. Mix in tuna.

3. Spoon sauce over spinach. Sprinkle with the toasted almonds and brush lightly with butter or margarine. (Or use buttery herb-seasoned stuffing mix croutons.)

4. Set in a 350°F. oven for 20 min. or until thoroughly heated.

6 servings

*If substituting 2 cups white sauce, blend in the spinach liquid.

Deep Fried Tuna Pastries

*Fat to a depth of 1 inch and heated to 370°F.
1 pkg. (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened
¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons soft bread crumbs
1 can (6½ or 7 oz.) tuna, drained and flaked
½ teaspoon seasoned salt
1½ pkgs. (9 to 12 oz. each) or 3 sticks pie crust mix

1. Mix the Worcestershire sauce and crumbs into the cheese. Sprinkle seasoned salt over tuna and blend into cream cheese.

2. Prepare pie crust mix according to package directions; working with one half of the dough at a time, roll into a square about ⅛ in. thick. Cut into 3-in. squares.

3. Put 2 teaspoons of the tuna mixture onto the center of each square. Moisten edges, bring corners together, and tightly seal edges.

4. Fry one layer at a time in the 370°F. fat until lightly browned on both sides, about 3 min. Drain on absorbent paper. 3 doz. appetizers

*Suitable fats include salad and all-purpose oils, vegetable shortening, all-purpose shortening, and lard.

Tuna Sandwich

2 cans (6½ or 7 oz. each) tuna, drained
½ cup unpared cucumber pieces
⅓ cup mayonnaise
⅓ cup dairy sour cream
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon dill weed
1 teaspoon Accent
⅛ teaspoon coarsely ground pepper
4 thick slices dark bread
¼ cup shredded Parmesan cheese

1. Mix tuna chunks, cucumber, and a blend of mayonnaise, sour cream, lemon, and seasonings; set aside.

2. Butter bread and lightly pile tuna mixture onto each slice.

3. Sprinkle with paprika and garnish with twisted slit cucumber slices before serving. 4 servings

Tuna Stuffed Avocado

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¾ cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped onion
1 can (3 oz.) sliced broiled-in-butter mushrooms
2 cans (6½ or 7 oz. each) tuna, drained and separated in pieces
½ cup water chestnuts, cut in pieces
4 ripe avocados, rinsed
8 orange slices with peel, notched
1 cup hot hollandaise sauce (prepared from a mix)
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon sugar
2 teaspoons lemon juice

1. Heat butter or margarine in a skillet. Add celery, onion, and contents of can of mushrooms; cook about 5 min.

2. Mix in the tuna and chestnuts. Cover and heat thoroughly.

3. Cut avocados lengthwise into halves and discard pits. Brush surfaces with lemon juice.

4. Arrange orange slices in a baking dish; top with avocado halves.

5. Heat at 400°F. 10 to 12 min.

6. Meanwhile, blend Worcestershire sauce, sugar, and lemon juice into the hollandaise. Mix with contents of skillet.

7. Using a wide spatula, transfer avocado halves with orange slices to individual serving plates. Spoon hot tuna mixture into avocados, sprinkle with grated orange peel, and garnish with sprigs of watercress or parsley. 8 servings

Mushroom-Tuna Skillet

2 cans (10½ oz. each) condensed cream of mushroom soup
1 can (6 oz.) sliced broiled-in-butter mushrooms
1 tablespoon vegetable bouquet sauce
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
2 cans (6½ or 7 oz. each) tuna, drained
1 can (1 lb.) mixed vegetables, drained
¼ to ½ cup snipped parsley

1. Blend contents of cans of soup and mushrooms in a large skillet. Mix in vegetable bouquet sauce, onion, tuna chunks, and vegetables. Heat, stirring occasionally.

2. Just before serving, mix in the parsley. Spoon over buttered toast triangles. 6 to 8 servings

Cherry-Tuna Salad

For a Washington's birthday luncheon, begin with a hot soup and accompany the salad with hot rolls.

2 cans (6½ or 7 oz. each) tuna, drained
½ cup quartered maraschino cherries
1⅓ cups Italian salad dressing (prepared from an Italian salad-dressing mix)
1 pkg. (3 oz.) cherry-flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
½ cup coarsely chopped walnuts

1. Marinate tuna chunks and cherries in ⅓ cup of the salad dressing.

2. Meanwhile, pour boiling water over gelatin in a bowl; stir until gelatin is dissolved. Mix in remaining 1 cup dressing. Chill until very thick, stirring occasionally.

3. Fold tuna-cherry mixture and nuts into thickened gelatin. Turn into an 8-in. pan. Chill until firm.

4. Serve on crisp greens. 6 servings

Can your child read these words?

napkin fuzzy liquid whisper misty chicken velvet zigzag punch camel

Your child will learn how to read these and more than 300 other words after working with the very first record of The Sound Way to Easy Reading.

Try out this Phonics Course FREE FOR TWO WEEKS with your child in your own home—without risking a penny. Mail the coupon below.

If your child is a poor reader, if he has not been able to keep up with his class in school—here is a way that you can help him. Many parents have seen their poor readers gain up to a full year's grade in reading skill in just six weeks with the Sound Way to Easy Reading.

As soon as your child starts playing the records and using the charts of The Sound Way to Easy Reading you will know why it works so well. It takes the mystery out of learning to read because it teaches your child by the phonics method (the method by which most parents learned to read years ago).

Teaches with records

With this course your child discovers that letters have sounds. When he starts sounding out the letters he hears himself saying the word. He's reading.

The records drill him in the sounds of the 26 letters of the alphabet and their blends. By the time he completes the first record (about two weeks for the average child) he can read 300 words. After finishing all four records he has been taught 123 basic phonics sounds.

Once he knows these sounds he can read up to 85% of the words in the English Language. It works for children of all ages—in the earliest grades and even in high school. Its records tell your child exactly what to do, so he can teach himself without any help from you.

Tested and Proved

In a pilot study by university psychologists, children gained up to a full year's grade in oral reading skill after only 30 lessons with The Sound Way to Easy Reading.

A semester-long study involving 214 pupils in four Chicago schools proved that the classes given The Sound Way to Easy Reading showed marked improvement in reading and spelling over the control groups.

Don't think it's all your child's fault if he hasn't learned to read. Many of our brightest children are not able to grasp the "look-and-say" method taught in most schools today. Yet, many educators insist that at least 40% of our children must have formal training in phonics—that they will never master reading without it!

Help Your Child Now

So don't wait for your poor reader to reach high school before coming to his aid. By starting your child on The Sound Way to Easy Reading now, you can change his entire attitude toward school—turn his sense of failure into the joy of success. Try it free for two weeks. You send no money—just mail coupon.

AFTER CZECHOSLOVAKIA—

Should You Behind the Iron Curtain?

By JANET GRAHAM

SINCE THE Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia, Americans are asking themselves more than ever: "Is a trip behind the Iron Curtain safe?"

Well, I can say firsthand that it is one of the most rewarding experiences you can have. I traveled all through Czechoslovakia after the invasion, and everywhere I went I was welcomed with open arms. To be sure, the Russian presence was felt both because of border patrols and troop trucks, but I found one of the Czechs' main worries was that the Russians would drive away tourists! These freedom-loving people were anxious to prove that from the tourist's point of view, everything was normal. There were no interference, no travel restrictions, nothing to spoil my visit. I found that in just about every one of the East-bloc countries I visited.

In all, I spent six weeks last summer traveling through the "satellite" countries and found them illuminating, safe, comfortable, inexpensive, and colorful—and in every one of them I found scores of American tourists!

I was surprised to find tremendously varied small nations full of ardent patriots, longing to show off their art treasures, customs, and lovely landscapes. Many of them dislike their political system, hating the party-line newspapers and the lack of free speech. Others support their government and will proudly show you the achievements of a socialist state. But most people in Eastern Europe—like those in the rest of the world—are not concerned with politics; they are busy living.

Everywhere I went I found comfortable hotels, good food, and astonishingly low prices. Special tourist rates of exchange make these sorts of bargains possible: $10 a day for room and full board in a de luxe hotel by the lovely Yugoslav Adriatic or by Bulgaria's Black Sea coast.

A seven-day coach tour of Romanian highlights cost from $142 (KLM Dutch Airlines). There is a 22-day Balkan adventure tour for $899 (American Travel Abroad, Inc.), or a 21-day tour of Dalmatian Yugoslavia and the Balkans for $1,098 (Maupintour).

No trip to Czechoslovakia is complete without a tour of historic Prague.

There is also a 22-day tour of seven East European countries for $968, by round-trip jet from New York (American Express). Or you can spend 22 days in eight European countries including three East European nations for only $695 (American Express).

One evening I decided to splurge and took a Hungarian friend out to dinner at one of the best restaurants in Budapest. Hungarian food and wines are marvelous; we had three superb courses, with wine and liqueurs to follow. The bill for the two of us was only six dollars, plus a tip for the brightly clad gypsy violinist who played at our table. Prices in Bulgaria are lower still, and one seldom pays more than a dollar for a meal there.

Of course, Eastern Europe does have its drawbacks. The newspapers are unreadable, the languages unspeakable, the ideologies unthinkable. And you can't get a decent cup of coffee or an American newspaper. (If starved for news, pop into an American Embassy reading room.) National tourist organizations monopolize the travel trade except in Yugoslavia; you may get caught up in a net of bureaucracy if you are traveling independently.

Which countries you visit depends very much on your personal enthusiasm; Bulgaria is the right place for lovers of lush landscape, long beaches, and primitive peace; Romania for art buffs and bird watchers; Hungary for gourmets and music lovers; Czechoslovakia for architecture addicts and folklore fanciers; Poland for winter-sports buffs. Yugoslavia has endless beauties of folklore, landscape, art treasures, and music festivals, plus the sparkling islands of the Adriatic.

From Yugoslavia you can visit the wild mountains of Albania, the last stronghold of pure (Chinese) Marxism in Europe—and the only one of the Iron Curtain countries where your movements will be restricted, where you will be followed.

The Yugoslav guide who met us at the border on our return grinned when he heard our comments about Albanian rigidity. "It is wonderful for our tourism. When you return to Yugoslavia, you will think you are in paradise!"

Except in Albania, you are free to wander everywhere. In all the other countries it's possible to hire a car, with or without a driver, and get off the beaten track. Don't restrict yourself to the capital cities; don't try to visit too many countries; it's far better to go to just one or two nations and see some of the marvelous out-of-capital attractions of each.

I was saddened by the tourists I met who had never gotten out of Budapest to take a buggy ride across the Great Hungarian Plain; or who hadn't left Sofia to to spend a night in one of the extraordinary old monasteries of Bulgaria; or who had stayed in Bucharest but had never gone to the coast to take a fishing boat into the wilderness of the Romanian Danube Delta. The capital cities alone cannot possibly give you the full flavor of these nations nor the people's friendliness.

Two books which give a great deal of information about what there is to see in the satellite countries are "Eastern Europe from A to Z" by Robert S. Kane ($6.95, Doubleday, 1968) and Fodor's Guide to Europe ($7.50, McKay, 1968).

(FAMILY WEEKLY readers may send for Mr. Kane's colorful book by mailing a check or money order to F.W. Books, Dept. A194, Box 707, Grand Central Station, New York, N.Y. 10017.)

I talked with a great many Americans while I was traveling in Eastern Europe. They all felt that their trip had given them something valuable, unique, and unforgettable—an insight into a new culture and a way of life.

So if you're interested in visiting the Iron Curtain countries, here are five valuable tips for you to remember:

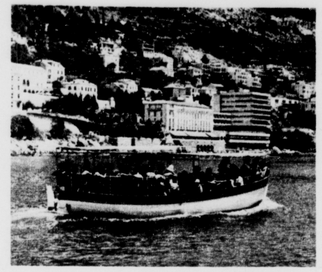

1. Book through a travel agent who specializes in the area. Some of the better agencies are American Travel Abroad, Inc., 250 West 57th Street, New York, N.Y. 10019; and Maupintours, 270 Park Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10017. Maupintours also has offices in Washington, D.C., Kansas City, Mo., and San Francisco.

2. Take traveler's checks in small denominations. Don't cash large amounts on arrival, as many excursions and purchases must be paid for in dollars.

3. Take a sink plug, flashlight, paper tissues, antibiotics, and a radio.

4. Remember that even air mail takes 10 days or more, and send postcards early if you want them to reach home before you.

5. Brush up on your high-school French or German to give you a more interesting trip, and take pocket dictionaries. English is spoken in most big hotels, but menus are very often in German. ◆

Visitors take a touring boat around Yugoslavia's scenic walled port of Dubrovnik.

Now! Instant asthma relief starts in seconds!

New aerosol mist starts working almost instantly to help stop choking asthma attack, release air trapped in lungs, helps you breathe freely again.

And it's so easy to use. At the first sign of an asthma attack, just place the Bronkaid tip in your mouth, squeeze mouthpiece and bottle together, and inhale deeply. Bronkaid Mist's superfine particles of medicated mist speed directly to your lungs. In most instances, wheezing swiftly subsides; mucus-plugged air passages open, and air trapped in your lungs is released. In less than a minute, you are breathing freely and easily again.

Bronkaid Mist Pocket-Size. Only A Penny A Dose! You can be sure of accurate dosage without measuring—because BRONKAID® MIST comes with a metered tip. At your local pharmacy. Drew Pharmacal Co., Inc., N.Y., N.Y. 10016.

POLLY'S POINTERS

DEAR POLLY—After I wash and drain empty fruit jars I put a paper towel inside each jar to absorb excess moisture and odor. This can be done to other containers, too.—LOUISE

DEAR POLLY---Near my 70th birthday, I realized many of my friends and acquaintances had been taken to the hospital unexpectedly with heart attacks, broken hips, strokes and so on. From then on whenever a drawer or closet needed cleaning or straightening, I did it. Every garment that needed the least bit of mending was quickly fixed. Those that could not be made to look good were discarded. Don't keep anything you wouldn't be caught "dead in."---MAGGIE

DEAR POLLY—I use inexpensive paper place mats as colorful and convenient drawer liners. They are a perfect size for many stock cabinets and furniture drawers and, if not, are easily trimmed or taped together to fit other sizes.—HELEN

Polly pays a dollar for every idea used. Send them to her, care of this newspaper.

DEAR POLLY—When sending birthday cards from my children to their little friends, I enclose snapshots of the children. That way the child can tell immediately who sent the card without waiting for someone to read the name. Children are also thrilled with receiving a picture and a card.—TRINA

DEAR POLLY---When moving from one apartment to another, I have found that old and dirty-looking switch plates look much better after I cover them with adhesive-backed paper. This is inexpensive and neat looking and can be changed to match any room's color scheme.---MISS L. H.

DEAR POLLY—I always send birthday and other special cards to friends and relatives. Each month I make a list of those I want to remember during the month, purchase cards, address them and write the mailing dates in the corners where they will be covered by the stamps. They are kept with my accounts payable. I put on the stamps, seal the envelopes. Off they go—always on time.—MRS. O. H. E.

DEAR POLLY---After washing my lace mantilla and handkerchiefs, I lightly spray with a bit of starch as I iron them to give a little body and a new look.---SARAH

DEAR POLLY—Sewing rubber rings from canning jars on the bottom of throw rugs keeps them from slipping and makes them safer in the bath room and in front of the kitchen sink.—ELAINE
